Battle for Attu 'Goes Very Satisfactorily'

EARLY INVASION BLOW VOWED BY CHURCHILL

Attack Heralded in Radio Talk.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 14.—The British government dominated the Washington scene again today as British Prime Minister Winston Churchill in a radio address heralded an early invasion of Europe. British press agents gave out the first details of the prime minister's arrival and activities here.

The prime minister and President Roosevelt had several talks today on plans for the future conduct of the war, followed by a session with their full staffs, which lasted more than an hour.

Mr. Churchill's broadcast statement that the invasion of the European continent is approaching was accepted as an indication there has been no change so far in the Churchill-Roosevelt strategy of defeating Hitler first and disposing of Japan later.

Sends Message to Chiang.

That Mr. Churchill regards the conquest of Japan as more distant was further indicated in a message he sent to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, which was made public at the White House. In this message the prime minister said:

"I send you my warm thanks for your message of congratulation on the great allied victory which has crushed the last resistance of German and Italian forces in Africa. The day will come when we shall rejoice at similar feats of arms of the united nations which will surely drive the Japanese invader from the soil of China."

As has happened frequently before, the British were the only sources of information of what is taking place in the discussions of war and post-war problems.

F. D. R. Silent on Parleys.

At his press conference the President declined to discuss his conferences with Mr. Churchill, saying there would be nothing to make public until the eve of the prime minister's departure. He thought Mr. Churchill would join him in a press conference next week.

It was in a broadcast to the United Kingdom in celebration of the third anniversary of the British home guard that Mr. Churchill mentioned the purpose of the current Washington conference and the coming invasion of the European continent. Saying he was speaking from the White House, where he is the guest of his "honored friend, the President of the United States," Mr. Churchill added:

"These are great days. They are like the days in Lord Chatham's time of which it was said you had to get up very early in the morning not to miss some news of victory.

Planning Far Ahead.

"We are gathered here now with the highest professional authorities in all the fighting services of the two great English speaking nations, to plan well ahead of the armies who are moving swiftly forward.

"It is no good only having one march ahead laid out. March after march must be planned as far as human eye can see. Design and forethought must be our guides and heralds. We owe it to the fighting troops.

"We owe it to the communities we are leading out of the dark places; we owe it to heroic Russia, the long tormented China; we owe it to the captive and enslaved nations who beckon us on thru their prison bars.

"At present we have strong armies in Great Britain and it is the assembly base for the United States armies of liberation coming across the broad Atlantic. But this is not the end.

"We must prepare for the time which is approaching and will surely come, when the bulk of these armies will have advanced across the seas into deadly grapple on the continent."

Referring to the possibility of an invasion of England, the prime minister said:

Yank Bombers Pound 4 Cities in Nazi Europe

LONDON, May 14 (AP).—American bombers struck their heaviest blow of the war today with four separate, but closely coördinated attacks on naval, airfield, and factory targets in Germany, Belgium, and Holland.

For one record, the 8th United States air force sent out the greatest number of planes engaged in one day. For another, the four engined American bombers made their deepest penetration into Europe in attacking the naval and U-boat installations of Kiel, Germany.

The American blows followed up a record operation by the R. A. F. last night in which some 3,000 tons of bombs were showered on Berlin, the Ruhr valley, and Czecho-Slovakia, approximately doubling the bomb load the R. A. F. had delivered on any previous night.

Two Belgian Targets Raided.

The American bombers smashed at two targets in Belgium—the former General Motors plant in Antwerp, now supplying enemy transport, and a large fighter airfield and repair depot at Courtrai.

The Netherlands target was Velzen, near Haarlem, where American medium bombers made successful low level attacks on industrial targets.

One medium bomber on the Velzen raid was piloted by Capt. F. F. Rezabek of 5024 North Marora avenue, Chicago. The crew of his plane, the "Chickasaw Chief," included Sergeants H. Gross of Elgin, Ill., and R. W. Morgan of Anderson, Ind. Also on the plane was the commanding-general of the medium bomber wing.

Raids Cost 15 Aircraft.

The communique announcing the raids said that "bombing results on all four attacks were good." While 11 bombers and 4 fighters were lost on the far flung assault on "vital enemy targets," Spitfires and Thunderbolts [P-47s] which escorted the bombers to Antwerp and Courtrai shot down 12 enemy fighters, with the bombers bagging a further "considerable number."

The 11 bombers and 4 fighters missing constitute the 8th air force's second heaviest loss. Sixteen bombers failed to return from the April 17 attack on Bremen, where 63 enemy fighters were downed.

Long Aerial Offensive.

The American blow was the latest in the non-stop attacks that opened Wednesday night when the royal air force dumped some 1,500 tons of block busters on Duisburg in the industrial Ruhr in the war's heaviest raid.

The R. A. F. returned to the fight early today by ranging over the Bochum in the Ruhr, Czecho-Slovakia, and Berlin itself, losing 34 planes.

Then came the American medium bomber attack against Velzen at noon, followed quickly by the attacks against Antwerp, Courtrai, and Kiel.

The Berlin radio said "a large number" of people were killed and injured in the raids in German coastal districts and Belgium. It claimed 10 per cent of the Kiel raiders were downed.

ARMY AND NAVY FIGHT TO PUSH JAPS OFF ISLE

Land on Foe's Base in Aleutians.

Washington, D. C., May 14 (AP).—The first stage of the first American offensive in the North Pacific battle to smash Japanese forces on Attu Island is "going very satisfactorily," the navy announced tonight.

Weather hardened United States troops have been fighting the Japanese since Tuesday on this enemy seized island at the tip of the Aleutians—in effect, advancing along the shortest route to Tokio, barely 2,000 miles away.

Army and Navy Operation.

The attack—unquestionably the initial thrust in a campaign to banish the Japanese from strongly fortified Kiska as well as Attu—is being carried on by army troops and navy ships. It is not an operation by marines, as was the initial offensive against the enemy in the Solomon Islands.

The navy announcement that bleak and mountainous Attu had been attacked was made at noon eight hours after Tokio broadcast that American troops had landed there. The navy reported:

"On May 11 United States forces landed at the island of Attu in the Aleutians, and are now engaged with Jap forces on the island. Details of the operation will be released when the situation clarifies."

Planes Attack Kiska.

There was no mention in the communique of any similar amphibious attack on Kiska, the main enemy bastion in the North Pacific, but a subsequent navy bulletin told of two air raids on Kiska Thursday. It appeared, therefore, that for the time being the strategy was to concentrate on Attu except for continued bombing of Kiska.

In a broadcast heard by the federal communications commission, Japanese imperial headquarters said "crack American forces" had landed on Attu. The Berlin radio quoted a Tokio dispatch as saying the Americans approached the island under cover of a dense fog.

"They first shelled the island by sea with naval artillery and at the same time American airmen dropped bombs," said the Berlin broadcast, recorded by the Associated Press.

"Altho the enemy was numerically superior, Japanese troops immediately took up the fight which still was going on Friday evening. Kiska, to the east of Attu, which also is in Japanese hands, so far is not included in the American landing operations."

See Nutcracker Drive.

Conquest of Attu would put Kiska in the jaws of a nutcracker—between Attu 172 nautical miles to the northwest and the American air base on Amchitka only 63 miles to the east. American forces operating from Attu probably can cut Kiska off from further supplies from Japan and planes from Amchitka can continue to destroy enemy installations and supplies there.

An amphibious assault on Kiska, after enemy power to resist has been reduced to a minimum, would complete the job of restoring to American control these islands which the Japanese invaded last June concurrently with their ill-fated attack on Midway Island in the central Pacific.

Vision Raids on Japan.

Once the western Aleutians are entirely in American hands they may be developed as bases from which to strike with new long range bombers at Tokio itself, and to move with aerial and amphibious forces against Japanese bases in the Kurile Islands, stretching north from Japan proper to the southern tip of Russia's Kamchatka peninsula.

From the western Aleutians it is 2,005 land miles to Tokio, and only 765 miles to Japan's Paramushir base in the Kuriles.

The Aleutians, moreover, flank the shortest, or great circle trans-Pacific route between the west coast of the United States and Japan.

Village of 80 Jumps Gun on Ration Books

CEILING PRICES ON SOAP.

Carefully laid plans of Washington rationing officials for the simultaneous nation-wide mail distribution of 120 million No. 3 ration books went awry because of the unwitting error of a fourth class postmistress in Valeria, Ia., a farming town of 80 persons near Des Moines.

As a result, Valeria attained the distinction of being the first community to receive applications for the new ration book—a week before every one else. Valeria even jumped the gun on President Roosevelt, who was scheduled to announce the starting date.

The error was discovered at the regional headquarters of the office of price administration in Chicago when filled out applications started to arrive yesterday from Valeria families. The applications were scheduled to start streaming into the regional offices around June 1.

Opens Bundle Early.

Inquiry disclosed that Mrs. Luetta M. Lynn, proprietor of Valeria's general store and postmistress for 24 years, had broken open the bundle of ration book application cards Wednesday and had distributed them among the mail boxes in her store.

"I didn't get any instructions so I just put the applications in the mail boxes," Mrs. Lynn said. "I had heard over the radio that they were going to distribute the No. 3 books by mail and I took it for granted that I should get the applications to the families in town without delay."

Regional rationing officials were busy yesterday completing plans for the task of distributing 18 million No. 3 books in the seven state midwest region.

Delivery Starts May 20.

The applications for an estimated 6 million families in the region will be delivered by mail carriers from May 20 to June 5, simultaneously with the nation-wide distribution.

The Chicago mailing center, according to present plans, will include four high school auditoriums and possibly the election commissioners' offices, Michael F. Mulcahy, Chicago metropolitan area OPA director, said. A staff of more than 1,500 volunteers will be required to handle the applications and mail the No. 3 books.

AVER M'ARTHUR SHOULD ATTEND ALLIED PARLEY

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

CANBERRA, Australia, May 14.—Surprise was expressed here today at the noninclusion of Gen. MacArthur, commander in chief of the allied forces in the Southwest Pacific, as well as other service chiefs in the southwest and south Pacific zones in the conversations being held between Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt.

The presence of Field Marshal Archibald Wavell, British commander in chief in India; Adm. James Somerville, commander of the British forces in the Bay of Bengal; Air Marshal Richard Peirse, commander of the air forces in India; Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault, commander of the 14th air forces in China, and Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, commander of the American forces in China and India, throws the lack of Pacific representation into a bolder relief.

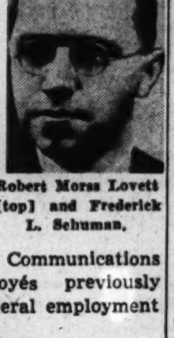
It is fully realized that their advice is essential to the successful execution of any fresh plans to assist China, the gravity of whose plight is appreciated here. But as Washington and London dispatches indicate, the future of Pacific operations is not the least important issue likely to be considered by the Washington conference.

It is felt that no one could make a more crucial contribution to such discussions than Gen. MacArthur who has devoted much of his life to the study of the strategy needed to rout Japan.

Lovett Called Unfit for Job in Pay of U. S.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 14.—Robert Morss Lovett, government secretary of the Virgin Islands, was declared unfit to continue in the government service today by the house appropriations committee. The committee announced that it will propose legislation to forbid the use of federal funds to pay Lovett's salary.



Robert Morss Lovett [top] and Frederick L. Schuman.

The contemplated legislation would also ban the payment of federal funds in salaries to William E. Dodd Jr., and Goodwin B. Watson, Federal Communications commission employés previously found unfit for federal employment by a subcommittee.

Approved by Committee.

The subcommittee, which has been investigating government employés accused of subversive activities, today added the name of Prof. Lovett, a former member of the University of Chicago faculty, to the list of those it termed unfit. The full committee promptly approved the report and offered it to the house.

The subcommittee had reported that its evidence failed to show that Frederick L. Schuman, another former University of Chicago professor under investigation, is at present unfit to continue as a government employé. But the full committee declined to clear Schuman after members had received a letter over his name containing gibes at the congressional inquiry.

Lovett Gets $5,800.

The committee reported that Lovett, who is 72 years old, earns $5,800 a year as secretary of the Virgin Islands, a post he holds under Secretary Harold L. Ickes' department of the interior.

The report said that Lovett admitted, under oath, membership, association or affiliation with the American Peace Mobilization, later known as the American People's Mobilization, the American Youth congress, the National Committee for People's Rights, the National Federation for Constitutional Liberties, and the International Labor Defense.

The committee found that all these organizations had followed Communist policies or had Communist connections.

The committee reported it had received a strong appeal from "the head of the department of the interior" that Lovett be retained.

In holding Lovett unfit for a federal job the committee said:

"If the philosophies and ideas of government indicated and expressed by Dr. Lovett in the mass of pamphlets and letters in evidence should ever prevail, they would nullify everything our soldiers are fighting for today, and if the principles of our national structure are subverted and entombed, their resurrection will cost a far greater sacrifice than we are paying today."

Evidence Is Insufficient.

Dodd, the son of the late ambassador to Germany, is the $3,200 a year assistant news editor of the FCC's foreign broadcast intelligence service. Watson earns $6,500 a year as chief analyst of the same service.

The subcommittee, headed by Rep. John H. Kerr [D., N. C.], found Dodd and Watson unfit for the federal service on April 21, but the FCC refused to dismiss them.

The committee reported that insufficient evidence to warrant a finding of unfitness had been introduced in the cases of two other department of the interior employés.

One is Jack Bradley Fahy, acting chief of the Puerto Rico-Virgin Islands branch of the division of territories and island possessions.

VOTE IS 49-30; BILL NOW GOES TO CONFERENCE

Includes 20 Pct. Withholding Levy.

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 14.—By a vote of 49 to 30, the senate tonight overrode tremendous administration opposition and adopted the Ruml plan for cancellation of the 1942 or 1943 income tax debt, on whichever year it is lower.

The legislation now goes to conference with the house, which after three months of deliberations, agreed to approximately 76 per cent abatement of 1942 taxes. Ruml plan supporters are confident that the senate bill will prevail because of tremendous support for it manifested on two occasions when it lost in the house by narrow margins.

Opposed by Administration.

Senate adoption of the Ruml plan came in the face of every obstacle that the administration could throw in its path altho its supporters claimed nation-wide support of it as the simplest, easiest way to put taxpayers on a current basis and enable them to bear the unprecedented war time tax burden.

Under both the senate and house bills, the nation's taxpayers will have 20 per cent of their wages and salaries above certain exemptions deducted at the source of their income, beginning July 1, as tax payments on their income as they earn. There is no controversy involved here, altho the senate bill contains slightly different exemptions and perfecting amendments recommended by the treasury department.

Extra Service Exemption.

The senate bill also carries an additional tax exemption of $1,500 for taxpayers going into the army or navy beyond the regular personal exemptions, effective from the date of induction.

The real battle hinged around the degree of tax abatement which would be allowed the taxpayer in order to bring him current, and nerves became frayed over this point as proponents and opponents of the various plans fought it out.

Suggestions for tax cancellation ranged from zero [do nothing] to 100 per cent [the Ruml plan] with the administration willing to go just half way, supporting the Doughton bill which was approved by the administration controled ways and means committee, but repudiated by the house.

Indorsed by Committee.

In the senate, however, the Ruml plan had the advantage of entering the chamber with finance committee indorsement by a bi-partisan majority. And approval of the plan came on a 48 to 31 vote adopting the finance committee amendment for the house bill. The vote on final passage of the bill as amended was 49 to 30, one senator, Elbert D. Thomas [D., Utah] having switched his vote.

The vote on adoption of the plan found 31 Republicans and 17 Democrats supporting it, and 28 Democrats, 2 Republicans and 1 Progressive opposing. The formal final vote on the bill found the majority increased by one Democratic vote [Thomas] and the opposition decreased accordingly. Otherwise the lineup was the same on both roll calls.

Loud, bitter "noes" were voiced by the leading opponents of the Ruml plan, such as Senators Tom Connally [D., Tex.], Allen J. Ellender [D., La.], and Robert M. La Follette Jr. [P., Wis.], when the vote was recorded.

Conferees Named.

La Follette so deeply resented the senate action abating taxes that he requested to be released as a conferee when so designated by the chair. The senate conferees, to meet with a similar group from the house, are Senators Walter F. George [D., Ga.], David I. Walsh [D., Mass.], Connally, Bennett Champ Clark [D., Mo.], Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.], James J. Davis [R., Pa.], and John A. Danaher [R., Conn.], who replaced La Follette. Of these, only George and Connally are opposed to the Ruml plan.

per cent of one year's individual tax, it contains windfall provisions to recoup part of this cancellation.

The first windfall clause simply provides that the taxpayer pays the higher of his taxes in 1942 or 1943 and the other year's debt is wiped out. If a taxpayer owes $405 for 1942 and $188 for 1943, he will be required to pay the $405. In the case of persons going into military or naval service in 1943, however, they have abated the higher tax on income for 1942 up to $14,000 net taxable income.

Hits War Profits.

A second windfall provision places a curb on the cancellation afforded persons profiting from the war. Where a person's taxable income in 1942 or 1943, which ever is lower [the abated year] exceeds income in 1938, 1939, or 1940, by more than $10,000, the taxpayer must pay taxes at current rates on the excess over the base year and the $10,000 exemption.

It is estimated that these provisions would recoup about 1 billion 300 million dollars out of the total tax liability of 9 billion 815 million dollars on 1942 incomes, the highest abatement offered by any of the plans under consideration.

Substitutes Swept Aside.

Before reaching the final roll call in the latest senate session during this congress, the chamber swept aside a string of substitutes offered in a determined effort to beat the Ruml plan, if possible. The senate rejected:

1. By a vote of 27 to 52, a proposal by Sen. John H. Bankhead [D., Ala.] for adoption of the house approved bill.

2. On a 29 to 50 vote, the administration sponsored Doughton bill, offered in the senate by Connally.

3. By a vote of 29 to 48, an amendment by Sen. W. Lee O'Daniel [D., Tex.] to abate nothing but put taxes on a mere collection at the source system.

4. A compromise proposal by Sen. George for 75 per cent abatement of 1942 or 1943 taxes, with the remaining 25 per cent paid over a period of years. This was defeated 32 to 50.

5. By a vote of 21 to 57, the amendment by Sen. Ellender to abate no taxes but postpone payment of the 1942 liability over the next five years.

Bankhead Talks of Veto.

Bankhead attempted to throw fear into the proceedings by recalling reports that President Roosevelt may veto the Ruml plan if sent to the White House, and claimed that house conferees may persistently oppose the senate bill with this feature.

He said that the attitude of Rep. Robert L. Doughton [D., N. C.], chairman of the ways and means committee, who will head house conferees, is well known. Doughton, led the house fight against the plan conceived by Beardsley Ruml, chairman of the New York Federal Reserve bank.

George's proposal was the most formidable obstacle encountered by the Ruml supporters. But on the vote today the support claimed yesterday as sufficient to adopt the George substitute melted away.

Ruml plan advocates successfully argued that this plan would in reality boost taxes by 12½ per cent in each of the next two years.

Clark Clears George.

A telegraph campaign by the National Association of Manufacturers urging adoption of the George compromise to avoid increased corporation taxes which might be necessary to make up for complete abatement of individual taxes for 1942 or 1943 boomeranged in the senate to cement opposition against the proposal.

Sen. Clark [D., Mo.], who has led the fight on the Democratic side for adoption of the Ruml plan, joining with almost solid Republican support, drew attention on the floor to the telegrams sent to NAM members by J. Chever Cowdin, chairman of the NAM government finance committee asking them to write their senators, but he expressly cleared George of having any knowledge of this campaign.

The Georgian said that it was his personal opinion that the need for higher levies would be lessened by adoption of his plan rather than under the 100 per cent abatement offered in the Ruml plan, as contained in the legislation approved by the finance committee and before the senate for approval or rejection.

Sen. Albert W. Hawkes [R., N. J.], former vice president and director of the NAM and former president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, was among those voting against the George amendment. Both Illinois senators, Wayland Brooks, Republican, and Scott W. Lucas, Democrat, who favored the Ruml plan, opposed the amendment.

Grabs Bandit's Gun, Then Clubs Him Into Flight

A Negro robber was routed yesterday when he tried to hold up John Weinberger, 1630 West 18th street, a laundry truck driver, as he was making a delivery at 1121 South Morgan street. Weinberger told police he seized the bandit's pistol, tried in vain to fire it, and then clubbed the Negro with the weapon until he fled. The pistol was found to be unloaded.

NAZI WORKERS WILL END WAR, BRITON PREDICTS

Vernon Bartlett, news analyst for the British Broadcasting company and a member of parliament, predicted yesterday that the end of the war in Europe will come when Nazi workers in factories start to realize the futility of their cause.

"This feeling, when started, will rage thru Europe," Bartlett told the University of Michigan club of Chicago at a luncheon in the University club. "Then will come the greatest mass murdering that the world has ever seen, as the conquered peoples avenge their dead."

Bartlett said the problem of feeding Europe after the war will have to be solved by the United States, Great Britain, and Canada in order to establish control over the continent and end chaos. He predicted that the United States will be obliged to retain its present governmental controls of domestic affairs in order to engage in police work in Europe.

200 VOLUNTEERS JOIN RESERVES OF COAST GUARD

Two hundred men who have volunteered their spare time to man coast guard patrol vessels, guard locks and shipyards and serve in coast guard offices were inducted into the temporary reserve of the coast guard last night in a ceremony at the Chicago Yacht club Grant park clubhouse. Capt. Thomas A. Shanley, coast guard officer for the 9th naval district, administered the oath. The new members of the reserve brought the total already in the volunteer group to 1,800 in the Chicago area. Last night's class was paraded before Capt. Shanley by the six volunteer leaders who taught the classes. They were Ensigns Charles Hearn, Lauren Drake III., William Ware, Ben Lautenslager, William Mehaffey, and Chief Boatswain's Mate Merle Cobb.

RUSSIAN AIRMEN POUND NAZIS IN FARFLUNG RAIDS

72 Planes, 300 Freight Cars Destroyed.

LONDON, May 15 [Saturday]—(AP).—The Red air force, attacking in the east as the allied aerial offensive swelled in the west, has destroyed 72 German planes, 300 freight cars, 200 supply trucks, and other enemy war equipment in widespread raids along the huge Russian front, Moscow announced early today.

The soviet news agency Tass said the Russians lost 23 planes in three days of heavy onslaughts against key German rail points, airdromes, and supply routes.

More than a score of German targets were pounded in the attacks beginning Wednesday and continuing thru yesterday, and the Russian bombers swept close to the Estonian frontier to attack German supply trucks and military trains.

Targets of Red Raiders.

The Bryansk, Orel, Belgorod, and Kharkov sectors were hard hit in the upper part of the southern Russian front. Staraya Russa was among the targets near the Latvian and Estonian frontiers.

The soviet midnight communique, meanwhile, indicated no material change on the land front. The two main battle areas were at Lisichansk, midway between Kharkov and Rostov in the Donetz basin, and in the Kuban valley above Novorossisk.

Slay 200 on One Front.

Moscow's midnight bulletin said 200 Germans were killed when the Nazis were dislodged from fortified positions near Lisichansk, and 100 Nazis fell in the repulse of several enemy counter-attacks in the Kuban.

[The German communique yesterday said Nazi artillery had set warehouses afire in Leningrad, but that the front otherwise was quiet.]

U. S. REDS USING WAR TO RECRUIT MEMBERS—DIES

Employ Soviet Successes as Cloak, He Says.

Rep. Martin Dies [D., Tex.], chairman of the house committee on un-American activities, yesterday charged in a speech delivered at an Executives' club luncheon in the Hotel Sherman that the Communist party in the United States is using American admiration for Russian valor and military success to recruit new members. Dies said the Communist party had obtained 3,000 recruits in Chicago recently.

In declaring that the present American feeling for Russia should not blind us to the fact that the Communist party is hostile to our way of life, Rep. Dies was touching briefly on a theme used by Chauncey McCormick, chairman of the luncheon, in his introduction of Dies.

A Monarchial Government.

McCormick pointed out that during the American Revolution nobody in the colonies seriously advocated adoption of the French monarchial form of government simply because France was our ally.

Rep. Dies said the greatest threats to republics come from within. He charged that on government pay rolls in Washington are men who do not believe in the American way of life and who are bent on destroying it.

Dies quoted one federal employé now occupying a $5,600 a year post as having said, "I believe in the abolition of the capitalistic system." Another at one time advocated the destruction of money as a medium of exchange, Dies said.

One of the greatest menaces to our nation, Dies asserted, is the trend toward burocracy. "We now have three million unelected servants of the people in the federal government as against 500 elected servants," he said.

Disintegration of Republic.

Dies said America is drifting into a form of totalitarianism which has not the remotest resemblance to the idea of government cherished by the men and women who built this nation. He predicted that if present trends are not halted the next generation may see the disintegration of the American republic.

In attacking the idea that people should depend on government for protection against the vicissitudes of life, Dies warned that a government which takes all this responsibility will also assume a great many powers.

"Papa has the responsibility to support," he said, "but remember also that Papa has the right to spank." And again: "When a nation is regimented economically the time is not far distant when it will be regimented politically and religiously too."

FIND BODY OF WOMAN.

The body of Mrs. Bessie Baker, 50 years old, who fled from the Kankakee State hospital Sunday, was found yesterday in a field south of Kankakee. She was believed to have died of a heart attack. Mrs. Baker formerly lived at 4825 Monroe street.

TELLS HOW U. S. BOMBERS MET JAPS OFF OAHU

The time was 8 a. m., Dec. 7, 1941; the place, 60 miles off Oahu, main island of the Hawaiian group. A squadron of Flying Fortresses nearing Hawaii from the United States saw 16 specks coming toward them from Hawaii.

"The specks grew bigger and became planes. They were almost on us before we saw their rising sun insignia," Lt. Erwin F. Cihak, 28 years old, said yesterday on his first visit home since the war began.

"Those 16 planes flew right under us," he said. "We didn't miss them by 150 feet. Yet nobody fired a shot. Later, after we landed on Hawaii and after the Japs had blasted our newly delivered planes to shreds, we guessed the 16 must have been returning to their ship for more ammunition.

"As for us, we couldn't fire. We didn't have a bullet in the whole squadron."

Lt. Cihak, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Cihak, 1815 South Highland avenue, Berwyn, was injured twice during his South Pacific service, once in a crash landing and once when a bullet from an attacking plane pierced his knee.

LIGHT ENGLISH SHIPS SINK 2 NAZI TORPEDO BOATS

LONDON, May 14 (AP).—British light coastal forces destroyed two enemy torpedo boats last night in a fight off Holland, the admiralty announced today.

The British ships, on patrol, "intercepted and engaged a strong enemy force which included torpedo boats and armed trawlers," the war bulletin said.

"Despite rapid fire from the enemy, his majesty's ships pressed home the attack to close range and torpedoed two enemy torpedo boats of about 600 tons each. The bow was blown off one of the enemy ships, which also was hit on the stern and sank. The other was torpedoed amidships and broke in halves."

Stimson's Aid in London on Plane Supply Mission

LONDON, May 14 (AP).—Robert A. Lovett, United States assistant secretary of war for air, has arrived in London on a mission connected with supplying aircraft to Britain and the United States army air forces, it was announced today.

HOW 26 LIVED 42 DAYS ADRIFT IN SMALL BOAT

Mooseheart Athlete Tells of Ship Sinking.

How 26 American seamen drifted for 42 days in the South Atlantic in their 22 foot lifeboat was told yesterday by James A. Birtcher, former star athlete at the Mooseheart school near Aurora.

Corp. Thos. Grealis.

Until Birtcher visited the school, he was believed dead. A gold star in his honor had been placed on the school's service flag after the merchant ship on which he was a naval gunner was torpedoed early this year.

Denies He Is Dead.

"I'm not dead and I'm not from Davy Jones' locker," the 22 year old sailor said. "But I did get torpedoed and was lost for quite a while—six weeks to be exact."

The navy disclosed on March 27 that 26 seamen were landed at Santos, Brazil, having been picked up by a Brazilian steamer after drifting 42 days. Identities of the men, however, were not revealed.

"We piled food for several weeks into our lifeboat before the 26 of us climbed into it and pulled away from our sinking ship," Birtcher said. "Even so, the food gave out long before we were rescued. I lost 45 pounds and some of my buddies lost even more. We were just skin and bones when found."

A 50 pound dolphin which followed the ship five days was caught with a harpoon fashioned from a steel bar. The ship's second cook, one of the 26, cooked the dolphin in its own oil.

Birtcher, native of Doanville, O., has two brothers, Sergt. Robert, at Westover, Mass., and Sergt. Walter, Chanute field, Rantoul, Ill.

Guadalcanal Hero Is Home.

A stirring story of another sort was told by Corp. Thomas Grealis, 21 years old, 4931 Henderson avenue, who returned home from Guadalcanal on sick leave. Grealis was injured in the back during a bombing attack. He credited an injection from a blood bank with saving his life.

"On one patrol, I saw a Jap lying behind a log as if dead," Grealis said. "He lay quietly as our patrol neared. I turned part way around and stooped as if to tie my shoe. He thought I wasn't looking and moved. I let him have it. He turned out to be a Jap major. I still have the Jap flag he wore wrapped around his waist under his clothes."

Another day, during a shelling attack, Corp. Grealis said he dived for the nearest foxhole. "It was too small to hold all of me," he said. "So I left my feet sticking out. Shrapnel knocked off a piece of a toe. I was glad it was that end of me exposed. I don't think I was lucky. I just used my head."

SEAMAN GETS LIFE IN SLAYING OF ILLINOISAN

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, May 14.—John Sidney Crawford, 26 years old, South African seaman and bootlegger, was sentenced to life imprisonment yesterday for the fatal jealousy shooting of two American servicemen, Elmer W. Geti of Astoria, Ill., and Sydney Samuel Sparrow of Atlanta, Ga.

"You acted like a ruthless bandit in murdering two defenseless men of the United States services, who had given you no provocation whatever," Judge Smith told Crawford. "You'll suffer little by comparison, but life imprisonment is the sentence imposed by law for any number of murders." There is no death penalty here.

At the trial, Hazel Salmon, former girl friend of Crawford, told how she was wounded in a vain effort to protect Sparrows. She said she never had seen Geti before. It was brought out at the hearing that it was Crawford's jealousy for the girl that led to the shootings.

CAFE ROBBED OF FOODS.

Emil Ciomei, owner of the Stella café at 26 South Western avenue, reported to police yesterday that 50 pounds of butter, 5 hams, 8 cases of whisky, cigarets, potatoes, and cheese were stolen by thieves who entered thru a skylight.

WLB DEMANDS RESUMPTION OF COAL PARLEYS

Seeks to Avert New Tieup; Urges 6 Day Week.

Washington, D. C., May 14 (AP).—The war labor board today ordered soft coal miners and operators to resume bargaining as a move to avert a possible new tie-up of the industry when the 15 day truce expires at midnight Tuesday.

The board said agreement should be possible on a number of issues to provide relief for the miners, other than a straight wage increase, and specifically suggested a full six day week. The United Mine Workers had demanded $2 a day increase and other concessions.

The board's decision is expected to meet with the approval of John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, who on April 30 telegraphed President Roosevelt that "a renewal of collective bargaining is the logical means of providing justice and equity to all parties."

The board declared the "adamant position assumed by the parties seemed to have precluded any attempt at real collective bargaining as to the numerous items on which collective bargaining could properly have taken place without violating the national wage stabilization program."

Board Retains Jurisdiction.

The board retained jurisdiction, directed a WLB panel studying the case to continue its deliberations and file a report and instructed the parties to report within 10 days the results of their further negotiations.

The board, in its order, directed that the mining of coal should continue until a new agreement is reached. The new terms are to be retroactive to March 31.

In an interim directive order issued a little more than three weeks after the dispute was certified, the board said it was "impressed with the number of issues on which the parties should have been able to reach an agreement by the ordinary procedure of collective bargaining."

"The operators," the board continued, "have indicated that the representatives of the miners were at fault in their seemingly adamant stand on '$2 a day, no more, no less.' But it is difficult to understand why the operators failed to advance any constructive bargaining suggestions on any of the numerous items in dispute.

Little Steel Stand Cited.

"On the other hand, it is difficult to understand the insistence of the representatives of the miners on basing their demand exclusively, at least for a time, on an abandonment by the government of its little steel formula."

[This formula limits wage increases, designed to compensate for higher living costs, to 15 per cent above the levels of Jan. 1, 1941.]

"Restriction of wage increases constitutes only one approach to the problem of controling the cost of living," the board said. "Price regulation and rationing are correlative approaches to this problem. A denial of increases in straight time rates does not constitute a denial of relief as to cost of living."

President Roosevelt in the meantime told a press conference today he had asked Fuel Administrator Harold L. Ickes to look into reports that the United Mine Workers had fined some of its members for working May 1, the day after the contracts expired.

ASSAIL ORDER KEEPING U. S. AID OUT OF SERVICE

F. D. R. Action Branded Blow to Morale.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 14.—President Roosevelt's order to Abe Fortas, $9,000 a year undersecretary of the interior, to remain at his desk job and accept a draft deferment in lieu of military service produced an explosion in the house today.

Abe Fortas.

Rep. Forest A. Harness [R., Ind.], member of the Costello committee investigating draft deferments for government employés, declared Fortas' job is of questionable importance and said it had been prejudged by the President in what must be interpreted as "an attempt to direct the decision of the local draft board which is supposed to determine his status."

Rep. Hamilton Fish [R., N. Y.] said he is opposed to any deferments except for physical reasons, warning that morale will be undermined if the government continues in its policy of freeing young men from active fighting service on the ground of essential occupation.

Both World War Veterans.

Both Harness and Fish are veterans of the World war. Fish noted there are 840,000 men of draft age holding jobs on the federal pay roll. He also recalled that a report of the naval affairs committee earlier in the week assailed large scale draft abuses and laxities in the navy department under Secretary Frank Knox.

Fortas is 32 years old, and his wife holds a $5,600 a year job as a lawyer in the justice department, it was learned.

In a letter from Mr. Roosevelt, made public by the White House, Fortas was directed to continue at his civilian post, being informed he can best serve the nation in that capacity rather than in the army or the navy. According to the published accounts, Fortas had signified his intention of resigning to volunteer for service, and Interior Secretary Harold L. Ickes asked the President to prevail on him to change his mind.

Defense Evokes Outburst.

An attempt by Rep. Howard J. McMurray [D., Wis.] to defend Ickes' aid precipitated a further outburst in the chamber as members insisted that there is no law forcing Fortas to accept Mr. Roosevelt's direction in the matter.

Describing Fortas as "one of the most outstanding administrators ever developed anywhere in our country," the Wisconsin representative asked:

"If the President tells you to stay on the job, he is your commander in chief, what do you do?"

Rep. James W. Mott [R., Ore.] was on his feet at once with a reply.

"The gentleman [McMurray] is not quite accurate in that," he declared. "The President is not my commander in chief or your commander in chief. He is the commander in chief of the army and navy of the United States. The man you are talking about is not yet a member of the army or navy of the United States, therefore the President is not his commander in chief in any legal sense whatever."

Proud of Commander.

"Franklin D. Roosevelt is my commander in chief, and I am proud of it," McMurray replied.

"I do not want to quibble," Mott insisted, "but there is nothing to prevent this gentleman [Fortas] from resigning."

Majority Leader John W. McCormack [D., Mass.] injected himself in the discussion with the following contribution:

Mott Cites Resignations.

"And some members of congress within the military age have resigned from congress and have joined the army," Mott shot back.

"The answer is that anybody can resign," McCormack persisted.

"I might reverse that also and say that some members of congress have resigned from the armed service to come to congress—at least one has," added Mott.

This was a reference to Rep. Will Rogers [D., Cal.], an army lieutenant before his election. He resigned the commission to take his seat in the house.

Rep. Fish emphasized that he does not know Fortas and that his remarks were not to be construed as a personal attack upon him.

Political Deferments Blasted.

"What I am complaining about," he went on, "is that we should give any deferment to any one at all, particularly to a man without children and only 32 years of age, who is physically fit and ought to have been in the service long before and not wait until he gets a letter from the President saying he is needed. I say everybody should be in, and that is what I am complaining about, not about Mr. Fortas.

"I think deferment should be granted only in case of those who are technicians or airplane designers or engineers. But these politicians, these government appointed individuals, every one of them ought to be in the service if they are of draft age. Otherwise, it is a bad precedent all down the line."

ROOSEVELT ORDERS EASTMAN TO SEIZE LINE IN RAIL STRIKE

Washington, D. C., May 14 [Special].—President Roosevelt today directed Joseph B. Eastman, defense transportation director, to take possession of the American Railroad company of Puerto Rico whose employés have been on strike since Wednesday demanding a 25 per cent wage increase.

Interior department officials said they had been assured by Miguel Torres, president of the striking railroad workers' union that the union members would coöperate with insular and federal agencies to operate the railroad which is a key line in the movement of supplies and food for the armed forces and civilian population on the island.

MISSING PILOT TURNS UP SAFE; WAS BUSY ROUNDING UP NAZIS

ALLIED HDQ. IN NORTH AFRICA, May 14 (AP).—Lt. Robert W. Hine, 21 year old American pilot from Fairview village, a suburb of Cleveland, O., has been reported missing in action since May 8, but it ain't so. He had just been to Tunis, taking prisoners.

Hine crash landed near Tunis when his plane was hit by anti-aircraft fire and made his way into the capital about the same time that ground troops were entering. He took eight or nine German prisoners and narrowly missed death from a sniper.

While he was looking for transportation back to his base, Hine related, the Germans "came running out of a house and one of them asked in good English if they could surrender to me.

"I took them in tow and handed them over to the first British 'M. P.' I saw."

2 Philadelphia Airmen Saved from China Jungle

CALCUTTA, India, May 14 [Delayed]—(AP).—Two Philadelphia pilots flying planes over the India-China mountain ranges for the Chinese National Airways have been rescued from the jungle after being missing for six weeks, it was learned today. The men are Joseph Rosspert and Pete Nammell. Both were slightly injured.

Von Arnim May Be Flown to Britain for Internment

LONDON, May 14 (AP).—Col. Gen. Jurgen von Arnim, captured commander of the Nazi African forces, probably will be flown to England for internment, London sources said tonight. It was thought he might be taken to the same camp where Gen. Ritter von Thoma, brought to England six months ago after his capture in the western desert, is imprisoned.

WOMEN KIN OF GANDHI AID ARE FREED FROM JAIL

ALLAHABAD, INDIA, May 13 [Delayed] (AP).—Mrs. Vijaya Laxmi and Mrs. Indira Gandhi, the sister and daughter of Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, former president of the Congress [Nationalist] Party, were released today from Naini jail.

It was reported, however, that they had been served with an order confining them to the family estate at Amora.

The two women were taken into custody last summer during the disorders which resulted in the internment of Nehru, Mohandas K. Gandhi and other Congress leaders. Mrs. Gandhi is the wife of Feroze Gandhi. He is not related to the famous Gandhi.

ALLIES TO FORCE EUROPE SOON, SAYS CHURCHILL

growing mastery of the air, not only over our island, but penetrating into ever widening zones on the continent, ask whether the danger of invasion has not passed away. Let me assure you of this, that until Hitler and Hitlerism are beaten into unconditional surrender, the danger of invasion will never pass away.

"The degree of the invasion danger depends entirely upon the strength or weakness of the forces and preparations gathered to meet it. The larger the army that must be brought across the seas to attack and subjugate us, the greater the difficulties of the operation and the better the targets which would be open to the royal navy and to the British and American air forces on the spot."

He contrasted the mighty armies now defending Britain with the "terrible summer of 1940 when we stood alone and, as the world thought, forlorn against the all-powerful aggressor with his vast armies and masses of equipment."

Recalls Equipment Lack.

He recalled than when local defense volunteers were called to rally round the searchlight positions, all they could find for weapons were shotguns, sporting rifles, clubs, and staves.

"It was not until July [1940]," he went on, "that we ferried safely across the Atlantic the million rifles and 1,000 field guns, with ammunition proportionable, which were given to us by the government and people of the United States by an act of precious and timely succor.

"You will remember how we had special trains waiting to carry the rifles to all home guard areas and how you worked night and day to clean them from the grease in which they had been stored for a generation. You will remember how we hardly dared to fire a round for practice, so dire was the stringency.

"Thenceforward at any rate you had military weapons in your hands. Thenceforward, when imagining the horrors of a Hun invasion, there arose that last consoling thought of unenslaveable men: 'You can always take one with you."

Now Plentifully Armed.

"Very different is our condition today. We are an armed people. The strength of the home guard has risen steadily; clothing and equipment are complete. Instead of the shotguns and homemade bombs, most now have rifles or Sten guns or machine guns, or serve in the anti-tank or anti-aircraft teams. Ammunition, long so scarce, is now sufficient to allow each man to practice with his own weapons. . . .

"Many hundreds of ack-ack guns are manned by the home guard. Scores of batteries have been in action and have acquitted themselves worthily. Women have played an even larger part at the guns. . . .

"We have now nearly 2 million resolute, trained, and equipped men, all of whom do their daily work in field or factory and add to it free, gratis, and for nothing but honor, the last and proudest duty of a citizen of the empire and a soldier of the king."

Stressing the great importance of the home guard in protecting Britain, Mr. Churchill said:

Stresses Defense Importance.

"All British war energies depend upon the unfailing defense and adequate nourishment of our small island home which lies only 21 miles from the German batteries and only a few minutes' flight from their airfields.

"Great Britain is the advanced fighting base of the united nations and is still under constant siege and assault by air and sea. It is in a very large measure the power house and directing center of the whole of a vast output of war equipment.

"It is the home and cradle of the navy. From its ports sail the convoys which carry forth the expeditionary armies and to them come the food and supplies by which our tense, organized, vibrant life is sustained. In this home there burns the light of freedom. Guard it well, home guard."

The prime minister also made public the following message he had received from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, commander of the allied forces in Africa:

Letter from Eisenhower.

"I wrote you a letter yesterday in which I tried to express in some small degree how deep was my appreciation of your unwavering support and confidence in me and in this allied force. Today I have received your heart warming telegram, and no words of mine can tell you how pleased I am. I can only say 'thank you' and give you my assurance that this army will continue to pound until Hitlerism has been exterminated from the earth."

The White House disclosed that Churchill had conferred with Secretary of State Cordell Hull, President Benes of Czecho-Slovakia, Chinese Foreign Minister T. V. Soong, and Australian Foreign Minister Herbert Evatt.

The British press service provided newspapers with an account of the prime minister's voyage to America on an unidentified vessel and his reception on arrival.

Met by Hopkins.

"He was met by high officials, and Mr. Harry Hopkins welcomed him, an old friend, on behalf of the President," said the British press agent. "On going ashore he was given a rousing cheer by the ship's company, and all and sundry round the docks when he landed and at the railway station were greeted with a buoyant smile and the famous V-sign, both of which were returned with interest and much enthusiasm. Mr. Churchill was given a real friendly welcome by those who were about. He was dressed in his uniform of the royal yacht squadron, which he had also worn on board when not wearing the now famous siren suit."

[Churchill posed in Washington on Jan. 3 in a powder blue coverall which he said was his "siren suit" and said "he could get into it in half a minute." His shoes were fastened by zippers and he wore a vest but no coat under the suit.]

Wedding Today

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Lt. Edwin F. Russell and his fiancee.

LONDON, May 14 (AP).—An American navy officer will become the third American to marry into the family of Prime Minister Churchill when Lt. Edwin F. Russell, naval reserve, weds Sarah Churchill, 21 years old, here tomorrow. She is the eldest daughter of John and Mary Spencer-Churchill, known as the duke and duchess of Marlborough.

The ceremony will be held in St. Margaret's church in the shadows of Westminster abbey, but because of war time restrictions it will be a simple one. The Rt. Rev. Kenneth E. Kirk, bishop of Oxford, will pronounce the vows.

Lt. Russell, who was associate publisher of the Newark, N. J., Star-Ledger, joined the British royal navy in 1941 and was transferred to the United States naval reserve last month.

Blue eyed, brown haired Sarah, a distant relative of Mr. Churchill, will become the first woman in her family to marry an American. Other Americans in the Churchill family were women. Lady Sarah's grandmother is the former Consuelo Vanderbilt.

ARMY BOMBERS COLLIDE; 15 MEN DIE; ONE SAFE

El Paso, Tex., May 14 (AP).—The Biggs field public relations office today announced 15 men were killed last night in the collision of two army bombers. One man parachuted safely.

The announcement said one plane had been cleared by the field and the other ship was coming in to a landing.

Two Killed in Connecticut.

New York, May 14 (AP).—An army pilot killed in a plane crash last night at Windsor Locks, Conn., was identified today as Flight Officer Claude G. Baker, 23 years old, Long Beach, Cal. Earlier in the day 2d Lt. Harry J. McElroy, Columbus, O., died when his plane crashed at Stonington, Conn.

Texas Flyer Loses Life.

New York, May 14 (AP).—An army pilot identified as 2d Lt. Ernest W. Hagar, 20, of Sweetwater, Tex., was killed today when his fighter plane crashed on an estate at Topsfield, Mass., the eastern defense command announced.

JAP PUPPET DOLLAR'S VALUE SINKS IN CHINA

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

CHUNGKING, China, May 14.—Since the axis collapse in North Africa the value of Japanese backed puppet dollars has dropped to one to one with the central government Chinese currency on the black market in Shanghai, it was reported here today. The puppet government's official rate is one puppet government dollar to two central government. In the past the black market rate has placed the value of the puppet note as high as four to one. Fluctuations in the black market rate in Shanghai are always considered here as a good barometer of public confidence or lack of confidence in a Chinese victory.

POSTOFFICE SAFE BLASTED.

SECRET PARLEY BARED AS MOVE TO MAP 'PEACE'

Britisher Lifts Veil from Hot Springs Agenda.

Washington, D. C., May 14 [Special].—The curtain of secrecy imposed on the forthcoming international food conference by high American officials was lifted today by a British visitor who took occasion to hail the convention as the first step toward a post-war international peace structure.

President Roosevelt has barred the press from contact with delegates during the sessions of the conference, to open at Hot Springs, Va., on Tuesday, and there has been a notable lack of any official American statements of the purposes for which the meeting was called.

It remained for Richard K. Law, British parliamentary undersecretary of state for foreign affairs, to enlighten the American press about the conference to be held in the Americans' midst.

Press Received Promptly.

Arriving at the head of the British delegation, Mr. Law promptly received the press at British press headquarters. He discussed the objectives of the conference at great length, in marked contrast with the furtive attitude of the Roosevelt administration.

Mr. Law said that "this conference represents the first concerted attempt by the free peoples to lay the groundwork of a post-war world."

"The conception of the united nations—the idea that there is a community of interest among the peoples of the world which transcends all purely national and particular interests—has grown steadily in strength since the day when the united nations' declaration was offered to the world by the President of the United States," he added. "Next week, at Hot Springs, we are going to give physical expression to this conception.

"There are needs which have to be met and demands which have to be satisfied, needs and demands which take no account of nationality or race or geographical position, needs and demands which are common to all of us in our simple fundamental capacity as human beings. If we are to make of the united nations as potent an instrument for peace as they are a mighty weapon of war, we must direct our minds to those matters which are of common concern to us, and build upon that foundation the structure of world peace.

Food Called Common Problem.

"The united nations, therefore, must concern themselves in their corporate capacity first of all with those fundamental questions of common interest. Such a question is the problem of food. Appetite and hunger, these are not the characteristics of one nation rather than another. Here, then, is a field of action, of peaceful action, in which all peaceable nations can coöperate. And the habit of coöperation once formed, who can say how far it will carry us?"

He envisaged action by the conference to set up an international organization that will survey the potentialities of agricultural production and dietetic requirements in all countries with a view to joint action to prevent the development of shortages of food in the immediate post-war period.

LOOTS LOYOLA LOCKER ROOM.

A thief invaded the gymnasium locker room of Loyola university at 6525 Sheridan road Tuesday and stole two watches and an undetermined amount of money from the clothing of athletes who were working out on the track.

Blind, but in 1-A

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Abraham Schwartz at his newsstand.

New York, May 14 [Special].—New York selective service headquarters gave assurances today that Abraham Schwartz, 26 years old, who has been placed in 1A despite the fact that he is blind in one eye and has infinitesimal vision in the other, will be deferred when he appears for his final physical examination.

Schwartz's plight came to light when Associated Blind, Inc., interceded for him on his complaint that he had appeared before the draft board three times and had had his fourth notice. On each appearance Schwartz asked for an eye examination without getting it. Every time he was ordered to appear it was necessary for him to close up his newsstand.

Schwartz said that he was injured in a wrestling match in 1933 and two years later could not see at all out of his right eye and could distinguish objects not farther than two feet from his left. After two calls by his draft board Schwartz, who is married, was left in 3A. After his third call he was placed in 4F "until further notice." Then on Monday came his card classifying him in 1A.

JAPS PUT PRICE OF 10,000 YEN ON YANKEE FLYERS

WITH U. S. AIR FORCE IN CHINA, May 14 (AP).—A reward of 10,000 yen for the capture, dead or alive, of any member of the United States medium bombardment group based in China, which group has made more than 70 raids against Japanese bases in the last year, was offered today in a Tokio broadcast. [Before the war the yen was valued at 23 cents.]

Since the recent heavy raids began on Hainan, Haiphong, and Canton, the Tokio radio has been shouting threats that the Japanese would destroy all American-Chinese airports and wipe out Chungking, Kunming, and other important Chinese cities.

To these threats the response of the fighter pilots has been: "Let them come. All we want is a chance to knock more of them out of the skies."

HITLER'S MOVES BALKED BRITISH, COL. LANZA SAYS

Finds Both Sides a Year Behind Schedule.

BY. COL. CONRAD H. LANZA.

In January, 1941, the axis was aware of a British plan to invade South Europe. How the axis secured a copy of this is not known, but it was published in the Italian Popolo D'Italia on Jan. 7 of that year. It provided for:

1. Eliminating the Italian armies from Africa, and clearing the Mediterranean during 1941.
2. Concentrating American and British troops in Egypt and Italian North Africa, during the winter of 1941-'42.
3. American intervention in strength, and invasion of Europe, via the Balkan route, during the spring of 1942.

Donovan In Balkans Then.

About the time that the axis learned of the proposed invasion of the Balkans, our Col. William J. Donovan was traveling thru that troubled area, and interviewing its leading statesmen. Nothing official has yet been published about just what Col. Donovan said, but he was closely watched. Donovan assured the Balkans, according to accounts of his visits, that the United States was going to see that the British won this war, and would back them up in the Balkans. In March, British troops arrived in Greece.

Germany was aware of Col. Donovan's activities. If she did not engineer the stealing of his papers, subsequently returned intact, while he was in the Balkans, she learned much about what he was doing. Early in February, 1941, the German press commented on the certainty of the United States joining the British in the war. The belief was expressed that this intervention would come too late.

The greatest danger to Germany would arise if the British and Americans invaded the Balkans from the south, while Russia attacked from the north. Russia desired to enter the Balkans, for her foreign commissar, Vyacheslav M. Molotov, had told Hitler at their conference in Berlin on Nov. 13, 1940, that Russia desired to "occupy" Rumania, Bulgaria, and the Straits of Istanbul, when and if she could arrange it.

Hitler Attack Balks Move.

To prevent any possibility of the Balkans being attacked simultaneously by Russia, Britain, and the United States, Hitler decided to attack first.

He invited Rumania and Bulgaria to join him. Shortly before, Russia had "occupied" the Baltic states.

Rumania and Bulgaria accepted Hitler's offer, not because they liked the Germans, but as the lesser of two evils. It was agreed that Rumania, which wished to recover Bessarabia, seized by Russia in the preceding summer, would furnish troops for a war on Russia; and that Bulgaria, which desired territory partly inhabited by Bulgars, but then within the boundaries of Jugo-Slavia and Greece, would furnish troops against any invasion by Britain or America.

Consolidate Hold on Balkans.

In April, 1941, Hitler acted. He attacked Jugo-Slavia and Greece, and within a month had crushed those two states, had ousted the British from Greece, held all of the Balkans except Turkish Istanbul, and had Crete. He sent troops to North Africa to help out the Italians. Instead of clearing North Africa during 1941, the British were unable to do it until 1943. In the meantime the axis has had two years to consolidate its hold on the Balkans.

In the following June, Hitler attacked Russia. The hope was that a mortal blow could be given to the Russian armies in 1941, and that Russia would be cleaned out of the war in 1942, before which time it was believed that America would not be prepared to invade any part of Europe. This plan did not succeed.

Both Sides Behind Schedule.

No plan has been published for the invasion of west Europe. But the gathering of British, dominion, and American forces in Britain clearly indicates that this was on the program. For three years the axis has been preparing to defend west Europe, and for two years the Balkans. Until last winter nothing had been done to defend south France or Italy, but since then work has been progressing.

The invasion of Europe is no new idea. It has been planned for, at least since the beginning of 1941. Both sides have made their preparations. Both sides are one year behind their schedules.

Consul for Netherlands Pledges Blood Donations

In commemoration of the bombing of Rotterdam by the Germans on May 14, 1940, J. I. Noest, consul general of The Netherlands in Chicago, visited the Red Cross Blood Donor center at 5 North Wabash avenue yesterday to turn in blood donation pledges of citizens of The Netherlands now living in the Chicago area. Netherlands nationals all over the country are observing this week by making donations at Red Cross blood banks, Mr. Noest said.

ALLIES BAG 2,000 AXIS PLANES IN AFRICA; LOSE 770

Work of Air Team Is Reviewed.

Washington, D. C., May 14 (AP).—The allied air forces of North Africa destroyed approximately 2,000 enemy planes while losing about 770 in the six months and three days between the landings in French North Africa and the collapse of axis resistance on May 11.

The war department reported this today in a review of the spectacular part played by the allied team under Air Chief Marshal Arthur W. Tedder.

It said that in the first 11 days of May alone the score was 300 axis planes destroyed against 49 allied aircraft lost, and added that from May 7—the day Tunis and Bizerte fell—"the enemy air arm literally danced to the allies' tune, losing approximately 11 planes for every allied plane brought down."

Demonstrates Striking Power.

"The campaign provides the first large scale demonstration of the resistlessness of an aerial striking force employing all its capabilities in an integrated pattern," said the report.

"It is an example of the net result of coördination of all types of military airplanes, of air power enabling the reduction of the size of a force required to do a job and shortening the time required to do it."

Tedder's Mediterranean air command, the department said, was divided into four parts—the Northwest African air force, the R. A. F. Malta, the R. A. F. middle east, and elements of the 9th United States air forces in Egypt operating with the western desert air force.

Spaatz Commanded Force.

The Northwest African air force, commanded by Lt. Gen. Carl Spaatz, was made up of American and British units operating as a strategic air force, a tactical air force, a reconnaissance wing, a coastal air force, a troop carrier command, a training command, and an air service command.

Enemy supply and communications lines were the usual targets of the strategic air force. Composed of heavy and medium bombers and long range fighters, this force struck continuously at axis shipping, ports, and harbors, bases, marshaling yards and airdromes.

The northwest African tactical air force operated in close coöperation with the ground forces. Its job was fighter sweeps against enemy fighter planes, reconnaissance, and bombing and strafing of enemy troop concentrations, transport lines on the ground, and enemy supply and communication facilities.

Sentence Canada Soldier to Die for Britain Slaying

LONDON, May 14 (AP). — Pvt. Charles Arthur Raymond, 23 year old member of the royal Canadian army service corps, was sentenced to death in the Old Bailey here today for the murder of Marguerite Beatrice Burge, 22 year old member of the women's auxiliary air force. She was found fatally injured Jan. 31 in a lane near Goodwood, Sussex. Raymond is from Riviere du Loup, Que.

DUCE OUSTS 6 MORE CHIEFS OF FASCIST PARTY, BRITISH HEAR

LONDON, May 14 (AP).—Premier Benito Mussolini has expelled six more Fascist officials from the party, the Rome radio reported today, in a continuation of a shakeup in Italy.

One of those ousted was reported to be Luigi Messedaglia, described as a senator and a party member since 1925. He was accused of expressing "pernicious and cowardly sentiments." Three of those ousted were accused of illegal activities in awards of government contracts. One was said to be a special secretary in the communications ministry. The others are in private work.

Another ousted party member was identified as Giuseppe Giacoma, accused of obtaining "an illicit concession and a subsequent unwarranted price increase."

[A dispatch from Berne, Switzerland, quoted Stefani, official Italian news agency, as denying reports of Italian general staff changes, allegedly announced in a Rome communique. The reports asserted that Marshals Caviglia, Rodolfo Graziani, Ugo Cavallero, and Emilio de Bono had assumed command of the Italian armed forces along with the empire's first and second marshals, King Victor Emmanuel and Premier Mussolini.]

MANDALAY RAIL YARDS BATTERED BY YANK FLYERS

NEW DELHI, India, May 14 (AP).—Medium bombers of the 10th United States air force yesterday bombed the railroad yards of Mandalay and the nearby railway bridge at Myitnge, and all returned safely.

"At Mandalay hits were observed on the main station on rolling stock and among storage sheds," a communique said.

British forces have made another withdrawal northward on the Mayu peninsula of Burma and have taken up new positions "more suitable for defense," a communique said today. The withdrawal was from Maungdaw, on the west coast of the peninsula. Maungdaw is about 35 miles southwest of Buthedaung, which the British abandoned last week in the face of threatened encirclement by the Japanese. The new withdrawal was made on the night of May 11, "without interference from the enemy."

DARLAN SON HAS PARALYSIS; AT WARM SPRINGS

Warm Springs, Ga., May 14 (AP).—Alain Darlan, 29 years old, son of the late Adm. Jean François Darlan of France, is in the Warm Springs Foundation hospital for treatment of infantile paralysis, the Foundation announced today.

The Atlanta Journal said he was accompanied by his wife, Annie, and his mother, both wearing mourning for the admiral, who was assassinated in North Africa on Christmas eve.

The Journal said the French soldier and his family are living in a duplex cottage on the Foundation grounds.

ALLIED AIRMEN BLAST ITALIAN PORTS AND SHIPS

Naval Units Join Attack; Shell Island.

ALLIED HDQ. IN NORTH AFRICA, May 14 (AP).—Allied naval units have started shelling the remaining axis Mediterranean bases in concert with a continually intensifying aerial offensive which yesterday dealt devastating blows on Sardinia, Sicily, the Italian mainland, and harbored shipping.

2d. Lt. A. M. Collins [top] and Lt. C. J. Zubarik.

A British naval force, having concluded its part in blocking the sea lanes from Tunisia, turned its guns on the Italian Isle of Pantelleria in the Sicilian strait yesterday and poured at least 20 broadsides into the harbor area.

Shore batteries on the little island, lying only 45 miles east of the tip of Cape Bon, replied but failed to do any damage, allied headquarters announced.

Yank Airmen Bomb Sicily.

About 50 American Liberator bombers struck at the Sicilian harbor of Augusta, sinking or damaging approximately 20 enemy ships and starting large oil fires. Attacking from middle east bases, the four engined Liberators picked up their R. A. F. fighter escort in the air at Malta and dropped nearly 250,000 pounds of explosives on Augusta harbor.

In the heaviest raid yet made on Sardinia targets, American Flying Fortresses and medium bombers smashed at Cagliari, whose port and air field formed an important base for axis forces in North Africa.

Escorted by Lightnings and Warhawks, the Fortresses, Mitchells, and Marauders dumped tons of bombs on harbor, industrial, and warehouse areas.

The Americans shot down 9 of 30 challenging German and Italian fighters and lost only 1 of their escort planes.

Second Lt. Andrew M. Collins of 11525 Longwood drive, Chicago, shot down one of the enemy planes. Victories also were scored by Lt. Charles J. Zubarik, West Allis, Wis., a P-38 pilot, and Lt. Herman W. Visscher of Kalamazoo, Mich.

Reggio in Calabria, Messina, Sicily, and the port of Naples were among the cities pounded by allied airmen in their furious new offensive.

Axis Strikes at Algiers.

"No axis forces remain in North Africa who are not prisoners in our hands," said the allied communique.

Axis planes struck at the Algiers area last night for the second night in succession, but the allied communique said five of the raiders were shot down and the others driven away.

The Italian high command communique broadcast from Rome said Italian planes made night raids on the harbors of Bone, Bougie, and Sfax, and reported that an allied submarine was sunk by a German force in the Tyrrhenian sea.

ASSERT ALLIES WILL COMPLETELY OCCUPY GERMANY AND ITALY

LONDON, May 14 (AP).—The allies are determined to avoid a major mistake of the 1918 armistice and intend to occupy Germany and Italy with their military forces lock, stock, and barrel when the final collapse comes, informed quarters said today.

Furthermore, it was understood that during the military occupation the allied leaders will deal only with military authorities on an unconditional surrender basis. There will be no trafficking with puppet governments, it was said.

If the military authorities in the occupied countries cannot reëstablish order, the allies will do the job themselves until the people choose their own free government, it was added.

760 Mexicans Enter U.S. for Work on Railroads

MEXICO CITY, May 14 (AP).—A group of 760 Mexican nonagricultural, unskilled workers was on its way today to work on railroads in the United States under a new international agreement. Labor Minister Francisco Turjillo Gurria, speaking to the group before it left here, told them they were "soldiers of democracy, soldiers of Mexico who are going to fight with that patriotic spirit that throbs in every Mexican."

TRIBUNE WRITER FLIES YOU OVER JAP HELD LANDS

It's All Night Thrill Trip from Guadalcanal.

[Mr. Gowran, who has been in various parts of the South Pacific for months, has finally reached Guadalcanal. To this, his first dispatch from Guadalcanal, he appended this note: "This may not be a great story, but I'll bet it's the best ever written under a raincoat by the light of a flashlight in a black-out. 'Washboard Charley' is expected to pay us a visit."]

BY CLAY GOWRAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GUADALCANAL, May 8 [Delayed]. —This story might aptly be called "To Bougainville in a Flying Bathtub."

It is the account of the flight this correspondent made last night 400 miles into Jap held Solomon Islands in one of the huge and cumbersome twin-engine Catalina flying boats which are writing a brilliant page in United States war aviation.

The orders for our mission read: "You will proceed to New Georgia and scout the Munda airport for any information obtainable concerning the Japs there. Do the same for Vila airfield on Kolombangara. Then you will proceed northwest to the Shortland Island region and scout there for signs of Jap surface or air activity."

Off We Go!

At 7 p. m. we took off from Henderson field in a 15 ton PBY. It was just becoming dusk when we circled the field and headed out toward New Georgia.

At the chief pilot's controls was Lt. [j. g.] George Nasworthy, 23 years old, of West Palm Beach, Fla., a flying instructor before he joined the navy. He has flown Catalinas 1,800 hours. The co-pilot was a tow head, Lt. [j. g.] Robert Lowrie, 27 years old, of Terrell, Tex.

I was stationed in the rear gun blisters with Warrant Machinist Byron Neilsen, 36, of North Hollywood, Cal., a navy man 18 years. The blisters swung open as soon as we left Henderson field, enabling our .50 caliber machine guns to fire instantly if Jap planes appeared.

We were flying at only 700 feet right under a heavy ceiling. The air was rough and the big ship bounced and rocked heavily as it roared toward the northwest. Then an electrical storm caught us.

At 8 p. m. we were approaching the rugged coast of New Georgia in the vicinity of Munda. Over the intercommunication phone, Nasworthy spoke to me:

"Watch now. They'll hear us any minute. Then you may see fireworks."

As we roared in Neilsen nudged me and pointed. Ahead and to the right a long finger of light probed the skies, then another and another. Soon six searchlights were sweeping the heavens for us.

"Damn it, but those Japs are lousy," Neilsen shouted in my ear while shaking his head in professional disgust. "Look at that. They think we're up a couple of miles and here we are right over their heads."

As we swept past Munda, a few desultory bursts of anti-aircraft fire sprinkled the sky far off the right wing. Apparently the Japs were encouraging themselves with the sound of their guns. Only once did their lights come near and that time Nasworthy threw the ship up on one wing and slid away.

Takes Time Out.

An hour later at Vila it was much the same. Searchlights swept the skies and anti-aircraft fire burst futilely nowhere near us. Neilsen, apparently put out by such foolishness, clambered down from his blister, crawled forward and flopped into one of the Catalina's four bunks.

I went forward to the navigation compartment where Lowrie, having been relieved at the controls, was plotting our course.

Between phoning data forward to Nasworthy he showed me our course and objectives. We had passed within a half mile of Munda and Vila and already he had charted the precise points from which the anti-aircraft fire had come. That information may save the life of a dive bomber pilot a few days from now.

During the 90 minute flight from New Georgia to Shortland, I followed Neilsen's example and crawled into a bunk. The only one vacant was filled with parachutes, so I sprawled on top of them and tried to sleep. It was no go.

Back to the Blister.

As we neared Shortland, I resumed my station in the gun blister. The ceiling was still low and it was pitch black. Then come an all-plane alert from Lowrie:

"We have picked up a plane heading toward us. Observe an absolute blackout. Gunners, keep your eyes open and be ready to fire."

For minutes we strained our eyes to pierce the blackness, but saw nothing. Then what seemed to be a dim, floating light whipped by far off to the right. Minutes more passed and nothing happened. Apparently the Jap never saw us because he didn't come back.

Two hours later, after sighting no further activity at Shortland, we paid a second visit to Vila and Munda. Again there were searchlights, but no anti-aircraft fire.

Shortly after 2 a. m. we swung past Savo Island and turned homeward toward Henderson field. Then the nosewheel jammed—and we were forced to stay up all night so as to make a water landing at dawn.

At 7 a. m. we coasted down into Tulago and kissed water as smooth as velvet. We had been flying exactly 12 hours, but it seemed like 50.

JAPANESE LOSE 16 PLANES IN RAID ON ALLIED BASE

Six Others Probably Brought Down.

ALLIED HDQ. IN AUSTRALIA, May 15 [Saturday]—(AP).—The Japanese made a costly raid yesterday on the allied base at Oro Bay, New Guinea, sending over 20 bombers with 25 fighters, and losing between 16 and 22 planes.

Allied losses were minor both in the air and on the ground. There were no allied fatalities in the air battle. The allies sent up an intercepting force about equal in size to that of the raiders. Oro bay is on the north coast of New Guinea's Papuan peninsula, 50 miles below Buna.

Raid on Buna Fizzles.

A communique issued by Gen. MacArthur said seven Japanese bombers and nine Zeros were shot down for certain in yesterday's raid. Another fighter and five bombers probably were destroyed.

In addition to the raid on Oro bay, three Japanese bombers struck ineffectively at Buna but all bombs fell wide of their mark the communique said.

For the second day in a row, the allies' biggest blows were delivered at Gasmata, on the southern tip of New Britain Island north of New Guinea.

Two engined bombers and long range fighters struck at the airdrome, the waterfront, and installations. So effective was the blow that the airdrome runway was rendered unserviceable. Buildings were damaged heavily and the jetty was destroyed.

Start Waterfront Fires.

Low flying allied planes also attacked nearby Cape Gloucester, starting big waterfront fires and damaging the airdrome and village.

Another New Britain point attacked was Ubili.

On Unea Island in the Vitu group near New Britain, a big bomber attacked the jetty.

On New Guinea, big bombers attacked the Wewak and Boram airdrome, starting large fires. Big explosions resulted. Several aircraft probably were caught in the dispersal areas where numerous small fires were noted.

In the area northwest of Australia, Timika on Dutch New Guinea was attacked by a big bomber, striking at the airdrome. Koepang on Timor was visited by medium bombers which struck at Penfoe airdrome, starting lareg fires. Dili's town and waterfront also were raided.

SEPARATE TRIALS PROMISED FOR TUNISIA ITALIANS

ALGIERS, May 14 (AP).—French authorities announced tonight that no general measures would be taken against the 100,000 Italian nationals in Tunisia. They will be permitted to resume normal life, and accusations alleging that some of them had participated with the enemy forces during the occupation will be examined individually.

The French are taking a sterner attitude toward the French in Tunisia who collaborated with the axis, but their cases also will be dealt with individually. Trials will be held as rapidly as possible, and every accused person will have the right of legal representation. Those found gulty of treason will pay the full penalty.

The aged bey of Tunis and his aides participated in a conference as to what fate should befall him. The Germans had promoted him to "king," and investigators are trying to determine to what extent he might have collaborated. It is possible he may abdicate by request and be succeeded by another member of his family.

IMPORTANT DATES LISTED IN BATTLES FOR ALEUTIAN ISLES

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Important dates in the struggle for the Aleutians:

June 3, 1942—Japanese twice raid Dutch Harbor, Alaska. First enemy air attack on North American soil.

July 17—Navy reports Japanese occupation of Attu, Kiska, and Agattu.

Oct. 3—United States forces establish base in Andreanof Islands, 250 miles closer to Japan.

Oct. 7—Navy finds no activity on Agattu and Attu.

Nov. 29—Renewed Japanese occupation of Attu reported.

Jan. 12, 1943—United States forces occupy Amchitka Island, 63 miles from Kiska.

April 3—Airdromes at Attu and Kiska reported near completion.

May 11—American forces land on Attu. Battle raging.

WOUNDED YANKS TELL OF GIRLS IN NAZIS' BOMBERS

Hundreds Back in U.S. Describe Battles.

Phoenixville, Pa., May 14 (AP).—Several hundred American soldiers wounded or incapacitated in North Africa, some as late as April 15, are being treated at the army's new Valley Forge General hospital here. The latest group arrived only tonight.

Sergt. U. R. Woodard.
[AP Wirephoto.]

Several of the men told of seeing girl gunners in Nazi bombers during the battle for Tunisia. "One of them shot down near us was a very pretty blonde," said Sergt. Victor R. Woodard of Seymour, Ind.

Woodard suffered a fractured skull when his jeep struck an object —he still doesn't know what—on a night ride.

Italians Quit Easily.

Pvt. Julius Hrinko of Philadelphia, wounded by shrapnel, told of capturing four Italians, but said no credit was due him. "They wanted to surrender." He said the Germans kept the Italians at the front during fighting and used them for a rear guard in retreat.

Pvt. Charles E. Leatherman of Frederick, Md., credited the American victory to our terrific artillery barrage. Part of his arm was torn away by a shell and he suffered facial wounds from shrapnel.

Corp. James E. Huff of Clarksburg, W. Va., Leatherman's roommate, was shot by a Nazi when he stuck his head out of a tank for a breath of fresh air.

Almost Reached Tunis.

Two other tankmen, Frank L. Kaiser of Detroit, Mich., and Technician John T. Chandler of Cleveland, Miss., were in the drive that almost reached Tunis last November.

"We were about five miles from the city when we had to turn back," they said. "Something went wrong with the timing between ourselves and the British 1st army."

Chandler was knocked out by shrapnel striking his helmet once and was bombed 16 times in one day at Gafsa. The same day the steering wheel on his peep was knocked off by a shell.

"And then I'm invalided home for stomach ulcers," he lamented.

HERE'S HOW NAZI GENERAL ENDED HIS PART IN WAR

Gives Up to Yank He'd Held as Prisoner.

BY JOHN THOMPSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ALLIED HDQ. IN NORTH AFRICA, May 14.—This is a story about Capt. Edward MacGregor of the 1st division and Brooklyn and how a German general surrendered to him in the closing days of the Tunisian campaign.

Capt. MacGregor and his runner were reconnoitering among the hills above Chouigui, south of Mateur, and were moving slowly thru a defile when 12 Germans from the Brenthin regiment jumped them.

Bullets Pierce Canteen.

Bullets pierced MacGregor's canteen and pistol holster but he was unhurt. When the two realized they had no chance of escaping the Germans they surrendered.

They were taken back during the night to the headquarters of the 15th panzer [armored] division and all the way MacGregor saw the enemy tank crews destroying their equipment, burning gasoline, and food and preparing to surrender the next day.

The following morning MacGregor was entertained at breakfast by the division commander, Maj. Gen Willibald Borowietz. MacGregor described the general as a typical German officer, even to wearing his monocle while he ate.

Surrenders after Breakfast.

"Today you are my prisoner," said Borowietz over the eggs, "but in a few hours I will be yours. We are surrendering."

A few hours later elements of the allied 1st armored division appeared and with a flourish Borowietz arose, turned to MacGregor and said: "I am your prisoner."

That's how MacGregor took a panzer general after breakfast. It wasn't the first time such an experience had befallen MacGregor whose men named a particularly rugged djebel they held during the winter near Mejez el Bab, Fort MacGregor.

When the Americans landed in North Africa Nov. 8 MacGregor again was way out in front and got captured near St. Cloud. He was the only officer around when the French surrendered shortly afterward and MacGregor accepted the surrender of a French colonel and his regiment.

YANKS BAG 16 OF 25 JAP PLANES OVER SOLOMONS

Washington, D. C., May 14 (AP).—United States fighter planes shot down 16 Japanese Zeros, the navy reported today, when about 25 of the enemy craft ventured into the southeastern Solomon Islands. Two more Zeros were reported probably destroyed. A navy communique said that while five American craft were lost, two pilots were saved.

The air battle took place Thursday near the Russell Islands, northwest of the main American base on Guadalcanal. The Russels were only recently occupied by American forces. An airfield has been constructed there. Of the 16 planes shot down, 15 were accounted for by American Vought Corsairs, the navy's newest fighter.

Also on Thursday, the communique reported, a Liberator bomber raided Japanese installations at Kahili air base and another attacked Ballale Island. Both are in the northwestern Solomons.

HERE'S PICTURE OF NEW WAR IN GUINEA JUNGLE

Allied Troops Fight Japs in No Man's Land.

BY ROBERT CROMIE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, May 13.—[Delayed.]—Land fighting in New Guinea since the Japs were trounced at Wau late in January has dwindled into a series of hit and run ambushes or seesaw struggles for positions commanding trails thru the jungle no man's land. Much of the fighting is over unmapped country where impenetrable undergrowth, malarial swamps, and jungle trails are far worse opponents than the Japs.

There has been small scale fighting near Mubo and along the enemy supply trails leading from Salamaua to Mubo. Sixty Japanese were slain during a struggle for the predominant position, Vickers ridge, from May 8 thru May 11. The Japs surrounded a detachment of Australian troops who finally were relieved after inflicting heavy losses.

Japanese Ambushed.

On the morning of May 11 an Australian patrol along the supply trail near Momiatuma encountered 12 Japs, killing 5 and wounding 1. Yesterday morning at almost the same spot 80 Japs were ambushed and 30 were killed and many wounded.

Here is a picture of the present allied and Japanese positions. Our troops now occupy positions north of Morobe in the territory of New Guinea. Morobe is just across the Papuan border. This point was reached after a 100 mile advance during the last two months from the Buna area and practically without opposition.

Allied troops, including the American 41st division and native Papuan infantry, have cleared much of this country. Further advance by land in this region will be difficult because some of the worst terrain in all New Guinea lies along the coast from Morobe to Ababia Island near Salamaua. There are no trails, and few native villages along this stretch and even the natives use canoes or small ships to by-pass the region.

Allies Hold Airdrome.

Allied troops hold Wau airdrome and the territory surrounding it. Mubo, south of Salamaua, is a No Man's town. Both allied troops and the Japanese are in the vicinity. The Japs hold a broken perimeter from Lae and Mubo, have strong local defenses both at Lae and Salamaua and, of course, hold the coastline territory beyond Lae. The Japs have two landing strips at Lae and one at Salamaua, and many others farther north. There are no Japanese in Papua proper.

The present lull in land hostilities is being used by both sides to build up supplies at advanced bases.

The appearance of fresh and better fed troops in the Mubo area indicates that supplies are reaching there from Salamaua.

"He Who Moves Suffers."

The present status of the land fighting was summed up in the laconic phrase of an Australian officer stationed at Wau. He said: "He who moves suffers."

He added that the fighting is being done in a country where concealment is easy, but where movement is almost entirely confined to trails which are used by both sides. This makes killing "easiest and cheapest" along the communication lines.

Here is his description of one such trail:

"It is boggy and slippery in wet weather. The whole track is most precipitous and slimy, overgrown with roots and, in one stretch, reminiscent of Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs scenery—gnarled tree trunks covered with moss and a dripping dank mist. All the trees and the undergrowth seem to be rotting."

Carry Wounded in Relays.

In recent patrol activity in that region a group of Australian soldiers took three days to cover 4,000 yards [2¾ miles]. When wounded are removed from Mubo to Wau, it is not uncommon for more than 200 natives to be used in relays to carry litters. At one place the wounded men must be taken from the litters and handed from native to native around a sharp bend.

An Australian patrol north of Wau left the base at nighttime. Its objective was to meet a second patrol at an appointed time to launch an attack on an enemy post. But the patrol was unable to locate the desired trail in the jungle blackness. The officer in charge reluctantly decided to use the main track despite the danger of ambush so that he would not fail to arrive in time to support the scheduled attack.

Sets Off Booby Trap.

Within a matter of moments a soldier set off a Jap booby trap, wounding one officer severely. The officer in charge thought the Japs might think a wandering animal was responsible, but as a precaution sent a sergeant and two men to protect the rear in case the Japs approached along a subsidiary trail and attempted an ambush.

By hurrying the patrol arrived at the edge of a steep river bank not far from enemy positions when the officer in charge saw a soldier seize another and hurl himself and his comrade headlong down the bank. A second later a land mine went off with a terrific noise and flash. No one was hurt, thanks to the quick thinking of the man who had stepped on the mine, but there was little use of the patrol continuing toward the now aroused Japs. So it turned and beat a retreat.

Meanwhile the sergeant and the two men watching the rear spotted 16 Japs moving at double time, obviously drawn by the booby trap explosion. The sergeant swept his two comrades head over heels into the underbrush behind him. Then he stepped into the trail with a tommygun cradled in his arms. The Japs were well bunched and he mowed down all 16.

HIMMLER IS REPORTED ANSWERING BULGARIA KING'S PLEA FOR HELP

LONDON, May 14 (AP).—Adolf Hitler's strongarm specialist, Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler, was reported hurrying to Sofia tonight in answer to the urgent call of King Boris for more secret police units to help keep the Bulgarians in line while German military experts strengthen defenses there against the possibility of an allied blow in the Balkans.

Heinrich Himmler.

The Nazi foreign office, meanwhile, was reported keeping a close watch on Turkey. Travelers reaching Istanbul said the Germans also were speeding military preparations in Bulgaria—apparently for defense.

Istanbul dispatches quoted authoritative sources as saying Turkey would continue her neutral foreign policy "unless military events in the immediate vicinity force her hand."

Indications of new unrest in France were seen in a Gestapo roundup of 200 members of the Vichy government suspected of entering into secret communication with French resistance groups or allied agents.

ONE INDIANA SEAMAN IS REPORTED DEAD IN NAVY CASUALTY LIST

Washington, D. C., May 14 (AP).—The navy announced today eight casualties in navy forces, including three dead, two wounded, and three missing. This brings to 23,943 the total of navy, marine corps, and coast guard casualties reported to next of kin since Dec. 7, 1941. The ground total includes 7,215 dead, 4,679 wounded, and 12,049 missing.

The only Chicagoland casualty was David Levi Jones of Oak, Ind., who is reported as dead. He previously was reported wounded Dec. 31, 1941. His mother, Mrs. Effie Jones, lives in Oak.

KILLED BY FALLING POLE.

Joseph Noelke, 54 years old, a World war veteran and a construction crew foreman for an electrical contracting firm, died Thursday night in Burnside hospital of injuries suffered earlier in the day when a falling pole struck him on the head. He lived at 4606 North Hermitage avenue.

GOUM SAYS HIS PRAYERS, THEN BLASTS SNIPERS

Grenade Ends Resistance in Bizerte.

WITH AMERICAN ARMY IN NORTHERN TUNISIA, May 12 [Delayed] (AP).—It was the day after the Americans took Bizerte and the streets of that bomb wrecked Mediterranean port rang with the sharp crack of snipers' rifles and the staccato chatter of machine guns as German troops made a last ditch stand.

At one street corner on the boulevard De La Republique the sudden clamor of a Nazi 20 millimeter cannon sent a dozen American soldiers scrambling for cover. For 10 minutes they were pinned down by the fire from the hidden enemy gunner. Finally they located the building. The sniper was firing from a second floor window.

Goum Volunteers for Job.

They were discussing the best method of blasting him out—tank men were under orders not to use their 75 millimeter guns because of the possibility of injuring American soldiers cleaning up the streets—when a pigtailed goum, one of the French native Moroccan soldiers, volunteered for the job.

"He pulled out his prayerbook," said Lt. Elten Lord of New York City. "He said his prayers, wrapped a tribal scarf about his neck, and laid the prayer book and rifle on the steps. Then he took out a hand grenade.

"The stairway was covered with débris and broken glass. He went up it in his sandals like a panther, without making any sound.

Two Germans Blasted.

"He was gone about 10 minutes—10 of the longest minutes any of us ever had lived. Then we heard a quick tinkle of glass, a shuffling of feet and an explosion.

"A moment later the goum came back down the stairway, picked up the prayer book and put it in the waist of his uniform. He took off the tribal scarf and folded it carefully before putting it away in a pocket.

"He picked up his rifle and as he walked away held up his fingers in the V sign and said: 'deux allemands' [two Germans.]

"Then he was gone. The 20 millimeter didn't bother us after that."

$276,000 GIVEN 84 STRIKERS IN 4 YEAR FIGHT

After a four year legal fight, 84 employés of the Rapid Roller company, 2558 Federal street, won a decision yesterday in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals that requires the company to pay the workers approximately $276,000 in back pay by May 24. The company manufactures printers' rollers.

The dispute began in April, 1939, when the employés, members of the United Rubber Workers of America [CIO], went on strike, charging the company had violated its contract by replacing union men with non-union workers.

In June, 1940, an examiner for the NLRB found the company guilty of unfair labor practices. The NLRB ordered the strikers reinstated with back pay. The Circuit Court of Appeals upheld the NLRB.

The United States Supreme court refused to review the case last Oct. 16. The company reinstated the strikers. It took the wage issue again to the federal Appellate court and was defeated.

On March 30 the NLRB decided $276,404 was due the former strikers. Last week the NLRB asked the appeals court to hold the company in contempt for failure to pay.

EX-OFFICIALS' DEATH LAID TO POISON DRINK

Tacoma, Wash., May 14 (AP).—A poisonous garden spray, inadvertently used to mix cocktails, was blamed today for the death of Russell C. Peterson, former city controller, and the critical illness of Dr. A. K. Stebbins, a dentist.

Coroner Paul Mellinger said the fatal cocktail was poured from a whisky bottle after five men, who had been playing golf together for years, returned from the golf course last night to the Peterson home. The other three—Dr. R. A. Hedberg, Dr. Homer C. Tollefson and John Mulvey, dairy operator—were in another room when the poisonous drinks were poured and never drank from the lethal bottle.

Melliger said Dr. Tollefson was taking the bottle of spray home to use on his roses, when one of the quintet mistakenly picked it up from Tollefson's automobile and carried it into the house with other whisky bottles.

NASH GIVEN LIFE IN ST. LOUIS FOR KILLING MOTHER

St. Louis, Mo., May 14 (AP).—Robert Nash, 25 years old, was convicted of first degree murder by a county Circuit court jury tonight in the ax slaying of his mother, Mrs. Charles Nash, last September. His sentence was fixed at life in the penitentiary.

Nash confessed he hacked his mother and father to death in a fit of anger on a lonely county road and drove their bodies to Springfield, Ill., in the trunk compartment of his car. His attorneys based their defense on an insanity plea. The slaying occurred in St. Louis county near St. Stanislaus' seminary, where his brother, Charles, is a divinity student.

Nash was tried only for the slaying of his mother. His father was an agent for the department of internal revenue.

Attacks Contract

MARY ANDERSON.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 13 [Special].—Charging she was "legally enslaved," Mary Anderson, young actress, today sought to break a seven year motion picture contract she signed in 1941.

Thru Atty. Roger Marchetti, the actress asked Superior Judge Joseph W. Vickers to enjoin Stephen Ames and Paul Ames, owners of Ames productions, from enforcing the terms of the contract which she further charged were "harsh, unjust and unreasonable."

Under terms of the contract the producers can at their option employ Miss Anderson for 10 weeks each year at $400 weekly. Describing the document as "legal enslavement," Marchetti said that Miss Anderson might have to stand by for seven years without knowing whether she was to be employed or not because of a stipulation that no other work should interfere with the contract.

The Ames brothers filed a demurrer charging the actress has misconstrued the contract. They contended Miss Anderson could take other employment so long as she was free to work for them 10 weeks each year.

U. S. RENTAL HERE IS NEARLY ⅔ OF BUILDING VALUE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 14.—It was disclosed today that the federal government pays an annual rental equal to nearly two-thirds of the assessed value of a Chicago building.

For 107,524 square feet in the Nash building, 236 East 24th street, Chicago, used by the treasury department, the government pays $53,829 rent a year. The assessed value is only $84,255, according to data on governmental rental policy in the house hearings released today in the urgent deficiency appropriations bill for 1943.

The hearings showed that the government pays $1,219,743 annually for space in four Chicago buildings. The other Chicago rentals are $630,902 for 539,750 square feet in the Merchandise Mart, with an assessed valuation of $12,737,610; $500,000 for 597,412 square feet in the Carson Pirie Scott company warehouse, with an assessed valuation of $1,648,682, and $35,012 for 30,058 square feet at 188 West Randolph street, with an assessed valuation of $556,081.

WORLD'S BIGGEST AIRPORT BUILT IN BLEAK LABRADOR

Steam Heated 'City' Vital Line in Plane Ferry.

BY PILOT OFFICER W. A. SHIELDS.
[Royal Canadian Air Force.]

SOMEWHERE IN LABRADOR, May 14 (AP).—Up here in bleak Labrador is the biggest airport in the world.

Built on a sand plateau that rears 70 feet above the surrounding swamp and muskeg, this R. C. A. F. airport has runways a mile long and is a vital link in the war plane ferry route to Europe.

In little more than a year of active operation the station has gassed and oiled more planes than go thru any other ferry aerodrome on the North Atlantic seaboard. Officers of the R. C. A. F., the R. A. F. ferry command, and the United States army air transport service, which share the facilities, estimate that its present export of planes for the battlefronts of Europe is "just a drop in the bucket."

Discovered by Canadian.

The United States air transport unit alone has arranged to accommodate in 1943 double the number of planes which passed thru in 1942.

The site for this giant jumping off place was discovered by a Canadian in July, 1941. Eric [Jack] Fry of the dominion geodetic survey branch was looking for an area suitable for an airport, and learned about the plateau from native Labradorians.

The United States was right on his heels. Fry had barely completed his survey when overhead circled two flying boats bearing United States markings, also searching for an airport site. Three days later, on July 4, Fry's party met the United States explorers and exchanged information.

Heated by Live Steam.

The Labrador airport was built, developed, and is being operated by Canadians. The cost will be apportioned among the Canadian army, the R. C. A. F., the R. A. F., and the United States army air forces. To date about $15,000,000 has been spent.

To the visitor, the air station leaves a curious mixture of impressions. Buildings are warmed by live steam from a central heating plant.

The only girls on the station are four nurses in the R. C. A. F. hospital, the R. C. A. F. messing officer, a few U. S. nurses, and 14 native girls in the laundry.

There hasn't been a single day all winter when the runways were unusable because of snow.

Western Springs Airman Awarded Legion of Merit

LONDON, May 14 (AP).—Headquarters of the 8th United States air force today announced the award of the legion of merit to Capt. Ralph W. Hosman of Western Springs, Ill., for "outstanding service in preparing necessary navigational information for more than 40 bombing missions."

DEMAND EQUAL PAY FOR WOMEN AND MEN FLYERS

Britons Map Fight in Parliament.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 14.—Women members of parliament who recently won a major political victory by compelling the government to grant women equal compensation with men for war injuries are preparing the ground for a new battle for equality between the sexes.

Miss Irene Ward, a Conservative, announced today she would raise the question of equal pay for men and women pilots in the air transport auxiliary service. These pilots fly all types of aircraft from factories to royal air force stations in this country. Miss Ward charged that women pilots are paid a lower rate than men for exactly the same job and will urge Air Minister Archibald Sinclair to rectify this. Political sources predict that Sinclair will ask time for consideration before making his reply.

Women's Support Expected.

That Miss Ward's campaign will be supported by all other women members of parliament seemed a foregone conclusion.

Altho he did not mention the problem of equal pay, Stafford Cripps, minister of aircraft production, pleaded today for better opportunities for women to achieve executive positions in industry. He told guests at a London luncheon that there was "still very considerable resistance against the admission of women to the higher grades of managerial staffs. Yet for this particular department of personnel management, they are often particularly suited." One frequently encountered women welfare officers and even personnel managers in industry, he said, "but one seldom, if ever, finds they are given the status necessary to make their work effective."

"Advantage to Industry."

Cripps expressed the conviction that "the breaking down of this barrier—one of the last set up against the equality of the sexes—would be a great advantage to industry."

Referring to post-war labor problems, he said that while "pockets of unemployment" were bound to arise from the reabsorption of the fighting forces into industry, "if we plan our economic life with vision and practical good sense, there is no reason why mass unemployment should ever recur."

NORSE SHIP SUNK BY U-BOAT IN THE NORTH ATLANTIC

Washington, D. C., May 14.—A small Norwegian vessel was torpedoed and sunk in the North Atlantic in mid-April by a submarine and survivors have been landed at Boston, the navy announced today. The attack brought to 654 the number of vessels sunk in the western area since Pearl Harbor, according to an unofficial tabulation.

U. S. 'YOUNGEST MAYOR' FIGHTS IN SOUTH PACIFIC

BY CLAY GOWRAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

AN ADVANCED SOUTH PACIFIC FLEET BASE, May 11 [Delayed].—Pete McNee, formerly the youngest mayor in the United States and now a lieutenant junior grade in the navy, is serving here as maintenance officer for a squadron of flying boats.

McNee, 26 years old, was elected mayor of Henderson, Tex., in 1940, in a contest between the younger element against the older group that had been in power for many years. Before that, when he was 21, he and his wife, Dorothy, founded McNee Business college in Henderson.

McNee met his wife when she was secretary to the president of Baylor university and he was a student there. When they were married, he was expelled from school. He was commissioned last April. He was mayor when he was at a training camp.

DANCE RECEIVER IS REFUSED TO ELEVATOR UNION

Circuit Judge Benjamin P. Epstein denied yesterday a petition brought in the name of the Elevator Operators and Starters union to post a receiver at the door of the Midland hotel to take charge of money collected for a dance tonight by friends of James Leonard O'Grady, ousted president of the union, to raise funds for their court fight to reinstate O'Grady.

The 1,800 members of the [illegible] sponsoring the dance were for[illegible]den, however, to use the union's name in connection with the dance. Atty. Michael Hunt, representing the union officials, told the court the dance was being run in the name of the union, and argued that all funds should go into the organization's treasury.

O'Grady was ousted last year. Suit was filed later by Atty. Francis Heisler for O'Grady's reinstatement on the ground that he was illegally expelled.

M'NUTT SCHEME TO PUT OVER JOB RULE PLAN TOLD

Industrialist Says Freeze Used as a Club.

The behind the scenes story of how War Man Power Chairman Paul V. McNutt invoked a national job freeze as a lever to force local communities to accept the WMC job control program was disclosed last night by a Chicagoland industrialist with important Washington connections.

The job freeze was imposed April 18 after the WMC for more than four months attempted to persuade labor management committees thruout the nation to establish so-called employment stabilization programs patterned closely after a WMC model, the industrialist said.

McNutt's order, known as regulation four, prohibited under threat of criminal penalties workers in essential industries from changing to higher paying jobs, except in communities which had adopted the WMC job transfer program.

Centralizes Hiring Controls.

This program centralizes hiring controls in the hands of the United States employment service, controled by the WMC, and establishes procedures under which workers may obtain job transfer slips from their employers or the USES.

Opposition from labor unions and smaller manufacturers prevented the acceptance of the WMC plan in many communities. Seventy areas, including the Calumet district, accepted it.

Chicago has not accepted the program, altho the local labor management committee has met seven times.

The industrialist explained that McNutt, confronted with obstinate opposition, clamped down the job freeze, avowedly to implement President Roosevelt's order of April 8 to "hold the line" against inflation. The WMC explained at the time that the freeze order would prevent the upward spiralling of wages caused by the scramble for better paying jobs.

Nullified Effect of Order.

The "escape" clause, however, nullified the final effect of the order, the manufacturer asserted, because regulation 4 would be lifted in communities which have adopted the WMC employment stabilization plan.

"If McNutt's strategy succeeds, all communities in the nation will adopt the program and he will have put over his pretense that it has been accepted voluntarily by labor and management," the industrialist said.

In Chicago, the manufacturer noted, William H. Spencer, regional WMC director, has asserted that unless the WMC plan is adopted war production will be hampered because workers cannot be released to jobs in the new war plants on the western rim of the area.

Victor A. Olander, secretary-treasurer of the Illinois Federation of Labor, has criticized the WMC plan as "a return to slavery" and a deprivation of the worker's freedom under the constitution. AFL members on the Chicago area labor management committee have refused to vote for the plan.

Workers' Rights Abridged.

W. Homer Hartz, president of the Morden Frog and Crossing Works and a member of the Chicago area committee, said he is opposed to the employment stabilization program because it abridges the worker's right to change jobs. He said such a program is unnecessary in Chicago because it will not increase the labor supply or reduce wage costs.

James L. Donnelly, executive vice president of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, asserted that most manufacturers in the Chicago area feel that war production is proceeding smoothly and see no need for the WMC hiring controls. Many industrialists, he said, favor substantial relaxation of the McNutt job freeze order.

Such relief is being prepared by the regional WMC office for possible application Monday. The office contemplates a 60 day interim job transfer program which will permit workers to take a job for better pay if they have been discharged, laid off for 7 days or more, employed fewer than 40 hours, or can prove they will use higher skills at their new jobs.

FACE CLOTHING RATION THREAT, NELSON WARNS

Washington, D. C., May 14 (AP).—Donald M. Nelson, war production chief, warns that rationing of clothing and textiles may come, despite the elimination of cuffs from trousers and other limitations, unless all facilities are used to the utmost.

In testimony on a deficiency appropriation bill reported to the house today he said he believes clothing rationing can be avoided, but cautioned it "is imminent unless we can use the best brains of the industry and so utilize all the facilities as to get the most out of them."

"We are being asked," he related, "to supply fabrics and textiles of all kinds for lend-lease. We have the proposition of taking care of all the dominions in the supply of textiles, and North Africa."

He said he thought clothes rationing "would be a terrible thing."

Georgia Prison Fugitive Is Captured in Chicago

Stanley Kozielec, 20 years old, one of 24 convicts who escaped from the Georgia state prison April 16, was captured yesterday near Haddon avenue and Paulina streets by Detectives Tom Carmody and John Payton. Kozierlec was serving a 5 to 15 year term for armed robbery.

OPA SETS MAXIMUM PRICES FOR SOAPS, EFFECTIVE MAY 24

Soaps are the next family necessity to fall under the new dollars and cents price ceiling system in the office of price administration's program to reduce living costs and simplify price control enforcement. Raymond S. McKeough, regional OPA administrator, said yesterday the new ceilings on soap would become effective May 24 and would establish prices at January, 1942, levels.

The price ceiling schedule for Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, Nebraska, Minnesota, and North and South Dakota is published in today's TRIBUNE.

The dollar and cent ceilings will apply to four classes of retail food stores as follows: [1] independent stores with annual gross sales of less than $50,000; [2] independents with annual gross sales from $50,000 to $250,000, [3] chain stores with less than $250,000 a year gross sales, and [4] chain or independents with more than $250,000 gross sales a year.

EVICTION FAILS, SO LANDLORD IS SEEKING A HOME

Jury Decides Flat Shifting Wrong.

A landlord who sought to oust a tenant lost a jury decision yesterday, and as a result the landlord is looking for a place to live.

The case was a suit brought by Mrs. Rose Zittenfield, owner of a six flat building at 8110 Kingston avenue, against Joseph and Irene Starr, who are tenants in the building. Mrs. Zittenfield's husband, Walter, is a lawyer.

Rent Ceiling Starts Battle.

The Starrs and Zittenfields had a dispute recently over the rent ceiling of the Starr's apartment, which was fixed at $57.50, testimony at the trial showed. Under the office of price administration regulations, a landlord's own apartment is not subject to the ceiling price, and he may move to another apartment, renting his own, if the move is made in good faith.

The Zittenfield's sought to do this. They rented their apartment for $80, and served notice on the Starrs to get out. When the Starrs refused, the Zittenfields filed an eviction suit in Municipal court.

Asserts Move In Good Faith.

At the trial, heard before Judge Eugene Holland, Mrs. Zittenfield asserted her plans to move into the Starr's apartment were made in good faith. The jury disagreed with her, and refused to enter a decree requiring the Starrs to move.

The new tenant, who has rented the Zittenfield flat, has all his furnishings in the basement of the building, waiting to move in. He has a valid lease, and the Starrs are secure in their apartment.

MINE WORKER KILLED.

Pana, Ill., May 14—Ladislaw C. Dudra, 28 years old, a worker in Peabody mine No. 7 at Kincaid, was killed today when he was crushed between a car and a trapdoor at the mine entry.

CHICAGO MILK SHORTAGE HELD LIKELY IN FALL

The war time demands on the milk industry in the Chicago dairyland areas likely will bring shortages by early autumn, Paul Potter, executive secretary of the Associated Milk Dealers, told a session of the Illinois Milk Sanitarians yesterday in the La Salle hotel.

Potter outlined the government's calls for milk products for lend-lease and for military camps, saying, "the government is pressing for powdered milk, for butter, and for cheese. These demands likely will increase. We are meeting the demand now because this is our peak season in production but to avoid rationing we must exercise every care."

He said consumption of milk in Chicago had increased 15 per cent over a year ago; that a curtailment in the supply of cream was the only order that had made the milk available and pointed out that from 5 to 7 cars of milk are shipped daily to southern military camps by the Chicago industry.

EASTMAN ASKS FURNITURE MART BE CALLED OFF

Request Aimed at Chicago Event in June.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 14.—Cancellation of all furniture marts for the duration of the war was requested today by Transportation Director Joseph B. Eastman.

Altho Eastman said the request was in line with ODT's policy of discouraging all conventions and trade shows to reduce war time travel, the demand was directed primarily at the furniture mart scheduled to be held in Chicago from June 21 thru June 30.

Opposed by Furniture Men.

Cancellation of this mart has been requested, it was announced, in letters by Eastman to members of the furniture industry, including Lawrence Whiting, president of the American Furniture Mart of Chicago. ODT officials said Whiting and other furniture leaders have opposed discontinuing the June meeting in Chicago.

"Altho rather comprehensive evidence has been submitted," Eastman wrote, "indicating that there might be some over-all travel saving thruout the nation as a result of holding these marts, assuming that if they were not held there would be a continuing necessity for individual travel thru all sales and manufacturing territories, we are not convinced that this assumption is wholly correct, and in any event the marts cause a concentration of travel which is conspicuous and burdensome on the carriers, much more so than diffused travel spread over a period of months.

Former Request Fails.

"This concentration of travel cannot be considered consistent with the policies of travel curtailment and control which are so necessary if the carriers are to accomplish their war passenger job."

Early this year Eastman requested cancellation of the winter furniture mart in Chicago, but members of the furniture industry contended it was necessary, particularly so that furniture dealers could better inform themselves about various government regulations. Eastman then requested several government speakers who had been scheduled to attend the mart not to go, and they complied.

The ODT has no legal authority to order conventions and marts canceled, but can only request such action, officials said.

NO LOCAL STATEMENT.

Lawrence H. Whiting, president of the American Furniture Mart, where one of the Chicago furniture shows has been scheduled for June 21 to 30, said last night that the mart would not be able to make any statement about ODT Director Joseph B. Eastman's action until the various government agencies concerned with the problem have come to an agreement.

"We are coöperating with the government agencies which are studying the matter," Whiting said.

WAR BOND DRIVE STARTED AMONG NAVY PERSONNEL

Enrollment of navy personnel of the 9th naval district in a war bond drive was started at the Great Lakes Naval Training station yesterday when approximately 30,000 officers and men attached to the station heard Ralph A. Bard, assistant secretary of the navy, urge bond purchases.

Bard pointed out that bond buying by the navy heretofore has been limited largely to civilian employés and recommended bonds to men of the navy as an investment which will benefit them when they return to civilian life.

"Patriotism is no selling point to a man who already has offered his life to his country," the speaker said, "and the navy regards the bond program not as a duty but solely on the basis that war bonds are a sound investment paying exceptionally good interest."

WOMAN DIES OF KNIFE WOUNDS.

SET CHAIN STORE MEAT CEILINGS BELOW RIVALS'

Decree 10% Edge for Big Independents.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 14.—The office of price administration today officially established ceiling prices on most meats in large chain stores at 10 per cent below the ceilings for large independents and approximately 15 per cent below maximums for small stores.

The order, which applies to beef, veal, lamb, and mutton prices, is effective Monday, which also is the effective date for new dollars and cents prices on those meats announced Wednesday by OPA.

Wednesday's order established specific ceilings for the meats in independent stores with less than $250,000 sales in 1942 and set other ceilings about 5 per cent lower for "all other retailers."

Order Backs "Request."

Today's order requires a chain store which had a volume of $250,000 or more last year and belongs to a chain with annual business of more than 40 million dollars to hold its ceilings 10 per cent below those originally set for "all other retailers." This reduction, put in the form of a "request" in the earlier announcement, was formalized into an order today.

Another OPA order today cancelled a prospective increase in retail price ceilings on baby foods and on canned and quick frozen fruits and vegetables. The increase, scheduled to take effect next Monday, was killed four days after being ordered.

Survey Leads to Change.

The previously authorized price increases, which ranged from 2 to 8 per cent, were in the form of higher markups which retailers and wholesalers could add to their costs. Officials said a survey by OPA district officers led to the increase orders being rescinded. The old ceilings, ordered restored today, will be reflected in community-wide dollars and cents retail price maximums for canned fruits and vegetables to be announced by OPA local offices Sunday. The community ceilings will take effect Monday.

MILK PRODUCERS' AVERAGE PRICE RISES IN APRIL

Producers under the Chicago milk marketing order will receive a uniform blended price of $2.94 per 100 pounds [46.5 quarts] for all of their April deliveries, A. W. Colebank, market administrator, announced yesterday.

This is 1 cent less than the March blended price and 62 cents more than the price for April, 1942, deliveries. The blended price is based upon prices which dealers pay for milk according to use in four classifications.

Colebank reported that milk production continued to increase seasonally during April. Average daily production per farm was 415.2 pounds as compared with 395.3 pounds for March.

OPA DOES SOME FIGURING; GETS WRONG ANSWER

Judge Dismisses Case of the Calf Heads.

The mysterious case of the 1,599 calf heads yesterday turned out to be a lawsuit in which the office of price administration didn't have a leg to stand on.

Two months ago the OPA brought an injunction suit in federal District court in Chicago to prevent Lloyd Brown, a South Holland country slaughterer, from butchering in excess of 308,756 pounds of meat in the first three months of 1943. Brown didn't oppose the injunction.

Yesterday the OPA asked that Brown be cited for contempt of court, charging that he had produced 79,000 pounds of meat beyond the quota, thereby violating not only OPA but also court rules.

"Human Error."

In testifying before Federal Judge William H. Holly, Brown admitted that he exceeded his quota during the three months by 1,422 pounds. But this, he said, was a human error and a bookkeeping error which, in considering his 308,756 pound quota, was nothing to quibble about. He asked that the 1,422 pounds be taken from his quota for April, May, and June, thus balancing the books for six months.

The OPA stood pat on its claimed excess of 79,000 pounds.

For proof, the OPA attorney, Robert Johnstone, introduced evidence tending to show that from March 11 to March 31 alone, Brown had sold 1,599 calf heads. Where there were 1,599 calf heads, the OPA figured, there must have been 1,599 calves, and meat from 1,599 calves would mean that Brown exceeded his quota by 79,000 pounds. So there!

Don't Mean a Thing.

The judge turned to Brown. Had he sold that many calf heads in three weeks?

"Sure," Brown said. He argued, however, that the 1,599 calf heads didn't mean a thing.

"You see," he explained, "some neighbors use my butchering facilities and in part payment they give me the heads of the calves they slaughter. I sell them."

When Brown's attorney, Nathan Harrison, produced as witnesses the neighbors who said they had given the 1,599 calf heads to Brown, the judge rapped sharply.

"Case dismissed," he said.

BAKER IS FINED $500 FOR HIDING BIG SUGAR STORE

Joseph Dressel, 8030 South Winchester avenue, part owner of Dressel's Bakeries, a chain firm operating four bakeries in Chicago, was fined $500 by Judge Philip L. Sullivan in federal District court yesterday on a charge of illegal possession of 240,000 pounds of industrial sugar. Thru his attorney, Abraham L. Marovitz, Dressel changed his earlier plea of guilty to one of nolo contendere. He said he had understood that he was not required to register the sugar with the office of price administration because it was stored in a warehouse at 244 North Canal street. He told the court he had declared a stock of 80,000 pounds stored on the bakery premises.

THE 25TH ANNIVERSARY OF AIR MAIL SERVICE IN THE UNITED STATES...
May 15, 1943

That original air mail flight, a quarter of a century ago, blazed the trail for phenomenal air progress in the U. S. Air mail routes became laboratories in which many chapters of air development have been written . . . the first plane-ground two-way radio system, first scheduled night flying, first long distance operation of multi-engined aircraft, first coast-to-coast night service, first radio beacons and airway weather reporting service. Braniff Airways, soon to enter its sixteenth year, is proud of its part in this stirring history . . . proud that experience gained serving commerce and the Postal Department has proven invaluable to the nation during wartime.

ONE OF HITLER'S YOUTHS CLOSES U. S. BUND CASE

Relates How He Spread Nazi Doctrines.

BY PAUL HEALY.

The government rested its case against the German-American bund yesterday after producing one of "Hitler's children" who testified theatrically that the bund youth organization in Chicago was a small scale model of the Nazi youth movement in Germany.

The proceedings in Federal Judge William J. Campbell's courtroom were recessed until Monday, when counsel for the nine former bund members who will be tried in denaturalization proceedings, may introduce witnesses.

Self-Assured Witness.

The climactic witness was Rudolph Nottrodt, 23 years old, of 5454 Glenwood avenue, a solemn, self-assured young man who spoke sharply under cross-examination. He said he was born in Germany and as a boy was indoctrinated in the Nazi youth movement. In 1935 he came to Villa Park, a suburb in Du Page county, and within a month became leader of the bund youth group which met at Western avenue and School street.

The youthful bundists wore brown shirts, black riding breeches and black boots, a uniform which differed only slightly from those worn in the youth movement in Germany, he said, and some of them carried official Hitler youth knives bearing the inscription "sieg rune" [sign of victory]. He said the weekly meetings opened with the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner," then the youths drilled, sang German songs, and listened to readings from books on Hitler and other Nazi leaders sent from Germany.

When Assistant United States Atty. Francis J. McGreal asked him how the meetings ended the witness leaped to his feet, raised his arm in a stiff salute, and shouted a string of German words he later translated into "Our homeland and our leader! Hail victory!" Defendants, counsels, and spectators seemed equally impressed with the unexpected demonstration.

Tells of Seeing Defendants.

Some of the defendants he identified as having seen in the Haus Vaterland, 3857 North Western avenue, then north side bund headquarters, were Dr. Otto Willumeit, then bund leader here; the well groomed Mrs. Irene Matz, his secretary; Hugo J. Luethje, Freidrich A. Kiefer, Frederick Ohrt, Carl A. Vogl, and Karl H. Sautter.

Nottrodt said there were 120 boys in the youth group in Chicago in 1937—all American citizens—and that they were exhorted by bund leaders to recruit more members of any national descent, tho meetings were conducted in German. He said he quit the group in 1939.

Preceding him on the stand was Herman Heinemann, 21, a former member of the bund youth movement here who now is an apprentice seaman at the Great Lakes Naval Training station. He described how he was selected to go to Germany with 25 youths from this country for instruction.

Spreads Nazi Teachings.

At a youth camp only 30 miles from Berlin, he testified, he was taught the superiority of dictatorship over democracy, heard the Jews and Versailles treaty lambasted, and was instructed to return to Chicago and teach such ideas here. Later he explained these doctrines to youthful bund members in Chicago on an order from Willumeit. He said he has since rejected them.

Additional evidence that internal bund procedures mocked democratic principles was brought out at the morning session, when Joseph T. Harrington, a defense counsel, was cross-examining William Buedtke, former national secretary of the bund. Harrington held up the bund constitution.

Delegates Without Power.

Q.—[by Harrington]—Doesn't article 6 section 2, give members the power to impeach their leader? A.—Yes, but article 16, section 2, at the end of the written constitution gives the leader absolute power. [Laughter in the courtroom.]

Q.—Couldn't the assembly overrule him? A.—No.

Q.—Weren't the delegates to a convention in charge? A.—No, the leader was. They were there to listen.

Nottrodt pointed out several other defendants he had seen in Haus Vaterland. He closed by saying he dropped out of the movement in 1939.

Some Carry Knives.

He lectured a while, he said, but quit in 1940. His trip to Germany cost him $75; the rest of the expense was paid "by some one else" whom he did not know. Heinemann on cross examination, said he believed national socialism was good only for Germany, but not fit to be transplanted to America.

WAR GARDENERS USE LIGHTS TO LENGTHEN DAYS

It will take more than darkness to defeat Chicago's war gardeners, many of whom have extended electric light equipment to their plots so they can work after the sun goes down. Other gardeners are using flashlights for gardening after work hours, thus obviating the necessity of waiting for the week-end daylight hours. And in one large war garden participants drove their automobiles to the edge of the lot and turned headlights on the plots.

Injured Woman Helped from Car

Two Are Hurt

Mrs. Sylvia Bisco, 33 years old, 3712 Pine Grove avenue, a widow, was taken to the American hospital last night with a fractured left collar bone suffered in a five car accident at Roscoe street and Lake Shore drive.

One driver moved out of his lane, causing two others cars to collide. Mrs. Bisco's auto struck them. A fifth car plowed into the others. Lincoln park police were unable to fix blame.

Minor damage was done the automobiles, and Mrs. Bisco, and a companion, Stanley Rittoff, 31, of 5343 Winthrop avenue, a musician, were the only casualties. Rittoff also was hospitaled. He complained of internal injuries.

Albert Scherer, 13, of 1545 Frontier avenue, was killed when a post-office truck backed over him in an alley at 618 Lutz place. Harry A. McMillan, 36, Negro, 3636 Ellis avenue, the driver, was released.

Search was redoubled for a driver who fatally injured an unidentified woman April 27 at Superior street and Ashland avenue after an inquest verdict.

A CONGRESSMAN UNBURDENS SELF ON TOPIC OF OPA

He's Not an Admirer, It Seems.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 14.—"Cabbage in Washington is 20 cents for a pigmy head—you know—just the size of the usual burocrat's."

That's a sample of the remarks made today by Rep. Ranulf Compton [R., Conn.] when he asked the appointment of a house committee to investigate the office of price administration and here are some others:

"I ask this favor for the oppressed majority, the loyal hard working Americans who are being tried beyond endurance thru a tyranny of burocratic tommyrot."

"If there is one bureau in Washington which needs the spotlight of public scrutiny, it is that confusion-spreading fly in our alphabetical soup, the OPA, or, by poetic license, the OPU—office of price upheaval."

"OPA Director Brown comes bearing gifts, gifts of money in the form of subsidies. The OPA is about to help us pay our grocery bill. That's very nice of OPA. But beware, I say, of gift bearers, whether they be Grecian beauties or ugly ducklings, particularly lame ducks."

"Let me suggest that if necessary we blot out the existence of this circus-like gargantua, this fantastic formless freak of foolish government, this colossus of confusion, this monster of muddled management. This alliteration of all the evils of burocratic government."

"In the two years OPA has been exercising its peculiar brand of price control, pot roast has jumped 156 per cent in cost, Irish potatoes, 256 per cent, cabbage, 200 per cent, and eggs 56 per cent. But now, after two years of spending and snooping, and regulations that even Einstein couldn't undestand, they promise a measly five per cent reduction—if they get another 1,400 investigators."

"Besides the 1,400, they want 18,500 more employés to bring the total to 70,000. Of course, it's good New Deal practice: Every time a program fails, ask for a larger appropriation and increase the personnel. That insures that the next failure will really be colossal."

"Are congress and the American people to be made guinea pigs for an incompetent collection of overpaid young lawyers who hatch crackpot theories in the incubators of socialism they call their minds?"

Eaker Cancels British Date to Open Victory Festival

CZECHS TO HEAR DR. EDUARD BENES AT RALLY IN CITY

Leader in Exile Will Arrive Saturday.

Dr. Eduard Benes, president of the Czecho-Slovak government in exile who this week is conferring with President Roosevelt in Washington, will come to Chicago next Saturday to speak at a Czech assembly in the Chicago Stadium the following day.

Dr. Eduard Benes.

Dr. Benes will be making his first Chicago visit since he left a brief guest professorship at the University of Chicago in July, 1939, to go to London and head the Czech government in exile.

Will Speak at Luncheon.

The Czech National council, which with the state department is sponsoring the visit here, said Dr. Benes will visit the city hall Saturday and speak at a Palmer House luncheon at noon. In the afternoon he will visit Lidice, Ill., a federal housing project near Joliet renamed to commemorate the Czech village wiped out by the Nazis.

Thousands of Czechs are expected to gather at Ashland avenue and Madison street Sunday afternoon and march to the Stadium. The program will begin at 3 p. m. and Dr. Benes will speak at 4 p. m.

President Three Years.

Dr. Benes will speak at a luncheon for University of Chicago professors the following Monday and at another meeting for journalists on Tuesday.

Elected president of the republic in 1935, Dr. Benes resigned in 1938 after opposing encroachments by the Nazis. Increasing German pressure forced him to flee to London.

2 Motor Clubs Denounce Bill Forcing Rail Crossing Stops

The Chicago Motor club and the Illinois Automobile club called yesterday for defeat of a bill that would require automobiles to stop before passing over the thousands of unprotected railroad crossings in Illinois.

Introduced by Representatives Michael E. Hannigan [D., Chicago] and James J. Adduci [R., Chicago], the bill is now before the Illinois house committee on motor vehicles. After it reached passage stage, discovery was made that the bill lacked an enacting clause. This made it necessary to start a new bill thru the legislative machinery.

Hayes Foresees Violations.

"Even tho visibility is clear and it is obvious that no trains are approaching, the full stop by automobiles would be required," said Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club. "Switch tracks and little used spurs where the ordinary precaution of slowing down and looking both ways is ample to protect motorists would require full stops."

Hayes said as an "unreasonable and arbitrary" law it would be frequently violated, thus promoting disregard of other laws. Such laws do not exist in most states and most motorists would not know of the requirement, he said. Railroads would not be required to post stop signs.

"In our 30 years' experience with speed traps we have found that laws of this kind encourage certain police officers to lie in wait and make numerous arrests for technical violations.

"I think we are safe in saying that it would increase accidents, because a motorist who knew the law and who obeyed it would stop at a grade crossing, while the driver of the following car, not knowing the law, would not be prepared to stop and might collide."

"Setting for Speed Traps."

Carl A Barrett, president of the Illinois Automobile club, said that the proposed law would be "a perfect setting for speed traps."

The bill provides that after stopping, looking, and listening, motorists shall not proceed "unless they can so safely."

In legislative circles, it is reported that attorneys for some railroads are interested in the bill in the belief that it would greatly reduce the number of successful damage suits for crossing accidents.

BOBBED COATTAILS.

Mayor Howard W. Jackson of Baltimore was by no means the worst executive in the history of that city. He had held office for four terms and he had based his recent campaign for reëlection on the argument that his administrative experience would be valuable to the city during the war and the early post-war period. His opponent, Theodore R. McKeldin, was a young man with slight experience as a public executive. Nevertheless, McKeldin defeated Jackson decisively, to become the first Republican mayor Baltimore has had since 1927. He polled more than 57 per cent of the vote.

It was the Baltimore city vote that carried Maryland for Mr. Roosevelt in 1940, but the results of the municipal election are obviously indicative of far more than the probable 1944 trend in that state. Mr. Roosevelt has become the man with the bobbed coattails. Instead of carrying his supporters, he has become a handicap to them. Mayor Kelly very carefully stifled any references to his New Deal ties when he ran in Chicago.

Mayor Jackson, it is agreed by both Democratic and Republican politicians in Maryland, was beaten less because of his personal tenure in office than because the fourth term drive has aroused the people against any long tenure in any executive office. They are determined to have a Republic, and a real one, without life tenure in public office for any one.

A GREAT REFORM.

It was in the early '20s—in 1921, if memory serves—that a reform was instituted in Chicago. Many good people who had pondered long upon the defects and deficiencies of the city's government had come to the conclusion that the fault lay in the party system. There were plenty of able men in the community willing to represent their wards as aldermen, but the party organizations seldom nominated any of the superior men, and the result was a city council that contained many dubious characters and relatively few eminent intellects. All of this was to be changed by electing our aldermen on a nonpartisan ballot. That would give the good men the chance they had been denied by the party machines.

And so it was done. Enabling legislation was passed at Springfield and the people of Chicago, by referendum, as we recall it, approved the reform.

A great deal of effort had gone into this crusade and today we know that all the time and money spent on it were wasted. The city council of 1943 is no better than that of 1919, and probably isn't as good. It contains fewer able and independent men than it had in the wicked old days of frankly partisan elections.

The great reform was a flop for a variety of reasons, but chiefly because it just wasn't true that if the party labels went off the ballots the party organizations would have no influence in the elections. Today, as before, the party organizations for all practical purposes dictate the aldermanic nominations and party backing determines the outcome of elections in all but a few of the wards. The gradual lowering of the quality of the city council can be attributed, probably, to the fact that, tho the party organizations still do the selecting, the nonpartisan appearance of the ballot allows party leaders to escape responsibility for their work. Much the same result flowed from the direct primary.

People who want better government ought to use their heads. If they did so, they would realize that when it comes to getting out the vote the unorganized citizens are no match for the party machines and never will be except for brief periods of civic exaltation. Accordingly, the citizen who wants to improve the quality of his government will get nowhere if he remains outside the party organizations. If, however, he joins up as a Republican or Democrat, and gets enough like minded neighbors to take the same course, he and his friends will surely be consulted by their ward leaders and some day may even succeed in dominating the organization. To contribute regularly to the party's expenses might, conceivably, increase the new member's prestige in his chosen organization.

Participation in politics at the precinct or ward level will be distasteful to many because it demands the expenditure of much time and effort, association with a lot of more or less tiresome people, and the acceptance of some unpleasant compromises on men and issues. If this seems a high price to pay for better government, the answer is that people who don't want to pay the price have only themselves to blame if their government doesn't suit them. If only a small part of the effort that was wasted in reforming the election of aldermen had been devoted to partisan activity, a great deal might have been accomplished for Chicago

ARTIFICIAL SCARCITY.

Recently WPB issued an order requiring manufacturers of wood pulp, the material of which paper is made, to reserve 20 per cent of their output for use in manufacturing various items desired by the government. No effort was made by the government to increase the supply of pulp. On the contrary, the OPA had issued an order fixing ceiling prices on wood, the raw material from which the pulp is obtained. This action of OPA has resulted in needlessly reducing the output of pine in the south and of spruce and balsam in New England. Mills which depend largely for their supply of pulpwood upon settlers and independent timber operators are said to be running short of wood because their suppliers cannot afford to pay the high wages now prevailing and sell at the ceiling prices.

When the government is dealing with such vital materials as copper, steel, and pulp, the sensible course is to set no ceiling price on the raw materials and thus make certain that the required quantities of these important products will be forthcoming. OPA will still hold the whip hand so far as the price of the finished product is concerned and if the manufacturers unreasonably increase their prices they can always be brought into line by proper restrictive orders. In the meantime sufficient quantities of the critical products will be produced.

POST-WAR PLANNING.

Not long ago congress declined to appropriate for one of Mr. Roosevelt's numerous planning boards and cries of lamentation immediately arose among the forward-lookers. You would think from the tone they adopted that the United States and with it the world had been condemned to everlasting poverty and hopelessness. None of us would know what to do after the war without guidance from the penetrating intellects that were arranging our affairs for us. Without burocrats to plan our beds we would have no rest; without pay rollers to plan our meals we would starve. We were facing disaster, and, blind fools that we were, we didn't give a hoot.

We have heard their story and we still aren't disturbed. We know that the political pay rollers, the social workers, and the social climbers—all of them together—can't accomplish anything of value in the way of after-the-war planning. Their notions and their pretty schemes will have nothing to do with shaping the world in which we are going to live if it is going to be a good one to live in.

If it is going to be a world of freedom it will be so because professional do-gooders and busybodies were not encouraged to impose restrictions on the activities of their fellow countrymen. If it is going to be a world of plenty it will be so because the men in the laboratories, especially the chemists and metallurgists, together with the engineers and businessmen will have discovered and distributed new and better products to the people. These pioneers don't need any one to plan for them and, as professionals, can dispense with the advice of amateurs.

If it is to be a world of full employment it will be so because science, industry, and business have made new opportunities for work. The pay rollers in the planning bureaus will make jobs for no one but themselves and their kind, and, indeed, that is all they want. If there is to be employment for everybody who wants to work, the bulk of it in the future as in the past must come from productive enterprise. That means that people with something new to make and sell must be given every encouragement. The attempt to force their action into a preconceived mold will be disastrous.

APOSTASY, NO LESS.

What really bothers the Illinois Democrats who are agitating a reduction of the sales tax is that they can't understand any administration that doesn't spend all the taxes it can collect, and more, too. Gov. Green froze the sales tax surplus in war bonds at the beginning of the present session of the legislature to forestall any profligate appropriations. The uncertainty of future revenue, in view of rationing and probable further curtailment of civilian commodities, makes the proposal to reduce the sales tax rate at this time dangerous to state solvency, he has said.

The Democratic gentlemen, furthermore, are in danger of lapsing into apostasy from the New Deal gospel. They find themselves at variance, for instance, with Harold D. Smith, director of the federal budget, who last year, in a Chicago speech, said:

"A period of great inflationary danger is not the proper time for reducing state and local tax rates. This is the time to maintain tax rates, provided the amount that might be left with the taxpayers is used in retiring state debts or accumulating balances—not, I want to make clear, to support increased levels of spending or even past levels of spending."

Chairman Marriner Eccles of the federal reserve board and other New Dealers have spoken in similar vein. Gov. Green, it may be noted, has done just what they recommend. He is not using the excess revenue to put on pay rollers, but is investing it in war bonds to provide for post-war reconstruction and as insurance against future declines of state revenue.

It appears to make a difference to the New Dealers, or at least to their walking delegates whom the Chicago Democratic machine sends to Springfield, whether the people who collect taxes are Democrats or Republicans. They want to cut the taxes that the Republicans collect, and don't spend, but at the same time they are asking authority to collect, and spend, increased taxes from the people of Chicago, thru continuance of the pegged levy racket.

The Republican majority in the legislature should have little difficulty in seeing thru this fraud. The demand for reduction of the sales tax rate—already, incidentally, one-third lower than the rate the Democrats collected—is obviously made for purposes of blackmail. The payoff, if the governor and the majority are so ill advised as to compromise, will be the passage of the unjustified pegged levy bills.

Editorial of the Day

INDIANA WPA.

[Indianapolis News.]

Unwept, unsung, and all but unhonored, the WPA in Indiana is being laid away. According to official reports, the headquarters has been closed, the money spigots have been shut off.

According to WPA figures, this outfit spent about $215,000,000 in the state. Accepting the figures as certainly not too low, a fair estimate is that half the money was wasted. This means that at least twice the amount of benefits from the expenditure could have been obtained had the federal government respected the dignity and importance of work and the right of WPA workers to turn out a day's work for a day's pay.

Altho taxpayers have been rated as the victims of WPA, they were merely among the minor victims. The WPA did its worst to many of the people that it assumed to help. It denied them the tools and equipment to enable them to work as regular American workers are accustomed to working. It made them feel all the time that the main purpose was not to do a good job in the good American way, but merely to use a job as an excuse for handing necessary living expenses to them. It is to the credit of most former WPA workers that the scars of that humiliating experiment have healed.

The people did, however, gain many public works and other benefits thru WPA—about half what they could have had. But more than that they gained the assurance that communism could not be planted thruout the country by the studied efforts of Hopkins, his faction of social workers, and the politicians who stooped to direct WPA under the conditions imposed by Washington. So the gain to the country is worth considering—and remembering.

MR. PEPYS IN A MUSEUM.

15th May—Went to the Art institute to see the three new rooms full of paintings by the fellows who invented cubism and then quit it cold, among whom the much-mentioned Picasso is the ringleader. Met there Henry Senber, agent provocateur for Katharine Cornell, the actress, whom I call Senber Fidelis, and he asked me to explain the mysteries of modern art, which were baffling him no end.

Have known many people in a similar fix, so talked to him in my best bedside manner. "Don't struggle," said I. "Don't grind your teeth. Don't scowl and shriek. You will feel better after a few treatments. You must be patient and let modern art creep up on you by degrees. Any attempt to understand it at first sight has a bad effect on the nervous system and is likely to run into complications, such as tearing out the hair and getting into brawls at studio parties. . . . Now go back and look at the paintings again in a relaxed mood, letting your subconscious self surge up from the depths and drown any appeal to reason. Don't shy like a startled horse at the Picasso omelettes of scrambled mandolins and guitars or you may fall and Braque your neck."

Saw Senber Fidelis again the next day and found marked improvement in his condition, but his temperature was slightly above normal and he was ready to start an argument with any modernist in sight. He admitted he was now able to swallow Renoirs with ease and enjoyment, and in a few weeks I hope to have him ready for a dish of scrambled mandolins.

Found a lady in the Art institute with her throat cut. She was only a picture, and a lovely one, by an old artist named Boucher, and her neck was like a swan's. But some one, perhaps a maniac, years ago had slashed across that throat with a sharp knife. The picture has been repaired, but the cut is clearly visible and I would like to know the story behind it. As a curious coincidence I might add that the artist's name, Boucher, is the French word for "butcher."

That he was a Gargantua
  I never had m' doots;
I thought the Russian steppes maun quake
  Beneath his giant boots.
But noo I ken his measure sma',
  It scunners me tae think
That in his stature he wull match

Noo, hoo Ivan can stand that runt
  I'm sure I canna tell—
I'm fairly certain I cud lick
  A guy that size m'sel.

Lowdown on the Fiction Trade.

Maximus Blot, the writer, seated himself beside me and began:

"I represent the best in Chicago's literary culture, Mr. Hatter, and I intend to divulge to you the basic techniques for the writing of successful fiction."

I protested in surprise that I had no desire to write fiction.

He shuddered. "Very narrow outlook! Why, fiction is a powerful force in the world of today. It often wins elections, puts over social programs, and gets acquittals. It also, of course, at times amuses and entertains. Properly done, it all pays. Here, then, is the dope. First you must decide for what class you want to write—for the masses or for the new, the social-planning élite."

"But I don't——"

"Now the art of fiction is the art of suggestion. Very rarely in fiction will you baldly say, for example: 'The commissioner took a bribe.' Say, rather: 'He rolled his eyes upward, quoted two verses from the Koran, and crammed something into his pocket.' See how it works?"

"I don't care——"

"If it's merely money you want, after all better stay away from the significant literary story. I once wrote a literary story about a guy that lived in a swamp and had a pet snake. This guy would rail against everything all day and shake his fist at the sky until finally the snake got tired of it and bit him and put him out of his misery. Beautiful stuff, of course, but it was knocked down for only $7.50.

"And now a final admonition: Keep your stuff up to date. If it's propaganda, hit low and talk high. If it's entertainment, keep to the advanced standards of the most progressive magazines, wherein virtue, tho still respectable, is now optional."

Regarding the navy word "boot" [April 29]: It is not new. It began at Great Lakes in the last war; I know, for I was there. We actually wore a regular farm type of rubber boots because of the mud.

Many of us boys only had seven or eight weeks of training and were hustled off to become "snipes" or coal heavers on the coal-burning warships of that war. Our reputation of being sailors who wore boots preceded us.

GASTRITIS—MUTINY OF THE STOMACH.

PEPTIC ulcer is not responsible for every pain originating in the stomach. In fact, 90 per cent of all digestive troubles arise because we have not learned how and what to eat.

Overindulgence is probably our greatest indiscretion. We pack so much imperfectly chewed food into the "bread basket" that the pouch is unable to carry on its duties. It may make numerous efforts to get rid of the unwanted mass and, in the process, actual irritation may ensue.

The digestive tract expects to be treated fairly. Nevertheless, it will endure many an insult without resentment. But allow even a mild inflammation to persist for months and we will be likely to encounter ulceration, anemia, or some other bothersome condition.

An acute attack of indigestion subsides rather quickly, altho, while it lasts, suffering may be severe. Following one of these episodes, if we allow the organ to rest for 24 hours, the angry, red appearance of the mucous lining will vanish.

Suppose, however, we decline to surrender our "gulp and run" habits. Sooner or later we will face a thickened, swollen inner surface which presents a blotchy eruption similar to measles. Continue the abuse still longer and the velvet-like cells will begin to slough away, thus losing their power to secrete gastric juice.

What are some of the symptoms? Other than distress following the taking of nourishment, the patient will complain that he is satisfied quickly. In other words, appetite departs before the meal is half finished. Eventually nausea may become pronounced, sometimes to the point of actual vomiting. The ejected material will contain, as a rule, a generous proportion of glairy, thick mucus. Most of these sufferers will experience loss of weight.

Good eating habits must be established before regeneration of the mucosa can be brought about. If the individual has a notion that cancer is developing, it may be well to dissipate his fears by a careful study, using X-ray films and the gastroscope.

But prevention should be the rule. We can eat in a leisurely fashion, select a reasonable menu, and masticate every mouthful thoroly. A moderate amount of liquids at the table is helpful rather than the reverse. The old superstition that water should not be taken with meals because it dilutes the gastric juice has long since been disproved. On the contrary, natural stimulation of the secreting glands results.

Many a victim of dyspepsia will solve his problem by employing five or six small repasts each day. The total 24 hour intake is the same. This means that the gastric apparatus is obliged to function more frequently but with greater comfort. Instead of a thousand calorie dinner, one containing four or five hundred will be consumed.

A team of willing horses may pull half a load to the top of the hill without effort. Physiologists tell us that the stomach likes to work, but not when obliged to exert itself unduly. Midmorning, midafternoon, and bedtime snacks may be handled with ease.

TAX RATE LIMITATION.

Chicago, May 11.—I notice that the spring offensive against the state legislature at Springfield by bombarding it with the usual request for pegged tax levies in favor of the various Chicago and Cook county taxing bodies has started. The writer sincerely trusts that the present legislature will resist all such attempts.

Chicago is spending money like a drunken sailor on a holiday, never caring where the funds will come from, for every request for more money has heretofore been granted by the legislature, so why worry? This has been going on for years and will continue so unless the legislature puts its foot down and says very emphatically: "No."

The plea made that it is impossible to get along with less is really "silly." One must cut the cloth to fit the coat.

Let the legislature establish a 1 per cent limitation on the full assessed value of all property. Not enough? Let's look at the present tax situation. The law has established a full 100 per cent valuation for taxation purposes but this valuation is cut by the state tax commission to 37 per cent. This serves as a sort of pacifier and is good political ammunition. How many people really understand when they get their tax bill and see thereon under the column headed assessed valuation the figures $370 that it represents a true valuation of $1,000? When the taxpayer appears before the board of appeals to make his complaint and is asked at what he values his property, and he says $1,000, they tell him: "Well, what are you kicking about? We have valued it at only $370. Your valuation ought to be raised instead of cut. He goes away bewildered and yet he knows he is paying more than he should, but he is no mathematical expert to figure all these different percentages.

If the true value of all property was used for assessment purposes, and the 1 per cent limitation applied, it would make the final tax bill readily understandable to John Smith and Jim Brown. They would know at a glance when their valuation was $1,000 and the rate 1 per cent that it would be $10 and you would hear no complaint from them.

THE "GOVERNING CLASS."

Columbus, O., April 29.—The summary of your article on American-English relations was the bright spot of our local paper yesterday, so far as my interest goes. My ancestors helped make this a free, independent country, and the greatest experiment in equality among men that the world has ever seen.

There is undoubtedly a group of Tories, operating behind a smoke screen of long words and high sounding phrases, and picturing themselves as the "governing class" of this country, who have been working since the last war to swing us into line as a near colony of England. More power to you and all men who fight for the United States of America—not "the states."

CHILDLESS BUT HAPPY.

Oak Lawn, Ill., May 9.—Today we observed Mother's day, with Children's day and Father's day due to be observed in the near future.

When will some recognition be given to those childless couples [and they are legion], who round out many full years of marital life together without benefit of children to weld the knot tighter, and whose only basis for years of harmonious living is a mutual love and respect for the other. Truly, we rate recognition.

CYNTHIA DAVISON.

HOW TO GO TO JAIL.

Chicago, May 11.—In today's Voice of the People I read the letter of Mrs. Frances Fox. Her request: "Will some one please tell me how the family of two can ever hope to see a roast or steak as long as the values of points are as they are for the little family, unless they visit the black market?" moves me to rise to the occasion.

Use all your red points for roasts and steaks two or three times a month and do without other meats, butter, fats, cheese, and canned fish. This is the legal way.

My wife and I also find that 16 red points per week per person crimps our style. We shrug our shoulders and say "C'est la guerre." We approve our government's attempt at equitable food distribution.

For all childless couples whose discriminating palates are offended for lack of pre-rationing doses of beef tenderloin, porterhouse, and other expensive meat cuts, I suggest:

Place an advertisment in the daily papers such as this: "Childless couple, comfortably situated financially, desires to contact family with five or six children who have red ration coupons to burn. You buy 50 points' worth of choicest meats as directed by me. Will reimburse you for the cost of the meat and give a bonus of $50 in defense bonds."

Such advertising would create a market between those who are short of red points and children but long on cash, and those long on red points and children but short on cash.

THEODORE F. KILBURG.

MEAT FOR TWO.

Chicago, May 12.—In answer to the letter in regard to rations for two: There are two in our family, husband and wife. We also live comfortably. We buy war bonds and donated to the Red Cross and also the service center.

There would be no difficulty about the rationing if there was just a little good judgment used. Eggs and fish are not rationed and some cheese, and fowls are not rationed. With careful planning we use only a pound of butter every three weeks. We use lower points on the meats, not always the better grades of meat that require more points. We both work and have two lunches to prepare every day and we have plenty of red points left over.

MR. AND MRS. H. OLSEN.

P. S.: Three boys in service.

LARGE FAMILIES NEED THEIR RED STAMPS.

Chicago, May 11.—Frances Fox writes in this morning's paper that she cannot get along on her red ration stamps because she has been used to the better things of life, and she claims that large families have stamps to burn.

Well, I have five in my family and have no stamps to burn. From experience I can say that growing children need more food than adults. Frances buys one-half pound of butter while I buy 1⅓ pounds. She buys one-half pound of shortening while I need one or two pounds. I have three lunches to put up daily. Neither can I buy roasts or steaks. We're all in this war together, so one must sacrifice as well as the other.

SMILING COP.

Chicago, May 11.—I have always believed that a traffic cop had to be mean and tough in order to hold his job, but lately I have changed my mind. FROM DENNIS ZEIGLER'S SON.

A. P. O., San Francisco, Cal., April 29.—I was quite elated over the exposure of certain racketeering factions, particularly by those concerned in the brutal slaying of my father, Dennis Bruce Zeigler, printed in your edition of March 27.

It is a certainty that all hardworking laborers, working for rights as human beings as well as having the opportunity to participate [with their own individual minds] in labor and union functions, cherish the martyrdom my father personified for these just causes.

The truly criminal part of the whole system is that its tentacles reach defiantly into the American Federation of Labor, and therefore necessitate handling by the federal bureau of investigation. So long as such steps are not taken the corruption shall exist in "full bloom." I'm fighting out here for those things, so are you on the home front.

SERGT. PAUL G. ZEIGLER.

DOESN'T LIKE JAPS.

West Salem, Ill., May 10.—This idea of releasing the Japs from relocation centers is the most asinine I've ever heard.

How could we possibly cope with 25,000 Japs on the loose when we can't even cope with John L. Lewis? They are great agriculturists, you say. Get the burocrats off the back of our farmers and let's see what they can do in the way of agriculture. It appears the burocrats have so meddled and bungled they now have to call in the Japs to save our face.

There may be some loyal Japs but they must be the expendables. That is the price we've paid in Manila, on Bataan, and Corregidor, and your reporter will never change my opinion of a Jap.

WASH DAY SQUABBLES.

Chicago, May 15.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—There are 32 apartments in our building and in nearly each apartment there are one or more children. 1. There are two laundry rooms, with three sets of tubs and only enough drying space for one good sized laundry. Every week there is an argument among the women, for some one is certain to take down a wash before it is completely dry in order to hang up her own. There is no yard, merely a small court. The owner holds that the difficulty should be worked out by the tenants and [2] in no way attempts to remedy the situation. 3. Apartments have been made out of what was originally intended to be drying rooms. What can be done?

S. L.

1. In general, a tenant should satisfy himself in such points before renting.

2. We see no obligation on the landlord on the bare facts stated.

3. The landlord would have no right to make such a change during your tenancy. You do not give us the facts on this point.

30 BILLION NAVY FUND BILL SENT TO HOUSE FLOOR

Invasion Craft Stressed in Giant Program.

Washington, D. C., May 14 (AP).—Congress today was asked to give the navy almost 30 billion dollars to prepare in the next year for its final blows against the axis.

The largest naval funds bill in history was sent to the house floor by the appropriations committee, calling for $29,463,687,198—about $230 for every person in the nation. The navy already has received 68 billions since July, 1940.

The bill is for the fiscal year starting July 1. The committee said in reporting the bill that it had cut $2,044,107,802 from navy requests, but had not reduced any allotments for ships, planes, guns, ammunition or the number of service personnel.

Stresses Aircraft Carriers.

The committee took thousands of words of testimony from naval officers on plans, dealing heavily in aircraft carriers, anti-submarine vessels, and landing craft.

In the testimony was an inferential warning for Japan. It came in the form of a question.

"After we get rid of Hitler," asked a committee member, "will there be a general decrease in the funds for ammunition?"

"No, sir," responded Rear Adm. W. H. P. Blandy, chief of the naval bureau of ordnance.

Vice Adm. F. J. Horne warned that landing craft would be vital in an assault on the European continent or on Japan.

Horne, vice chief of naval operations, said the "aircraft carrier has become the backbone of the fleet," adding:

"Missions in modern naval warfare generally are accomplished by task forces. The ideal task force is one built around the aircraft carrier and, since the carrier is relatively inferior in armament, it is necessary that some one run interference with her. The cruiser is the ideal type for this."

Building Peak July 1.

Horne said naval shipbuilding will reach its peak about July 1, but "minimum acceptable requirements" for escort craft will not be met before next Jan. 1.

Rear Adm. E. L. Cochrane, chief of the navy's bureau of ships, said losses of landing craft in some operations will run as high as 50 per cent. He said such losses in the North African landing were heavy.

The house today voted authorization of 1 million tons of small boats, about 70 per cent of the tonnage in landing craft. It approved a 1 billion 700 million dollar expenditure. Rep. Michael J. Bradley [D., Pa.] said the navy already has constructed 1,100,000 tons of landing craft. The measure now goes to the senate.

Approximately 30 per cent of boats authorized today will consist of district craft, such as tugs and oil and gasoline barges.

Rep. Beverly M. Vincent [D., Ky.] attempted to eliminate the funds for the district craft, charging that the navy was buying expensive yachts and using them for "entertainment purposes." The amendment was rejected by voice vote.

DEFER INQUEST OVER BOY KILLED BY POLICEMAN

Captain Defends Act of Subordinate.

A coroner's inquest into the killing of Elmo Vassar Jr., 16 year old Negro, 11347 Carpenter street, who was shot Thursday afternoon by a policeman whom he had assaulted by hurling rocks, was continued to May 25 to enable police to complete their investigation. The youth was slain by Policeman Patrick Rynne of the Morgan Park station while he was investigating a complaint of boys hurling rocks at passenger trains at 113th place and the Pennsylvania railroad tracks.

150 Attend Inquest.

More than 150 Negro spectators attended the inquest, which was held in an undertaking establishment at 1258 West 111th street. Several policemen were present to maintain order. A jury of three white and three colored men was drawn and the victim's father, Elmo Sr., was called to testify. He said he knew nothing of his son's activities before the shooting.

Meantime Capt. John Prendergast of the uniformed force was ordered by Commissioner James P. Allman to make a complete investigation. Capt. James Kerr of the Morgan Park station defended Rynne's action.

It was while investigating a complaint of rock throwing at trains that Policeman Rynne shot Vassar. Rynne was struck in the hand and on the head by stones hurled by the youth.

Look Into School Record.

Investigation of the boy's record at Shoop elementary school, 112th and Bishop streets, disclosed that he had been receiving low grades and had been absent 36 days since last September, police said.

TEAR GAS ROUTS GEM THIEVES BUT HAUL IS $5,000

Burglars broke into Roy Yeoman's jewelry store at 116 North Genesee street, Waukegan, early yesterday, and stole diamond rings and watches valued at more than $5,000. Police Chief Bart Tyrrell said they probably would have stolen more except for tear gas which they automatically discharged while opening the safe. Chief Tyrrell said the thieves apparently are the same gang which in recent months has looted jewelry shops in Aurora, Sterling, Elgin, Rockford, and Ottawa, Ill., and in Janesville, Wis.

Friendship is a fine thing—it's as old as time itself and plays an important part in your daily life. You phone a friend, perhaps take time out for lunch with an old college chum, spend an evening settling the problems of the world with old friends. Friendship is a warming and satisfying experience. Marshall Field & Company has lots of friends . . . we're host to many thousands of visitors each day, and that is truly a warm and satisfying experience.

NEW DEAL USES TERROR TO FIGHT FOES, G.O.P. TOLD

Name Calling Replaces Debate, Official Says.

Albany, N. Y., May 14 [Special].—Thomas J. Curran, New York secretary of state, told a group of Young Republicans today that a "smear technique" is employed by members of the national administration, from President Roosevelt down, against those who disagree with them, and that this constitutes government by intimidation and a blow at free discussion.

Curran, who also is New York county Republican chairman, was addressing the 11th annual convention of the Association of New York State Young Republican Clubs. He said that the old tradition of debate has become almost extinct, and that name calling has been substituted for it.

Cites Iron Cross Case.

"If this dirty business were confined only to those from whom it might naturally be expected, there would be nothing to worry about," said Curran. "But when we see the most eminent citizens in the land resort to it, it is something to make us stop and think.

"What are we to say, for example, when we see the President of the United States himself publicly offering a German iron cross to a well known newspaper man for daring to exercise what used to be regarded as the birthright of every American—that is, the right to express his opinions on public affairs?

"What are we to say when our Vice President publicly states that a member of congress ought to be on the Nazi pay roll, if he was not already on it, simply because that congressman had the courage to publish the names and describe the subversive activities of certain employés in the government departments?

[This presumably was a reference to Chairman Martin Dies (D., Tex.) of the house committee on un-American activities.]

Charges Intimidation.

"This is simply government by intimidation. It is an attempt to terrorize all those who do not agree with us."

Curran answered the "defeatist" attitude taken by some that President Roosevelt cannot be beaten next year if the war still is on, by saying:

"The wholesale incompetence, inefficiency, and sheer stupidity of the political group in whose hands now lies the fate of this nation has finally been brought home to the average, everyday American, and he understands the urgency of doing something and doing it now."

BEGIN CAMPAIGN TO TRACK DOWN STOCK RUSTLERS

Field assistants of the office of Atty. Gen. George F. Barrett yesterday began a statewide drive, in cooperation with county authorities, to track down the modern day rustlers who are stealing cattle, hogs, and sheep, processing them in illegal slaughterhouses, and supplying the state's black market in meat.

Mr. Barrett said his investigations have led him to believe many of these thieving mobs are organized and operating under the direction of hoodlums and gunmen from Chicago and East St. Louis.

"Unless a well organized drive is launched immediately to block these ruthless underworld characters, warning them that they will be seized and prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law," Barrett said, "the farmers of our state will face one of the gravest problems they have had to cope with in many years."

Barrett said black market operators who buy this illegal meat from rustlers, who have been stealing livestock from farmers' barns, will be prosecuted for receiving stolen property.

COWLES RESIGNS NEW DEAL JOB TO PUSH WILLKIE

Quits OWI Post Under Fire.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 14.—Gardner Cowles Jr., domestic director of the office of war information and a close friend of Wendell Willkie, will quit his OWI post about June 20, Director Elmer Davis announced today.

Cowles, Des Moines publisher, will be succeeded, Davis said, by another newspaper man, Palmer Hoyt, publisher of the Portland Oregonian.

Altho the reason officially given for Cowles' resignation was that he must give attention to his "several publications," it was learned that he plans to devote much of his time to pushing Willkie as a candidate again for the Republican Presidential nomination.

Ballyhoo Methods Criticized.

His resignation was also hastened, it was said, by recent criticism from members of congress and OWI staff members themselves of ballyhoo propaganda methods employed by Cowles' department in feeding "news" to the American people.

Cowles had a major part in the drive which led to the nomination of Willkie for the Presidency in 1940 and in the subsequent Presidential campaign in which Willkie was defeated. Last fall he accompanied Willkie on the latter's round the world tour of war fronts.

New Move Under Way.

A move to foist Willkie on the Republican party as a Presidential candidate again next year has been under way for several months by eastern internationalists and Roosevelt administration organs.

Hoyt, 46 years old, has been granted a six months' leave of absence from his newspaper to work for OWI. He has been in newspaper work for 20 years and worked variously as a reporter and editor of the Oregonian before becoming publisher in 1938. He served in the A. E. F. in France in the last war.

CHICAGOANS WIN R.O.T.C. AWARDS AT ILLINOIS U.

Urbana, Ill., May 14 [Special].—Eight residents of metropolitan Chicago were among 20 cadets of the University of Illinois reserve Officers' training corps who received awards today at the weekly review of the corps.

Robert G. Hathaway, 2818 Fletcher street, Chicago, cavalry; William H. Mikesell, 727 South boulevard, Oak Park, field artillery, and William G. James, 437 South 6th street, La Grange, coast artillery, received the Scabbard and Blade citation for second year basic course cadet of each unit most proficient in essential training of his branch.

Wilbert Liebling, 5401 Cornell avenue, Chicago, field artillery, and John R. Vander Veer, 520 South Stone avenue, La Grange, cavalry, were given the Phalanx award presented to outstanding first year basic course cadets of each unit. Howard F. Sitka, 3024 North Luna avenue, Chicago, was awarded the cavalry medal for being the best drilled basic course cavalry cadet in the use of cavalry weapons, and Frederick R. Wunder, 3205 Kenilworth avenue, Berwyn, received the Connor cup for being the best drilled second year basic course cadet in the field artillery unit.

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks department will answer questions about the draft and military service, both in the daily columns and by mail, if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are sent with the queries.]

C. Z. writes: "I've been married five years but have no children. I have been employed as a precision inspector of Diesel motors and parts for the past year and a half. My company filed for my occupational deferment and my draft board has refused my deferment simply because I am not a 'war father.' They tell me they can't defer men like me unless we are fathers."

ANSWER: It is too bad you neglected to give us your order number and the number and location of your board so we could check into this report. If your induction would cause your employer difficulty and thereby impede the war, he can appeal the board's decision. In most cases, a registrant who is essential in his civilian activity or war production can be deferred for at least six months to give the employer time to replace him.

C. F. writes: "The board where my husband is registered is taking married men with children and yet I know a number of married men under this same board who have no children and who are classified 1-A and are still at home. Why is this? Won't some one do something about it?"

ANSWER: Married men without children are supposed to be taken according to their order numbers, then men with children, etc. Complain to the state headquarters about it.

A. F. writes: "Altho I am single, I contend that my induction would cause undue hardship to my dependent father and mother. My mother is 62 years of age and physically incapacitated for work. My father is 80 years of age and likewise incapacitated. My draft board says that because my father receives old age assistance from the state, and that I can make allotments for one or both parents, no hardship would be created."

ANSWER: The servicemen's dependency act specifically enjoined selective service from interpreting the act to relieve a man of his dependencies. The act did state, however, that payments under this act may be considered in determining a registrant's liability for service. Furthermore, all city, county, and state aid is granted entirely on the basis of need and any assistance received from another agency or from the government is deducted from these payments. In other words, it appears that if your parents can exist on a maximum of $47 per month, no hardship would exist, but if they cannot live on $47 without becoming paupers or charges on the community, hardship would certainly be created by your induction.

S. L. U. writes: "I took my blood test on the afternoon of May 5 and I received my 1-A notice in the mail the next morning! Isn't my draft board kind of in a hurry to get me into the army? Can they do this?"

ANSWER: It isn't necessary for your draft board to wait for the results of the blood test before classifying you 1-A

OBITUARIES

Albert W. Wyman.

Albert W. Wyman, 67 years old, of 100 South Harvey avenue, Oak Park, former supervisor of Oak Park township, died yesterday. Mr. Wyman was past commander of Oak Park camp No. 80, United Spanish War Veterans; past commander of Post No. 105, Veterans of Foreign Wars; past president of the War Veterans' council of Oak Park, and a member of the Society of the Army of Santiago de Cuba. He is survived by his widow, Mary, two daughters and two sons. Funeral services will be held at 10:30 a. m. Monday in St. Lucy's church at Mayfield avenue and Lake street.

William M. Murphy.

Funeral services for William Matthew Murphy, 52 years old, a United States army major during the first World war, who died Thursday in the West End theater, 121 North Cicero avenue, will be held at Scranton, Pa. Mr. Murphy, who lived at 120 North Kilpatrick avenue, enlisted in 1912 as a private and was elevated to the rank of major during his service in France. He retired in 1940 after serving 12 years as a salesman of the Peoples Gas, Light, and Coke company. He is survived by his widow, Mary, and a son, William Jr., a soldier.

William G. Glennon.

Services for William G. Glennon, 84 years old, a retired printing firm owner and former newspaper proofreader, will be at 3 p. m. Monday in the chapel at 316 West 63d street. He died yesterday in Woodlawn hospital of injuries suffered Thursday night when he fell in a nursing home at 2311 West 111th street, where he resided. Mr. Glennon was born in London, Ontario, and came to Chicago in 1883. He was employed by the old Record-Herald and the Chicago Evening Post. Two sons, William D. and John Roy Glennon, survive.

Francis A. Byrnes.

Francis A. Byrnes, 71 years old, a retired fire battalion chief and for 40 years a city fireman, died yesterday in Jackson Park hospital. Services will be at 10 a. m. Monday in St. Bride's church, 78th street and Coles avenue. Before he retired Jan. 1, 1936, Mr. Byrnes' headquarters for 15 years was in the South Chicago district. His widow, Ellen, two sons, two daughters, three brothers, and a sister survive.

Mrs. Minnie Freund.

Mrs. Minnie Freund, widow of Charles E. Freund, president of William Freund & Sons, a long established engraving firm, died yesterday in Highland Park hospital. She was 72 years old and resided at 2000 Lincoln Park West. Surviving are a son, Edward, and a daughter, Mrs. Margaret Rietz. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Monday in the chapel at 5501 North Ashland avenue.

Thomas Murray.

Thomas Murray, 42 years old, a telephone operator at the Englewood fire alarm office for the last 12 years, died last night of a heart attack in his home at 5915 South Mozart avenue, as he was leaving for work. A fire department inhalator squad worked unsuccessfully to revive him. Murray is survived by his widow, Ethel, a son, Thomas Jr., gunner's mate in the navy, and two daughters, Siss and Joan.

Dr. Charles S. Hart.

Dr. Charles S. Hart, 74 years old, former Evanston dentist, died yesterday in Lake Geneva, Wis., where he had resided the last 10 years. He is survived by his widow and one daughter, Margie. Funeral services will be held at 1 p. m. today in Lake Geneva and burial at Cambridge, Wis.

Benjamin T. Roodhouse.

Benjamin Thomas Roodhouse, 73 years old, of 427 Laurel avenue, Wilmette, for many years a patent attorney with offices at 140 South Dearborn street, died yesterday in St. Francis hospital in Evanston. He is survived by his widow, Elizabeth. Funeral services will be private.

Harry Wood.

Kansas City, Mo., May 14 (AP).—Harry Wood, 72 years old, often called the father of the modern newspaper comic strip and a member of the Kansas City Star art staff for half a century, died today.

POLICE TO BEGIN AUTO LICENSE DRIVE MONDAY

Police on Monday will begin issuing summons to persons found operating their cars or trucks without 1943 city and state licenses. Police Commissioner Allman also instructed officers to charge persons issued such summons with additional violations if they are without state drivers' licenses or current safety inspection stickers. Records in the office of City Collector Louis Rixmann show thousands of Chicagoans have not yet obtained their city vehicle license stickers. Those receiving summons must answer them, even tho they purchase the licenses promptly.

KILLED AS TRAIN HITS CAR.

Plano, Ill., May 14 [AP].—William Erickson, 53 years old, was killed today when the Denver Zephyr passenger train of the Burlington railroad struck his automobile here.

SENATOR BAILEY MAY BACK BILL TO BAR 3D TERM

Not Framed to Apply to Roosevelt.

Washington, D. C., May 14 (AP).—Sen. Josiah W. Bailey [D., N. C.] said tonight he may sponsor a resolution for a constitutional amendment limiting any future President to two terms. Bailey would not comment on the details, but from other sources it was learned that the proposal would be so drafted that it would not bar President Roosevelt from a fourth term.

If the resolution is introduced, it is expected to be assigned to the senate judiciary committee, and some legislators predicted it would be supported by three Democratic members of that committee and seven Republicans, a committee majority.

Covers Future Situations.

The present draft is reported to provide that no President who has served all of one elected term and any portion of a second elected term shall be eligible to run again.

It would provide, however, that the term of any President in office at the time of the final adoption of such a constitutional amendment would not be ended by such action.

Amendment of the Constitution requires approval by a two-thirds vote in each house of congress and ratification by three-fourths of the state legislatures. Even with the earliest possible favorable action, advocates said, the resolution probably could not become a part of the Constitution until after the next Presidential term begins.

Success Problematic.

While a resolution of this nature would be expected to receive extensive Republican support and the backing of some Democrats, some of its advocates conceded there is little likelihood it will get two-thirds approval in congress.

Their main interest, one of them said, is in attempting to obtain a majority vote in the senate or house, preferably both, for the effect that it might have.

Several Republican legislatures already have gone on record as opposed to a fourth term for President Roosevelt, but Republicans in congress have refrained from offering a resolution of that nature.

WEATHER HALTS RIVER PROBLEM OF WAR GAMES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Field Headquarters Second Army, Lebanon, Tenn., May 14.—Weather conditions last night quenched the Blue forces' hopes of crossing the Cumberland river from the south to overwhelm the Red enemy with superior men and weapons. The third problem of the second army's final toughening up maneuvers was called off this morning with the vanguard of the Blue heavy elements mired at the south bridge approaches.

The weather did not stop the engineers, however. Handicapped also by the black-out, these troops built a reinforced pneumatic pontoon bridge at Rome after night fell, completed another heavy pontoon installation begun at Hunter's Point yesterday afternoon, and kept in service ferries they put in at Cole's Ferry and Wood's Ferry shortly after the infantry crossed in assault waves early yesterday morning.

Altho the problem ended in a stalemate, observers said it afforded troops some of the most valuable training since the current maneuvers began on April 26. Particularly essential was the practice in river crossing by both infantry and armored and artillery fighters, for most of whom this was an initial experience.

BARS TESTIMONY OF SMALL BOYS IN DEATH QUIZ

A coroner's jury yesterday held accidental the death of Kathleen Denise O'Donnell, 6 months old, 2623 Seminary avenue, who suffocated in her crib Thursday during a fire believed to have been started on the rear porch of her home by four 3 and 4 year old boys playing with matches. Three were brought to the inquest, but Deputy Coroner Edward Edelstein ruled they were too young to testify. The fourth, Joseph O'Donnell Jr., brother of the victim, is in a hospital recovering from burns suffered in the fire.

JANITOR ADMITS WRITING THREAT TO ROOSEVELT

Louis Sprenzel, 55 years old, former janitor of Avondale elementary school, appeared before Judge William H. Holly in federal District court yesterday to plead guilty to an indictment accusing him of mailing six threatening letters to President Roosevelt. He had pleaded not guilty earlier. J. Albert Woll, United States attorney, asserted that a total of 54 threatening or obscene letters had been traced to the former janitor. Spenzel, who lives at 2727 Belmont avenue, will be sentenced next Friday.

STEEL WORKER ASSESSED $100 FOR HIGH SPEED

James D. Ferrell, 25 years old, Negro, 6109 Calumet avenue, a steel mill worker, was fined $100 and costs by Judge Gibson E. Gorman in Traffic court, where he appeared on his third traffic violation, two of them in one month.

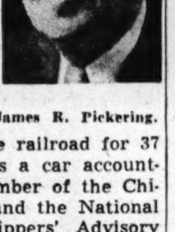
Ferrell, who faces possible loss of his gasoline ration privileges, was arrested April 30 for driving 43 miles an hour in a 20 mile zone. His driver's license showed he had been fined for traffic violations April 7 and last July.

Two second offenders arraigned before Judge Gorman were fined $25 and costs each. They were John Schlamp, 29, of 3751 North Spaulding avenue, for driving 40 miles an hour in a 20 mile zone, and Frank Riggio, 31, 1916 Washburne avenue, for driving 40 miles an hour in a 25 mile zone.

Conviction records of 250 motorists found guilty of speeding recently were referred to rationing boards by Michael F. Mulcahy, metropolitan area director for the office of price administration. Mulcahy said hearings would be conducted by the boards to determine whether the motorists' gasoline rations should be revoked, suspended, or reduced.

J. R. PICKERING, RAIL EXECUTIVE, FUNERAL TODAY

Services for James Roy Pickering, superintendent of transportation for the Rock Island railroad, will be held at 4 o'clock today in the Woodlawn Baptist church. Burial will take place in St. Joseph, Mo. Mr. Pickering, who died Thursday night in St. George's hospital, was 68 years old. He had been associated with the railroad for 37 years, beginning as a car accountant. He was a member of the Chicago Traffic club and the National Association of Shippers' Advisory Boards. He is survived by his widow, Beatrice, of 6450 Kenwood avenue.



James R. Pickering.

SCAN WAR PLANT OUTBREAK FOR SIGNS OF PLOT

Assistant State's Atty. Alexander Napoli and Lt. George Barnes, head of the police labor detail, questioned employés of the Central Pattern and Foundry company, 3737 South Sacramento avenue, yesterday about an attempt made last Tuesday to force them to go on strike. Napoli said he was endeavoring to learn whether the attempt was part of a general conspiracy. The eight strikers who intimidated the war workers were released from county jail yesterday after they posted bail. They will be tried in Jury court on May 26.

MAYOR BRINGS SUBWAY HOPES FROM CAPITAL

Mayor Kelly, back at his desk after two days of conferences with Washington officials on matters affecting the city, said yesterday he found Maj. Gen. Philip B. Fleming, head of the federal works agency, "very sympathetic" to the city's contention that it had done its part in seeking traction unification in Chicago and therefore was entitled to the remainder of the agency's 23 million dollar grant for Chicago subway construction.

The terms of the grant provided it was contingent on traction unification, and Kelly sought to learn the federal attitude in view of the Illinois Commerce commission's rejection of the city's traction unification plan. Fleming, the mayor said, promised a thoro investigation of legal aspects of the situation.

Kelly said John B. Blandford, head of the national housing agency, promised to consider Kelly's request that war housing construction be permitted in Chicago's Negro districts, instead of only in areas nearer war plants.

Name Chicagoan in Bill Charging $11,000 Swindle

Ben Warner, 39 years old, who resides at the Vernon hotel, 758 West Jackson boulevard, was reported indicted yesterday by the grand jury on a charge of having swindled a radio broker and jobber, Julian Carash of Berkeley, Cal., of $11,000. Carash said Warner was to have supplied him with a stock of radios for resale in California. State's attorney's police said Warner told them he lost the money in dice games.

U. S. HELPS LATIN AMERICA WAGE WAR ON DISEASE

Jungles of Guatemala Are Battleground.

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GUATEMALA CITY, C. A., May 10 [By Air Mail].—Thruout middle America, wherever strategic war materials are being gathered and wherever there are projects vital to the war, the United States and its Latin American allies are waging an unceasing and scientific campaign against disease.

In Guatemala's vast and mysterious Peten, where a road is being cut thru the jungle to the rubber tree region, a corps of workers is fighting to banish malaria, to control dysentery and other tropical diseases and treat the rubber tappers who have been bitten by deadly snakes.

From Puerto Barrios on the Gulf of Mexico to San Jose on the Pacific coast these men are fighting to banish disease by eliminating its sources and breeding places. Entire towns have become battle grounds between the forces of disease and those of local government in coöperation with the health and sanitation division of the Institute of Inter-American Affairs.

Agreements were made and plans laid for the work at the Rio de Janeiro conference of Pan-American foreign ministers in January, 1942. Brig. Gen. George C. Dunham of the United States army medical corps was chosen to head the operations. The first health project was launched in Ecuador and the second in Brazil.

All Countries Collaborate.

Now there is hardly a country in Central or South America that has not collaborated in the campaign of health and sanitation. Procedure always is the same.

Dr. Eugene P. Campbell is field director for Central America of IIAA's division of health and sanitation. He holds a commission in the army medical corps. For four years he was on the staff of Walter Reed hospital, Washington, D. C.

The first project in this general area was inaugurated last July 1 at San Miguel [population about 8,000] in El Salvador, which adjoins Guatemala on the south. The town is near a sisal [fiber] producing area and is on the Pan-America highway.

Malaria control may consist of a variety of modes of attack. In the first, the known breeding places surrounding San Miguel were given the oil treatment. Groups of from 5 to 20 workers armed with pressure hand sprays oiled the water surfaces, the overhanging foliage, and other places where mosquitoes might breed and hatch. Most any kind of petroleum will serve the purpose. Diesel oil is preferable. Often these swamp crews use waste oil, such as has been drained from motor crank cases.

Drain Swamp Lands.

For permanent control, engineers survey the area and when possible their project has as its aim the elimination of the swamp. Deep ditches, lined with concrete, carry away the water. The soil of drained swamps is among the richest in the world and there now are many acres of rich truck raising and grazing land in this area as a result of the first year's health and sanitation work.

Another great problem facing the health and sanitation workers and their Centrol American allies is the menace of poisonous snakes in the jungle areas where the search is being pressed for rubber, quinine, and fibers.

The swamp rattlesnake and the fer-de-lance, a thin moccasin type reptile, cause the most deaths. Antivenum prepared from the secretions of North American snakes is ineffective here. Local snakes must be captured, therefore, and sent alive to laboratories in the United States. Venom also is being produced in Costa Rica and Honduras.

"The health and sanitation program is giving the health departments of many countries an opportunity to get done a great many things they have wanted to do," said Dr. Campbell.

"In post war retrospect," says Gen. Dunham, "the program should represent one of the notable achievements of friendship and unity among the Americas in these crucial years."

WAR MIGRATIONS HELD CAUSE OF SYPHILIS SPREAD

Control of venereal diseases is becoming a more acute problem because of the migrations of war time military and civilian populations, Dr. A. J. Aselmeyer, veneral disease control officer of the United States public health service, warned the war conference of the Illinois Public Health association yesterday in the La Salle hotel. Dr. Aselmeyer said the "boomtown conditions" of the times increased the hazards of syphilis and gonorrhea, citing figures from Great Britain, where he said "veneral diseases have increased 70 per cent since the onset of war."

He praised the Illinois regulations calculated to end the diseases, declared sulfathiazole was a specific remedy for gonorrhea and said the courses of treatment set up in nine Illinois mental hospitals for radical medication in syphilis would save the patients thus treated from danger of insanity.

BREWER DIES OF INJURY.

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER—CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE

The Inquiring Camera Girl

BY FREIDA ZYLSTRA.

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune. Today's question was submitted by Chester Doonan, 3020 Broad street.]

THE QUESTION.

What incidents have occurred as a result of being a twin?

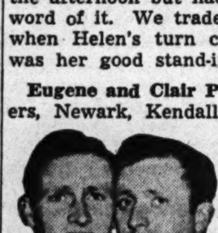
WHERE ASKED.

Zephyr Twin club, Morrison hotel.

THE ANSWERS.

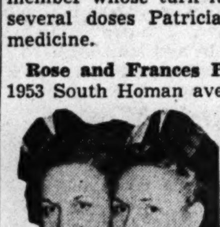
Ellen and Erika Baumann, beauty operators, 1215 East 52d street — We had operations for appendicitis a few days apart, Ellen had four stitches and Erika had five. Just before Erika was to leave the hospital we'd exchanged beds. When the doctor examined "Ellen" he couldn't account for the extra stitch.

Helen and Florence Durak, students, 2715 North Lawndale avenue — We had to memorize many lines from Shakespeare. It was easy for Florence, who recited her part well. Helen had to recite in the afternoon but hadn't learned a word of it. We traded classes and when Helen's turn came Florence was her good stand-in.



Eugene and Clair Peterson, farmers, Newark, Kendall county—One evening Eugene skated four different times with a girl he had met at the rink. She thought she was skating with his brother, Clair, and she kept asking about Eugene, who was enjoying it so much he didn't tell her about her mistake.

June and Patricia Mead, students, 1536 Lincoln street, North Chicago — We were supposed to be taking the same medicine but at different times. Patricia would take her dose in the morning and June would have hers at night. Our mother couldn't remember whose turn it was and for several doses Patricia took June's medicine.



Rose and Frances Pesek, typists, 1953 South Homan avenue—Frances had broken her arm and was wearing a sling. In our spare time we delivered messages from our office to a bank building. One day two policemen stopped Rose in the bank and asked why she wore a sling every morning and removed it in the afternoon.

Raymond and Clarence Wentink, welders, 703 Roscoe street — When we were younger Clarence was always getting into a neighborhood scrap and Raymond never knew when it was safe for him to venture out. Every time he did it seemed one of the kids had a quarrel to finish. Raymond was always taking beatings for Clarence.

$558,000 GRANT FOR BUILDING AT GREAT LAKES

An allocation of $558,000 for construction work at Great Lakes Naval Training station has been made by the navy department in Washington, D. C., it was announced yesterday. The bulk, $350,000, will be spent for grading drill fields, creating a parking area, and constructing sidewalks and a retaining wall. Seven anti-aircraft trainer buildings will be erected at a cost of $175,000; $25,000 will be spent for fire escapes, and $8,000 for a regimental mailroom. In addition, $275,000 was earmarked for three steel runways for the air technical training school at Glenview and $8,302 for a loudspeaker system at the airport.

An increase of $919,470 in the appropriation for Great Lakes, recommended in Washington yesterday by the house naval affairs committee, would be used to meet increased operating costs caused by expansion, officers of the 9th naval district said. The house committee asked a total of $5,950,000.

FLYING CREWS FUSED IN HARD DESERT COURSE

Training Laboratory Weeds Out Weak.

(The following is another story in a series by Mr. Trohan, who is making a tour of army camps thruout the United States.)

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Davis Monthan Field, Tucson, Ariz., May 14.—Under vaulted blue skies in this sun baked area is the home of the army's heavy bomber training laboratory. Pilots, co-pilots, bombardiers, gunners, navigators, radio operators, and aircraft engineers are trained at other fields. Here they are fused into crews which continue together until death or injury.

For 30 days the men train here in units to master coördination so vital to victory in the air. The object is to obtain such a high degree of coördination that every man knows the reactions and abilities of his fellow crew members. Each knows what he can expect from the others so that the teamwork learned here means life and death in war in the sky.

Crews practice in all sorts of situations. The huge planes are flown with one of the four motors shut off and with all combinations of two motors shut off. They take long and short hops by day and night in all kinds of weather. After laboratory work here the fused crews go to other fields for squadron flying for another 30 days.

Prepared for Real Thing.

At still another field they get 30 days of group flying. Then they are ready for the long hop to the battle fronts. The crews train here in the huge B-24 Liberator bombers. The planes are in the air 18 hours a day, seven days a week. Crews fly in hour shifts.

The crews consist of a pilot, bombardier, navigator, radio operator, engineer, and armor gunners. The first three are officers. It is up to the pilot to see that his crew functions smoothly. Now and then one man does not fit into the group. He may be shifted to another crew or sent to another base for different work.

Various ground training devices have been adopted and perfected here. They are in use almost 24 hours a day. Navigators are training in miniature planetariums where stars sweep overhead and movies show the ground below. This also gives training for the bombardier.

Learn Weapons Thoroly.

Turrets and waist guns are set up in other classrooms, where gunners familiarize themselves with every detail of their weapons. Gunners practice fighting German and Jap planes thru movies. The novice gunner fires a photo cell gun and must lead the plane with a dot of light on the screen. If he fires before the plane is 600 yards in range, a bell rings. When he fires at the plane while it is in range the sound track carries the rat-tat-tat of machine gun bursts.

Gunners also are given practice in firing .50 caliber machine guns and 37 mm. turret guns at a range where silhouettes of enemy planes shuttle back and forth on a track. Valuable training is given by use of clay pigeons fired upon by shotguns adapted to 37 mm. gun turrets fixed in trucks.

MEET THURSDAY TO PLAN UNITED FUND CAMPAIGN

Plans to unite in a single campaign the many separate drives usually held in metropolitan Chicago to raise community funds and funds for war services will be shaped at a meeting of Chicago and suburban civic leaders next Thursday. A primary purpose is to eliminate duplicate solicitations.

The united campaign, scheduled for next fall, will be conducted under the name the Community and War Fund of Metropolitan Chicago, Inc.

Invitations have been sent to more than 500 civic leaders in 125 suburban communities in Cook, Du Page, and Lake counties to attend the Thursday meeting at 3:30 p. m. in the Home Service auditorium, Peoples Gas building.

Paul S. Russell, vice president of the Harris Trust and Savings bank, will preside. Speakers will be Aubrey H. Mellinger, president of the telephone company and president of the new Community and War fund; Elmer T. Stevens, president of Charles A. Stevens & Co.; Edward L. Ryerson, president of the Inland Steel company, and Lynn A. Williams, president of the Evanston War Chest.

Expects All County Tax Bills in Mail by June 1

William J. Lake, chief clerk in the office of County Treasurer Victor L. Schlaeger, said yesterday that 110,000 tax bills for 1942 had been mailed to Chicagoans and that all such bills would be mailed before June 1. The penalty date for all of personal property levies and half the real estate taxes will be July 1.

REVEALS STALIN SAID HE WOULD ASSIST U. S. REDS

Teacher Tells Court of 1926 Interview.

New York, May 14 [Special].—Dictator Stalin of Russia said in a 1926 interview that Russia would not hesitate to give financial aid to American communists "if we thought it might accomplish something of value," Dr. Jerome Davis, former president of the American Federation of Teachers, testified today before State Supreme Court Justice John F. Carew and a jury.

He appeared in his $150,000 libel suit against the Curtis Publishing company and Benjamin Stolberg.

Saw Czarist Russia in '16.

Dr. Davis, who charges he was libeled by being called a "Communist and a Stalinist," testified that he obtained the 1926 interview as a newspaper reporter. He testified that when he asked Stalin if he was financing American communists, the Russian leader answered:

"We are not at the moment . . . but we would not hesitate to do so if we thought it might accomplish something of value."

Mention of the interview came during an examination of Davis by his attorney, Arthur Garfield Hays. He told of his first acquaintance with czarist Russia in Y. M. C. A. war work in 1916.

Testifies on Character.

During the day his testimony was interrupted to permit Judge Charles E. Clark of the United States Circuit court and former dean of Yale law school, to testify regarding Davis' character and opinions. He said he had known Davis 18 years and never had heard him express communist views. He said he believed Davis' views were nearer those of President Roosevelt than those of Stalin.

Davis' suit is based on an article by Stolberg in the Saturday Evening Post of Sept. 2, 1938.

U. OF C. ENROLLS ARMY CLASSES IN METEOROLOGY

An army class in advanced meteorology and another in basic premeteorology will be enrolled today at the University of Chicago. The new arrivals are in command of Maj. W. H. Starbuck, air force officer, and they will be quartered in International House.

A course in area and languages, preparing for administration of occupied countries, was started by two military groups earlier this week. It is the first such training to be given in the 6th service command.

Other army training programs at the university include courses in electronics and ultra-high frequency radio, medical laboratory administration, and basic engineering. Four classes will be enrolled in weather, with the arrival of the two new meteorological units today.

Missing Officer Reported a Prisoner of Japanese

Lt. Howard A. Martin, 23 years old, 7630 Paxton avenue, who was reported missing after the fall of the Philippines, is a Japanese prisoner of war, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood Martin, were informed yesterday by the war department. Lt. Martin was graduated from Morgan Park Military academy and attended the University of Kansas before he enlisted May 20, 1941. He has a brother, Lt. Irwin Martin, who is stationed at Fort Benning, Ga.

LEGION OUSTER DEMANDED OVER LEWIS APOLOGY

Waring Calls for Disciplinary Move.

Jacksonville, Fla., May 14 (AP).—The Pennsylvania Legion post which apologized to John L. Lewis must be ousted or Roane Waring will resign as national commander of the American Legion, he declared last night in an address to the Florida state Legion convention.

The Pennsylvania post, South Fork No. 653, adopted resolutions recently apologizing to Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, for a denunciation by Waring.

Waring said he was in favor of unionism—"the kind that appeals to honest, patriotic, American citizens, not the ilk led by John L. Lewis."

Inquiry Committee Named.

Daniel C. Hartbauer, Pennsylvania Legion commander, said in Philadelphia today that he had appointed a committee composed of six Pennsylvania Legionnaires to hold an inquiry at the South Fork post in the next 10 days.

"The South Fork post did not present its protest thru the proper Legion channels," Hartbauer said.

"If the investigating committee finds that the post has been negligent, a trial jury will be appointed and the procedure will be much the same as that in any civil court."

Backers Angry, Says Adjutant.

Joseph Nedelander, adjutant of the post, had said backers of the resolution were angry because of a statement by Waring in Indianapolis, Ind., in which he asserted Lewis' recent "no trespassing" order to members of the United Mine Workers was "the sorriest spectacle that a nation at war ever faced."

The post, many of whose members are miners, said in its resolution "We apologize to Mr. Lewis and to the nation for our part in placing Waring in office."

"We have received letters and messages from other posts backing our stand in this matter," said Nedelander.

SIX BUILDING AGENTS ARE NOTIFIED TO STOP BETTING ON PREMISES

Agents of six buildings listed as the sites of reputed handbooks in almost a score of cases were warned yesterday by Judge Oscar S. Caplan in South State Street court that they would face prosecution under the city code if they did not stop gambling on the premises.

The agents and the buildings they represent are Thomas Ryan, 48 North Wells street; Ferdinand Peck, 732 South Wabash avenue; Bernard Callmer, 213 North La Salle street; Joseph Dillon, 29 East Roosevelt road; Nils Reiberg, 415 South Clark street, and Paul Ziehlke, 341 South Clark street.

Judge Caplan imposed fines ranging from $5 to $50 and costs on 27 defendants, several of whom received double assessments as a result of having been seized in second raids on the same handbooks. Mrs. Marie Rinella, 29 years old, 515 Addison street, arrested as a sheet writer, was fined $50 and costs when she said her husband, Joseph, 50, charged with operating a handbook, was too ill to appear. The charge against Rinella was dismissed.

SUPREME COURT DENIES BORRELLI APPEAL REVIEW

The Illinois Supreme court yesterday denied a petition for a rehearing of an appeal filed on behalf of Bruce Borrelli, son of Municipal Judge Francis Borrelli, who was fined $1,000 and sentenced to two years in the county jail after his conviction in two slugging cases.

His attorney, William Scott Stewart, appealed to the Supreme court before he asked the appellate court to review the case, on the ground Borrelli's conviction involved a constitutional question. The court, in denying the appeal earlier, ruled no constitutional issue was involved.

Borrelli, who is at liberty on a $5,000 bond pending a review in the appellate court, was convicted of assaulting company employés in a rump strike while he was employed by the company, and also of assaulting a competitor of the express company.

SPLIT FROM AFL IS THREATENED BY MACHINISTS

Report Members Voted Power to Board.

A vast majority of the 25,000 members of the International Association of Machinists in the Chicago area have voted the executive board of the international the right to withdraw from and cease paying per capita tax to the American Federation of Labor, it was learned last night.

Joseph W. Ramsey, regional organizations director of the union, said that the indications were that the 625,000 members of the union thruout the country had voted overwhelmingly to do the same. All the votes have been forwarded to the international office of the union and are being counted there now, he said.

Ballot Taken in April.

The balloting took place during April and was the result of an action taken by the internationl executive board during March, when an impasse was reached between the IAM and the AFL executive board over the AFL refusal to settle jurisdictional disputes between the IAM and other international unions affiliated with the AFL.

Every member of the international union, which is the third largest in the AFL group, was sent a referendum ballot to vote power to withdraw or stay with the AFL, Ramsey said. Results of the vote probably will be made known when the executive board meets in Washington, D. C., next week.

Friction with Carpenters.

Most of the friction has been with the International Brotherhood of Carpenters, headed by William L. Hutcheson, first vice president of the AFL, Ramsey said. The carpenters' unions have jurisdiction over millwrights, who for many years have been taking over the work of moving and placing machinery. This work was granted to the IAM by the AFL many years ago, Ramsey maintained.

Yesterday the war labor board certified one jurisdictional dispute between the two organizations at the Granite City Steel company, Granite City, Madison county. The board has promised to begin hearings next week, Ramsey said.

State Officials to Visit Elwood Ordnance Plant

Gov. Dwight H. Green, Lt. Gov. Hugh W. Cross, other state officials and perhaps the entire state senate will be luncheon guests at the Elwood ordnance plant in Will county next Thursday. State Sen. Richard J. Barr [R., Joliet] will be host. It is expected the governor also will inspect the Kankakee ordnance plant and Stateville prison.

'I'M AMERICAN' RALLY EXPECTED TO DRAW 130,000

Gen. Arnold Speaker at Soldiers' Field.

A crowd of more than 130,000 persons is expected to pack Soldier's field tomorrow in celebration of "I Am an American" day. The allied victory in Africa will be observed as part of the colorful program. The program starts at 2 p. m.

Bing Crosby, motion picture actor, will serve as master of ceremonies. Other Hollywood celebrities scheduled to participate are Paulette Goddard, John Garfield, Dinah Shore, Erich von Stroheim, Capt. Gene Raymond, and Georgie Price. Music will be furnished by Griff Williams and his orchestra; Lieut. Comdr. Eddy Peabody and his navy band, and Col. Armin Hand and his Legion band.

The address of the day will be delivered by Gen. Henry H. Arnold, chief of the army air force.

COUNTY FAVORS TAX SALE BILL IN LEGISLATURE

The legislative committee of the county board yesterday indorsed for passage by the Illinois legislature the so-called scavenger bill which would make mandatory the foreclosure of real estate after 10 years of tax delinquency.

"Foreclosure on property would be conducted as in the past, with two exceptions," said Newton Farr, chairman of a committee of civic organizations indorsing the bill. "The property would be sold at auction instead of for the amount of taxes due, and title to the property would be issued after the county board approves the sale."

A previous bill was revised because representatives of local taxing districts objected to the inclusion of property against which delinquent special assessments were held. The revised bill operates to foreclose property only for the failure to pay general taxes.

America's Roads to Victory are boulevards of steel and stamina

"Faster, faster," is wartime America's cry to the railroads. Speed the troop trains! Speed the supply and munitions trains! Speed the critical materials to the factories!

It's a challenge the railroads are taking in stride. They're coming through on every assignment, even though their need today is more new equipment than is available under existing priorities.

The railroads are mastering war traffic problems because they were ready with a modern plant that, in recent years, had been utilized to only half its capacity.

The Milwaukee Road, for example, prepared with new power as well as new freight and passenger cars, in the decade before war struck. It improved more than 2,000 miles of track with heavier rail and new ballast. It rebuilt over 80,000 lineal feet of bridges. It reduced curvatures to permit faster schedules . . . and 500 grade crossings were eliminated or provided with automatic protection.

These improvements, plus heavier tonnage on both cars and trains, account for The Milwaukee Road's present ability to double its load. Aided by the co-operation of business and government shippers, its 35,000 loyal, determined employees are ably handling their tremendous responsibilities.

The Milwaukee Road and the other railroads constitute one of our vital war industries.

Shoe Rationing Brings Women Down to Earth

Shoe rationing has brought the American woman down to earth, or at least much closer to it than she used to be. She has traded her high heeled fancy footgear for low heeled walking shoes. She thinks of fit and quality before price now and considers spending her No. 17 coupon more important than spending her money.

The consequence has been that, while unit sales may be down because of rationing, dollar sales match those during days of greater volume. As one department store executive said yesterday: "The basement trade has gone to the medium price section, and the medium price customers have gone upstairs."

Children's shoe sales also show the extra care mothers exercise in fit and quality with a willingness to pay more to insure durability.

Men's shoe sales are off 30 per cent, one representative of a nationwide chain of 600 stores said yesterday. Other shoe merchants agreed, but said while the military services are taking younger customers, older men are buying higher quality shoes, thus partly replacing the business from a dollar angle.

The manager of a store noted for walking shoes said new customers had kept his trade at a normal level since rationing. Women are buying 14/8 and 16/8 heels [an eighth of an inch is the unit of measure in the trade] and demanding comfort and durability, he said.

An every day "sales drama" is the new customer walking in on high heels and walking out in a pair of sturdy oxfords, he said.

Women are demanding all of the point free play shoes they can find. Some try to convince salesmen any style is a "play" shoe. Summer shoe sales are slow, with women buying some whites but men preferring dark colors. Chilly weather may be to blame, dealers say, and sales may increase after coupon 17 expires June 15, depending on the length of time the new coupon must serve.

The heavy before and after rationing buying is tapering off to normal, permitting adjustments in the replacement problem.

Colors are limited, but a woman who loves frivolous shoes isn't discouraged easily and some husbands' coupons go for whatever fancy styles are still available.

Exotic Colors Add to Appeal of New Aprons

BY REA SEEGER.

Nicer and newer aprons are arriving daily! After the first showing weeks ago the call for aprons has increased to break all existing records for sales. New ideas keep the shopping interest at fever pitch, for gay colors and sturdy materials mark the latest showings.

The Pan-American influence is featured in bold, bright colored cottons, stripes in horizontal formation of beige, copper, orange, red, yellow, biting shades of blue and green, and all the exotic color combinations usually seen in jungle prints.

One bright new idea is a bathing apron, a white cotton that resists water and is tied on with a cotton cord instead of the usual tie sash effect. Scattered all over the apron are gay little printed designs, a duck, train, cat, marionette scene, and similar primer stuff. Under each illustration is the French word and the American translation. The general idea is that when children become bored with soap bubble fun or enraged over too complete an ear inspection, they can be controled with a beginner's lesson in French.

Frilly, crisp organdy aprons are legion, trimmed with ruffles, rick-rack braid, gay colored pipings, and appliqued floral designs. There are all kinds of pastel tinted aprons in pale blue, yellow, green, pink, and violet. There are business-like aprons with bibs and shoulder straps, and with a deep pocket at the side. One extremely workworthy apron is made of beige colored monk's cloth [looks like homespun cotton], and altho it has no bib, there's a gargantuan pocket of striped cotton big enough to hold all the carpenter tools needed for a repair job around the house.

The gay chintz aprons are more effective than ever; big, small, and medium floral patterns are sprinkled over eggshell, pink, blue, yellow, green, and white backgrounds. The contrast is usually rick-rack braid or the bias band edging that runs around the entire apron. The valley lily apron is a beauty, four shades of spring green with the lilies and leaves in a realistic design in white.

W-G-N Air Theater Presents Program for Two Pianos Tonight

Henry Weber and Leon Benditsky will be featured in a special arrangement of "Caprice Viennois" for two pianos on the Chicago Theater of the Air presentation over W-G-N, W59C and the coast to coast Mutual Broadcasting system from 8 to 9 o'clock tonight.

Marion Claire and Attilio Baggiore, vocal soloists, the orchestra, and chorus also will contribute to this number, which will be part of a Viennese medley. Miss Claire also is to sing "Vienna, City of Dreams," as part of this feature.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE TRIBUNE, is to be the speaker.

Miss Claire also is to sing Schubert's "Ave Marie," and with Baggiore the "Miserere" from Verdi's "Il Trovatore." Baggiore will sing "Romance de Nadir" from Bizet's "Pearl Fishers." The musical program will be woven into a dramatized story titled "Mirror of Immortality," written by Jack La Fandre.

Guest at Luncheon Today

Letter to the Boss.

"Dear Lady Boss: Do you remember about a year ago when your boss retired and his successor did not seek you as a secretary? It looked for a while as tho you might have to come out into the office with the rest of the girls doing stenographic work which—for you —would have been quite a demotion.

"Do you remember how the firm came to the rescue and created a job for you? We girls thought it was pretty nice of them and we hoped you would, too. We felt it would be swell working for you since you knew all of us so well and knew that we were efficient and sincere in our jobs. We never dreamed you would reward our firm's loyalty to you by treating us in such a way that it has retarded our efforts to give our employer a fair return for the salary he pays us.

"What has happened to you, Lady Boss? What has changed you? The other day when one of the girls became ill, you weren't kind at all to her. It shocked me. I had always thought of you as a woman who would try to help some one sick or troubled.

"You know, Lady Boss, not one of us resented you in the beginning. We did our work conscientiously and you know we did. We were genuinely glad to have you. Yet you have turned into a sort of policewoman in our midst. Why? Why?

"Looky-here, Lady Boss. Could you change back into the same nice person you were before you became our boss? We wouldn't take advantage of you and we'd all be heaps happier."—A.

From the Files.

He was engaging a new stenographer.

"Chew gum?" he asked.
"No, sir."
"Use slang?"
"No, sir."
"Roll your eyes at salesmen?"
"No, sir."
"Know how to spell 'cat'?"
"Yes, sir."

Then suddenly she took a hand and began.

"Smoke cheap cigars while dictating?"
"Why-er-no."
"Bang things around on your desk when business is bad?"
"N-never."
"Raise the roof when things go bad at home?"
"No, indeed."
"Know enough to appreciate a good stenographer when you get one?"
"I-I think so."
"All right, you're accepted. When do you want me to go to work?"

Surprise, Surprise.

Nosey Parker, that rascally gentleman, has agreed to take time from his research for this column to autograph copies of the White Collar Girl Notebook. All mail orders postmarked Saturday, May 15, or Sunday, May 16, will be autographed and he even goes so far as to say that he will write the first name—"Mary" . . . "Jane" . . . or what have you. The notebooks are 18 cents by mail, ordered from the Tribune Public Service, 1 South Dearborn, or Tribune Tower.

Illinois Voters League Honors Mrs. Ramsey

BY IRENE STEYSKAL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 14.—The 22d convention of the Illinois League of Women Voters found a means today at the closing session to circumvent Mrs. W. W. Ramsey of Chicago in her persistent refusal to accept the office of state president. The delegates voted her into an honorary presidency, the first ever conferred in the league's history.

Mrs. Ramsey was the special guest at a luncheon, at the Leland hotel, over which Mrs. Matthew P. Gaffney of Winnetka, executive vice president and war service chairman, presided.

Mrs. Ramsey, who is known as "the mother of permanent registration in Illinois," was the league's persevering leader in its long campaign and when Chicago set up the new method Mrs. Ramsey was called upon as consultant on proper materials for putting the system into effect.

The slate presented by the nominating committee, of which Mrs. Ralph B. Treadway was chairman, was carried in entirety. Mrs. Florence Fifer Bohrer of Bloomington was reëlected for a second two year term as president.

Daughter of former Gov. [Private Joe] Fifer of Civil war fame, Mrs. Bohrer is the only woman ever to have been elected to the Illinois senate, where she served for eight years.

Mrs. Gaffney, who is prominently identified with the league's programs and in Chicago, also, with the juvenile protective association's work for underprivileged children, was reëlected vice president. Mrs. Philip Ringer, Highland Park, who was reëlected, and Mrs. Clifton M. Utley, who has a long record of administrative offices in the state league, completed the trio of vice presidents.

Mrs. George Z. Barnes, Peoria, was returned as secretary, and Mrs. Frank Sulzberger, Chicago, was elected treasurer. Three directors were elected: Mrs. Frank P. Hixon, Lake Forest, who is chairman of the advisory board for the state reformatory for women in Dwight; Miss Leslie Koempel, Rockford, and Mrs. Carl Milam, Evanston.

Mrs. Edward D. Nix of Winnetka, chairman of the economic welfare department, focused the convention's attention on price control problems. Compliance with price control, she asserted, was a paramount war time responsibility evolving upon every individual and community.

"Every local league that has worked during the year on anti-inflationary programs," Mrs. Nix said, "faces an immediate challenge to get under way in its community an aggressive educational drive for compliance of buyer and seller with the OPA program of price control."

A resolution was passed to offer to the regional office of price administration the services of the Illinois league toward effecting this end.

The delegates were applauded by Mrs. Bohrer in her closing talk for their "courage" in setting the league to the "prodigious task" of bringing about a constitutional convention in Illinois. This was the objective designated by the convention for over-all emphasis in league activity at a lively session last night.

Two Weddings Today Recall Pre-War Days

The most unusual aspects of two large weddings planned for this May Saturday afternoon is that they are more like pre-war weddings than most that have been taking place recently, and each bridegroom will be in conventional cutaway instead of an army or navy uniform.

At 4:30 p. m. in the Church of the Holy Spirit, Lake Forest, Miss Anne Boswell, daughter of Mrs. Nicholas Starosselsky, will be married to Jack Hampton Monroe, son of the Walter D. Monroes, of Wilmette.

At the same hour in Winnetka's Christ church, Miss Josephine Mary Wallace, daughter of Walter F. Wallace, will become the bride of Richard Wood KixMiller. The wedding will be held in the church proper, and not in the chapel where services have been held during the cold weather months to conserve fuel.

Each bride will have a full retinue of attendants. Miss Boswell, who will be given in marriage by Mr. Starosselsky, will have her cousin, Mrs. Stewart Fowler Forshay of Greenwich, Conn., for her matron of honor. The bridesmaids will be the bridegroom's sister, Miss Joan Monroe, Miss Lana Jelke, Miss Mildred Bunn of Springfield, Ill., who attended Dobbs Ferry and Finch Junior college with Miss Boswell, and Mrs. William H. Mitchell Jr. [Modrea Mullen], who with Mr. Mitchell is here from his ferry command post in Miami, Fla.

Mr. Monroe Jr. will be his brother's best man, and ushers will be Mr. Forshay, the bride's cousin, Lt. Walter Rodiger Jr., of the army air forces; James McCarty III., Thomas Fortune, Robert Postell, and Charles Armour.

The bride's grandmothers, Mrs. Caswell Alan Sharpe, who is at the Deerpath Inn, and Mrs. Lewis Boswell of Quincy, Ill.; the senior Mr. and Mrs. Rodiger of Greenwich, Conn., and another uncle and aunt of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Wilcox, also of Quincy, will be present at the wedding and reception following in the Starosselsky home in Lake Forest. After a two weeks' wedding trip, Mr. Monroe and his bride will be at home on the near north side.

Miss Wallace is to wear the handsome wedding frock worn by her sister, the late Mrs. W. Sanger Hinchman. Her two brothers, Lt. Wallace Jr., of the army, who is stationed in Texas, and Lt. John Wallace of the army air forces, who is stationed in Washington, D. C., have returned to act as ushers.

Mrs. William Darrow, as matron of honor, and Miss Jean KixMiller, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Priscilla Blackett, Mrs. Lester Tibbals of New York, the former Christina Freeman of Winnetka; and Mrs. James Stanton, will attend the bride.

Gordon Kiddoo, a Cornell student, will be best man. The other ushers are Robert Blackburn, Edward Eisenhart of Rochester, N. Y., and Washington, D. C., and James Hurd, who is replacing Ensign Tibbals.

The Rev. E. Ashley Gerhard will read the service, and a reception will follow at the Indian Hill club. Mrs. Harry E. Miller of New York is here for her daughter's marriage. Mr. KixMiller, who is in the office of the rubber director, and his bride will live in Washington. He is the son of the William Kixmillers of Wilmette.

Mrs. Conrad B. Shane and her daughter, Mrs. James Ross Eustis, have returned from Boston, Mass., where Miss Helen Irene Shane and Ensign Stuart Winslow Condon, United States coast guard reserve, were married on May 8. Mrs. Eustis was her sister's only attendant, and Eugene Condon served as best man for his brother. The two young men are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard H. Condon of Rosindale, Mass.

University Women.

The Chicago branch of the American Association of University of Women will have its annual meeting and election of officers at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the Fine Arts building.

Women in War Work

—By Kate Massee—

A neatly mimeographed report, issued this week by the Chicago unit of the American Women's Voluntary Services, tells in 11 pages the story of the organization's activities here since its founding, last Sept. 17, to the end of its first six months on March 17.

The AWVS was organized to uphold the Constitution, to coöperate with other social and governmental organizations, to help women be self-sufficient and realize their responsibility to the community, and to assist them in giving time to the war. Its report shows it has done well in all four fields.

The AWVS' membership has increased steadily. It totaled 4,500 on March 17 and now is near 5,000. AWVS members are contributing their services to almost every phase of the war program.

Mrs. Watson McLallen is chairman of the Chicago units of the AWVS. In addition to the Chicago office, at 162 North La Salle street, there are in this area a South Central unit, headed by Mrs. Robert A. Cole; a Y. W. C. A. unit, of which Miss Gloria Coddington is chairman; a Villa Park unit, led by Mrs. Chidlow, and a Chinese unit.

Mrs. Watson McLallen.

A junior group of the organization has been organized under the chairmanship of Miss Mary Louise Laird. It sells stamps and bonds, collects scrap, and makes scrap books for service men and hospitals.

On May 24, 25, and 26, AWVS members will attend the first big AWVS convention to be held since their organization. It will be in New York City, and the two delegates, Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, state chairman, and Mrs. McLallen, will be accompanied by nearly 15 other members.

In their community service project, 2,000 volunteers served in the six month period, working on rationing boards, in selective service offices, for social service organizations, and on special projects. Mrs. E. A. Wales and Mrs. Daniel F. Wigren head this project.

Under the chairmanship of Mrs. Albe K. Amburgh, with Mrs. C. D. Lowry Jr. as vice chairman, classes in air raid precaution, map reading, physical fitness, first aid, motor mechanics, Portuguese and Spanish languages, and many others have been conducted.

The AWVS motor corps, under Mrs. Robert Bender, has driven a total of 35,604 miles in the six month period, transporting army and navy personnel, WAVES, and WAACs, coast guardsmen, and treasury department representatives on official business.

Another important AWVS group is the war stamps and bonds department, which function under the chairmanship of Miss Natalie Taylor. From Nov. 14 until April 1, this group sponsored activities which disposed of stamps and bonds totaling $4,500,000.

In the first six months, the organization's public relations has been under the direction of Miss Frieda Foltz, who compiled the report with the aid of Miss Ruth Watts. A series of radio programs, under the chairmanship of Mrs. William Wolf, presented various phases of the AWVS' activities to the listening public.

A lounge for WAACs, WAVES, and army and navy nurses, donated by the Bismarck hotel, was furnished with the aid of the AWVS. Mrs. Smith Christopher is its chairman. The sewing division, of which Mrs. George Fortelka is chairman, assisted by Mrs. Fred Taxon, sews, crochets afghans, and mends for navy recruits at Tower and Abbott halls.

[This department reports on women's war activities and answers questions regarding such activities.]

BY JUDITH CASS.

MANY of the season's prospective debutantes will be gathered at 1 p. m. today at the Racquet club, where Mrs. Wayne Wills is entertaining at luncheon for one of their number, Miss Jane Ellen McKenna. The elder daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Morgan McKenna of East Schiller street will be graduated this spring from the Girls' Latin school and will go east to school in the fall. She has a sister, Ruth, who also attends the Girls' Latin school, and two brothers, Charles and David.

In addition to the McKenna sisters, some of the young guests who will gather at the club today are Miss Margot Reynolds, Miss Mary Bachmann, Miss Martha Ashby, Miss Graziella Polacco, Miss Nancy Evans, Miss Ruth Henderson, Miss June Edelstone, Miss Alice Claghorne, Miss Shirley Hixon, Miss Peggy Hill, Miss Dorothy June Conover, Miss Anamary Evans, Miss Nancy Kochs, Miss Nancy Nock, and Miss Eugenie Steuer. Lunching at a nearby table will be Mrs. Wills, Mrs. McKenna, and the former's daughter and daughter-in-law, Mrs. Ralph W. Applegate and Mrs. Jere Patterson.

Madonna Center Benefit Being Held Tomorrow.

The grand ballroom of the Drake hotel will be filled with guests tomorrow for a spring benefit breakfast for Madonna Center, the settlement house on South Loomis street. The 1 p. m. party replaces a dinner-dance which the board traditionally gives. Mrs. Harry L. Drake is in charge of arrangements. Among those with reservations are the Junior James E. Baggots, Mrs. D. Mark Cummings, the Stuyvesant Peabodys, Mrs. Joseph M. Cudahy, Mrs. Charles F. Spaulding, the Britton I. Budds, and Mrs. Charles D. King.

The Walter F. Dillinghams' Chicago friends are looking forward to a brief reunion with them on Tuesday. The Dillinghams now are in San Francisco, having flown by bomber from their home in Hawaii. They will spend the day in Chicago on Tuesday, en route to Washington, D. C., as guests of the John Alden Carpenters, who will give a dinner party for them that night.

Engagement of Jean Hill to Ensign Is Announced.

At a dinner party last night at the Chicago Athletic association to celebrate the birthday of their daughter, Peggy, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd W. Hill of Lake Shore drive announced the engagement of another daughter Jean, to Ensign James S. Fraser Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Fraser of Shaker Heights, O.

Miss Hill was graduated from the Francis W. Parker school and attended Bennett Junior college. Ensign Fraser was graduated from Downing college at Cambridge university in England in 1936 and was commissioned in the naval reserve last September. He is stationed in Chicago. Miss Peggy Hill is a senior at the Girls' Latin school.

Miss Mary Jane Wegg and her sister, Miss Margery Ann Wegg, will be leaving for Topeka, Kas., on May 26 for the marriage on the 29th of Miss Margery Wegg and Lt. John Frederick Tompkins Jr. of the army air forces, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tompkins of Rice Lake, Wis. The bride-to-be is a daughter of Frederick J. Wegg. He will not be going west for the ceremony, nor will the Misses Wegg's other sister, Mrs. Robert D. Tarjan [Constance Wegg].

Miss Wegg attended the Convent of the Sacred Heart in Chicago and the University of Wisconsin, from which Lt. Tompkins was graduated. He was in business in Chicago for several years before enlisting. Lt. Tompkins and his fiancée, who has been working at the Chicago service men's centers, will live in Topeka.

Mount Holyoke Club Has Annual Meeting Today.

The theme of the annual meeting of the Chicago Mount Holyoke club today at the Woman's Athletic club will be "Reunion in Chicago." Because of the war, the college's alumnae association has agreed to hold regional reunions instead of the customary reunion of classes on the campus in South Hadley, Mass., at commencement time. Mrs. L. W. Winship, president of the Chicago club, is in charge of the reunion, assisted by Mrs. A. W. Consoer of Park Ridge, president of the association. Alumnae within a 50 mile range have been invited to the meeting, which will start at 11 a. m.

The Mills College Alumnae club will entertain at luncheon today at Carson Pirie Scott & Co.'s tea room for Dr. Lynn Townsend White Jr., president elect of the college. Dr. White, who has been a professor of history at Leland Stanford university for three years, is the author of many books on medieval history. Before the luncheon new officers will be elected in a short business meeting.

Mrs. Willard N. Boyden and Mrs. Russell Heitman are co-chairmen of the annual rummage sale of the Lake Forest Y. W. C. A. to be held all day today at the Y in Lake Forest's market square. Among the women who have been helping with the event are Mrs. M. Dutton Morehouse, Mrs. Calvin Gartley, Mrs. Edwin Roseman, Mrs. William Youngren, Mrs. William S. North, Mrs. Lawrence Poole, Mrs. Frank Read, Mrs. Calvin Trowbridge, and Mrs. Edward Arpee.

Reunion Picnic to Be Held at Arden Shore.

Arden Shore board members will be dropping in tomorrow at the camp for a reunion picnic to which former campers will be returning. The informal gathering will replace the traditional all day festivities

Chronological Error.

Lady of the tinted locks
And cheeks more red than rose
And thyroid slenderness that mocks
At age, you may suppose
That all your unacknowledged years
Go unsuspected by your peers;
Whereas these spurious charms create
An interest in your natal date,
A curious speculation
On your anachronistic state
Of lacquered preservation.
—Mary Winter.

The Gentle Sex.

Above the hubbub and rattle of luncheon dishes came their high, querulous voices. "Well, he told me not to say a word to her, but of course I sat right down and wrote her about it." . . . "My dear, when we were south this winter, she didn't even invite us to her house, not that we would have gone if she had invited us . . ."

A World Alone.

A friend was telling the Rt. Rev. Edwin J. Randall, suffragan bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Chicago, the well worn anecdote about G. B. Shaw and American actors. Shaw, the tale goes, asked to meet America's fifth greatest actor. This was arranged, and he greeted the gentleman with, "Ah, so you are America's fifth greatest actor." "Thank you for the tribute, sir," the actor returned, "but who are the first four." "The Marx brothers," Shaw replied. Bishop Randall, when told this, essayed a faint smile. "I am sure it must be amusing," he said painfully, "but just who are the Marx brothers?"

Ingenuity.

Eight young midshipmen from Abbott hall, one on crutches, were waiting on an elevated platform the other day when they spied a quarter on the tracks. All wanted it, but none dared leap down. Finally one produced a piece of chewing gum which was fastened to the bottom of a crutch, and the quarter came up at the first try. Then came an argument about how the find should be divided. "All I want," said one, "is my chewing gum back. This is war."

Letter from a Young Marine.

"The sun is pouring down heavily on San Diego this Mother's day. The quiet simplicity of the chapel soon will be echoed by the bells, a mental haven of rest for the often weary soul of somebody's mother's sons. Hungered and thirsted by the river of time that had wended its way so steadily since that first morning, your fight must be much harder, but you will win, as shall we. And so on Mother's day as on other Sundays of perhaps more fleeting moment, we drop our armor. We pray for you. Now the bells are ringing."

The telephone rang.

"Tell me," the voice asked, "is Dinah Shore Gypsy Rose Lee's younger sister?"

Omnipotence.

It happened at a hearing of the Illinois commerce commission the other day. The speaker began: "Archimedes said if he had a lever long enough, he could move the world." The stenographer transcribed it, "Our committees said if . . ."

Thru the Looking Glass

One of the most delightful cleansing creams for use when warm weather begins is a light, speedy one with a little lemon juice in its creamy depths. It's not new, but maybe you've forgotten about it, and it may be exactly what you're looking for if you're a working woman who likes a cleanser that is a bit of a cooling pickup, too.

It's one of those emulsifying creams that releases the grime and the makeup seconds after it's applied to the skin. And, probably because of the lemon juice content, it always has seemed to us a little better than the average as a cream for skin that's inclined to be dingy. In addition to that it's distinctly cooling and refreshing.

There are many more women working now than ever before, and many of them are pounding away at jobs that make them feel and look wilted. They want a quick cleanser that can be used several times a day. It helps keep their skin clean and soft—and it helps their spirits to freshen up rather thoroly in the middle of the day and just before quitting time. This cream is ideal for their purpose. It's one of those efficient cleansers that will minimize the time spent on face grooming during a working day.

Besides that, it's inexpensive. The working woman who uses cleansing cream two or three times daily will find that this is an economical as well as an efficient and refreshing aid to good looks.

OPA Labeling Rule for Rayon Hosiery to Take Effect Today

Michael F. Mulcahy, administrator of the OPA'S Chicago area office, said yesterday that Chicago merchants have known since March 8 about coming grade labeling of rayon hosiery, which will go into effect today. He said the regulation was issued on that date to be effective on April 15, but later was amended to be effective on May 15.

Each pair of stockings, he said, must be labeled with the ceiling price and information regarding the quality of that specific grade of hosiery. Mulcahy said the labels will be similar to those used on silk and nylon hosiery.

The order set up two grades of rayon hosiery, A and B, and laid down complex grade A specifications, which many hosiery makers have said are out of line with existing practices. The order also set up a two price system for retail stores, whereby small retail outlets have a higher ceiling than large ones.

NO ESCAPE.
INSTALMENT XXX.

The general turned startled eyes to Brant, then glanced at the airspeed. It was already over 200 and climbing. The general rubbed his eyes, pointed at the dial and shouted, "Is that thing accurate?"

"I'll be ——."

The two men looked out of the windows and down at the ground, far below them, much farther than they had imagined. They looked at one another and then at the instrument board. Rate of climb was 3,420 feet a minute. The two men blinked.

Gen. Holland said, "I don't believe it."

Brant did not believe it, either. He leveled off at 12,000 feet, switched over to oxygen and then continued the climb. Service ceiling for the engines had been rated at 37,500 feet. Brant leveled off at that altitude. A flight engineer handed him the air speed calculations at that altitude—396 miles per hour. Brant handed the paper to the general and eased the engines back to cruising.

The general slapped Brant on the back and shouted, "This is no bomber, man. Great Scott, you've built a pursuit ship!"

Brant roared with him and said, "It's cockeyed. Get a load of that wing." The two looked out at the slim wing, already gathering ice, and again shouted with laughter. Brant said, "We shouldn't be up here with a wing like that. Imagine? Get a look at the thing. Lift, no drag, super-performance, everything. It shouldn't even get us up here, but man, here we are, and we're reeling off more knots than any one ever traveled at this altitude. You explain it to me."

The general rubbed the tears from his eyes and slowly shook his head, his face regaining its former composure. "You've done a great thing, Regan. I honestly didn't think it would work. Just imagine," he breathed, twin lights gleaming in his eyes, "what we can do with a plane like this."

Brant nodded, went thru the necessary check procedure for service ceiling, then threw the propellers into low pitch and gradually dropped the nose. The general jerked his head and Brant turned over to automatic pilot and slid out of the seat. Gen. Holland got behind the wheel. He switched back to manual control, trimmed the tabs and kept the nose down.

At 15,000 feet, over the city of Oakland, the plane suddenly bucked, lunged upward and then settled back to its steady rate of descent. Brant anxiously glanced at the general, who shrugged his shoulders and raised his eyebrows. At 12,000 feet, as they were going off of oxygen, the plane bucked again and skidded dangerously close to a spin. Brant grabbed the side of the cabin, as it continued an odd up and down oscillation of the nose and a decided yawning movement.

Gen. Holland fought with the wheel and yelled, "What's wrong? She's getting out of control!"

Engineers and mechanics jumped for their parachutes and waited in readiness for the order to abandon ship. Brant jumped to his feet and grabbed the back of the pilot's seat. "Let me behind that wheel, sir. Hurry."

"Can't. Don t dare let go."

The plane went into another skid, but Gen. Holland kicked it out on the very instant it started to spin. It straightened and then oscillated up and down.

Kane Harmon snapped to his feet, grabbed Brant by the shoulder and spun him about. His face was white, and there was a trickle of blood on his lower lip, where he had bitten thru. Great beads of sweat stood out on his forehead and his eyes were wild with fright. He was shouting, "Let me get by."

Brant steadied himself in the lunging plane and swung at Kane's chin. He missed and caught him on the side of the jaw. Harmon went down, but he immediately started to scramble to his feet, tearing at Brant's clothes and shouting, "Let me by."

Brant looked beyond him. O'Toole and McNair were on the floor, hanging on for dear life and frightened out of their wits. Brant grabbed Harmon by the shoulders and helped him to his feet. "What the devil do you want, you maniac? You can't fly a plane."

Harmon pleaded with him, "For God's sake, let me at those controls. Let me by, I tell you."

Gen. Holland twisted his head about, his eyes mere slits, and quietly said, "Let go of him, Regan."

Brant let loose and Harmon plunged between the two seats, dropped to his knees on the floor and frantically jammed both hands into the control column well, where it went thru the floor.

Gen. Holland asked, "Looking for something, a wrench, perhaps?"

"Not any more, Harmon. I took that wrench out last night."

The general eased the wheel back, trimmed the tabs to their proper settings and leveled off. The bomber purred along as steadily as if nothing had happened. He looked up at Brant. "All right, son, you can take over again."

Brant was still dazed and bewildered, but he slid into the pilot's seat and placed his hands on the wheel.

The general smiled. "Don't worry. I just kicked it around a little. Nothing wrong." Then he leaned down and tapped Harmon on the back. "Okay. You can get up now. Your little party is all over."

Kane Harmon slowly got to his feet and faced the general, a hunted, desperate look in his eyes. The general coldly said, "I happened to remember something Regan once said about you being in a rut. I spent all last night examining this ship, quite sure I would find something. I did. A wrench in the control column well. Sooner or later, it would have been a sure crash. I thought you might have put it there. There is no longer any doubt about that. Harmon, I am going to hold you for attempted sabotage, to be tried in a military court. You'll face the firing squad, or I don't know military law." He jerked his head at O'Toole and McNair. "They will be tried with you, but for slightly lesser crimes. And there is no chance to get away. I have a guard waiting for us to land."

Kane Harmon ran his hands over his face and stared at the general. Then a smile returned to his lips, but not to his eyes. He looked at Brant, a look of intense hatred, and then at his partners. His smile broke into an almost soundless laugh and he said, "Some other time, general."

He turned and raced down the cabin toward an escape hatch. The general pulled his revolver, took deliberate aim and fired. Harmon pitched forward, and the general fired again before he hit the floor. Harmon rolled over, his hand on one of the parachutes.

The general walked down, had a look at him, then came back and dropped into the co-pilot's seat. He nodded with satisfaction. "I was hoping he would do that."

Brant nodded in appreciation.

They finished their run over Oakland, then swung across the bay. Brant followed routine letdown procedure until the wheels were rolling on the ground. He taxied the great ship into the factory yard, turned off the master switch and listened to the motors die. Then he winked at Gen. Holland. "We got us a plane."

Gen. Holland held up his hand, finger and thumb together. "The best."

They left their seats and stopped before O'Toole and McNair. The two men looked away and out the window toward the waiting guard. Brant glanced over at the still form of Kane Harmon, but he was thinking of Paul Sutton. He could not trust himself to speak and brushed on by the men.

When they stepped outside with the engineers to face a battery of exploding flashbulbs, the general called the guard and sent them in after McNair and O'Toole. Harmon was carried away and the men were hurried to a military car waiting by the hangar. The general watched them go and remarked to Brant, "Whatever happens, it's too good for them."

Carol Jaffe had gone, but Dian and Aunt Hattie were standing just behind the photographers, waiting. Brant and the general made their way to them. Dian's eyes never left Brant's face.

Allow Child Ample Time for Learning

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1943: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Children grow and develop in their own good time. Eager parents often make the mistake of expecting their babies or even their teen age boys and girls to mature in one direction or another before they are ready. Sometimes this is due to the fact that they see the achievement of the son or daughter of a neighbor or relative, and make this their gauge of what is normal.

In any case, a good cue for parents is to lag behind the children's development, waiting until they show signs of being ready for the next step, rather than to push them forward.

It is true that many difficulties which develop in early childhood have been caused by early forcing. Like plants, babies, older children, and adolescents all have their own time and rate for developing. And if, instead of anticipating this time, we would follow in its wake, many of the difficulties mothers often experience, both in general behavior and in the acquiring of skills and functional control, would not be ours.

There is, for instance, the matter of early feeding and eating. Some mothers think if their child has not developed independence at a certain age that dire things will happen, that the baby won't ever learn independence, skill or the right attitude. But that child, when the time comes for him to learn, does it easily and naturally, because he is individually ripe for it.

Then there's the matter of training for elimination. Some mothers, in their desire to be modern, or because some one's Janet was trained at five months, or so Janet's mother says, will start the training business early, and so will be concerned unduly over what they believe to be their failure.

Suppose your baby isn't trained at the age some book says he should be? Many a mother, who never has read a book on child training and hasn't the time to "catch" her baby, finds, when she gets around to training him at what seems to her a reasonable stage, that she has no difficulty at all. She hasn't forced him by anticipating the date at which it proved to be natural for him to be trained to control.

Still other mothers get jittery if their baby isn't talking when other babies are. Then suddenly, these silent babies may spout whole phrases. This is a little unusual, altho perfectly normal, but it proves this point: That each child has its own individual time for both learning and speed of learning, which may be an even speed, or by "fits and starts."

So, if we will try to lag behind rather than anticipate and force this time for learning, we will find that our child learns more easily as well as more quickly. We'll find also, if we're observing, that this method will save our child's nerves, and aid his confidence in himself.

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1943: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Fish is plentiful and moderately priced these days. What's more, it isn't rationed. From a nutritional standpoint, fish should be served at least once a week. From a practical view, two or three good fish meals per week aren't too many at this season.

Buffalo fish and sheepshead are two midwestern river and lake fish which are abundant right now, but not many homemakers know how to prepare them. Buffalo is good cooked in water, by the method I shall describe a little later in this article, and may be fried, too. Sheepshead may be broiled, baked, fried or cooked in water. The smaller fish of these two varieties are purchased whole. Sheepshead also comes in fillets, buffalo fish in steaks cut from larger sizes.

How to Cook Carp.

Carp may be fried, broiled, baked or cooked in water. The Bureau of Fisheries recommends this treatment for it before it is cooked by any method: Mix 1 cup salt, 1 cup ground onion, 2 tablespoons vinegar, 1 teaspoon black pepper and ⅛ teaspoon mace. Place fish in deep container and cover it with the mixture. Let stand for 1 hour. Discard salt pack, rinse fish thoroly and wash off surface salt. Cook as you wish, without adding more seasonings.

The little lake herring [averaging 3 to the pound] is lean, altho the sea-going herring is a fat fish. Pan-fry the lake herring. Dip it in equal parts of cornmeal and flour first.

The bullhead is a small catfish which is most often served [first skinned] cut in slices, dipped in cornmeal and French fried.

Yellow pike may be baked or broiled. Blue pike often is steamed or cooked in water but may be baked or broiled. Yellow perch is fine French fried. Halibut steaks are excellent baked or broiled. Haddock fillets may be baked, broiled, or cooked in water. Cod may be steamed, cooked in water, or stuffed whole and baked. Flounder is best broiled, altho it may be prepared also by any of the other fish cookery methods.

How to Cook Fish in Water.

This method often is called "boiling," but the water should not actually boil, only simmer. Put the fish into a cheesecloth or a wire basket which will protect it from breaking up during cooking. Cook the fish until the flesh begins to fall apart. This will not be long [8-12 minutes], for fish cooks very quickly, especially fillets and smaller whole fish.

Salted water with 3 tablespoons of lemon juice or vinegar to the quart is a good medium for cooking any fish. A combination of milk and water sometimes is used—even milk alone. "Court bouillon," water flavored with onion, bay leaf, celery, lemon, thyme or other herbs, gives good flavor to the fish. Sometimes wine is used in court bouillon, about a third as much wine as water. The bouillon is used, after the fish has cooked in it, as a basis for sauce to serve with the fish.

Fish cooked in water or court bouillon is a good beginning for any creamed fish dish, fish loaf, or fish salads.

TODAY'S $5 PRIZE RECIPE

Yellow Split Pea Loaf.
[Serves eight.]

2 cups cooked split pea pulp
½ cup cooked celery, minced
4 tablespoons chicken or bacon fat
1 teaspoon salt
2 eggs
Few drops garlic juice
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
½ large onion, minced
1½ cups bread crumbs
½ cup liquor from peas

Cook peas until tender in boiling salted water. The celery may be cooked with the peas, if desired. Drain and, while hot, add remaining ingredients in order listed. Pack into a well greased bread pan and bake for half an hour in a hot [400 degrees] oven. Serve with a tomato or mushroom sauce.

Looking at Hollywood

—By Hedda Hopper—

Hollywood, Cal., May 14.—Billy Wilder is about to get Barbara Stanwyck for the star part in "Double Indemnity" with Brian Donlevy and Edward Robinson. Strange twist—this will be the first time the last two have appeared together since "Barbary Coast," in which Robinson got top billing. Now it will be reversed. I said at the time the wrong man's name was up in lights, and got my ears pinned back for it. . . . Betty Grable doesn't want her name linked with that of Harry James. She wants her pals to know she's still in circulation. Now it no longer matters to James' wife, who's sued for divorce. . . . Ina Claire will be starred on Broadway this winter by Gilbert Miller in "A Month in the Country." Gilbert's trying for Herbert Marshall, also. . . . Father Chisholm in "Keys of the Kingdom" has been narrowed down to Spencer Tracy and Charlie Bickford. I'm rooting for Bickford. If he gets it, we'll have another star in our midst.

So Close.

Jinx Falkenburg, back from her camp tour, had a note from her fiancé, Tex McCarey. He wrote from London, "I'll never again complain of sinus trouble. It laid me low for a week, in which time I was grounded, but plane and crew with whom I'd been flying took off just the same—and never came back. This is a tough war. But I talked with Mr. Jordan—remember the picture? He whispered that we'd be married soon. O, please, let it be soon, Jinx." . . . George Cukor and Bill Saroyan have been attending an army class to learn short story writing! No, Saroyan wasn't teacher—just a private pupil.

Surprise, Surprise!

This afternoon Lillian Messenger, Metro-Goldwyn's story teller, married Alexis Thurn-Taxis, at Colonial House. His father was Austria's ambassador to Russia before the last war. His mother is an American. She and a sister attended the wedding, at which about 20 guests were present, and after a short honeymoon, he goes to Universal as writer and director. She returns to Metro. . . . Warners' John Ridgely has made 128 pictures there, and has been killed in 126 of them. Yes, he gets his come-uppance in "To the Last Man" with Errol Flynn, too. Reason he wasn't killed off in all of them is because he played a cop twice, and our Hays code doesn't permit killing of a cop on the screen.

Uncertain.

Marriage plans of Martha Raye and Nick Condos are rather indefinite, but she starts a theater tour in San Francisco May 24, and the Condos brothers will headline the bill with her. . . . Edith Head and husband, Bill Ehnen, of Twentieth Century, pull out for Mexico Monday where Edith will be entertained by the Mexican designers while he lines up background shots for Carmen Miranda's next picture. Studio's still raving about Bill's sets for "Jane Eyre." So will you when you see the picture. . . . Fibber McGee and Molly aim to spend their summer vacation on their cattle ranch near Bakersfield. They both like it hot, and that's what they'll get.

His Own Backyard.

Wonder why Producer David Lewis keeps looking for an actor to play Bill in "Frenchman's Creek" when they've got Cecil Kellaway under contract at his studio. . . . Joan Fontaine requested that while she's making that picture she be assigned to Ingrid Bergman's dressing room for luck. Well, Joan, your luck started when you signed up with David Selznick. . . . Asked Al Jolson at Romanoff's if he'd play in his life story at Columbia. He said, "There's no telling. I'd like to play the older sequence. Maybe we could find two other guys who look like me for the rest of it." Yep! Bunny Walters was with him.

It's a Steal.

Quite a stunt of Warners taking the press down to Fontana to watch Henry Kaiser pour steel at that famous plant of his. Henry played host at luncheon, then watched preview of "Action in the North Atlantic." . . . A couple of WAVES walking along the street in Avalon, when they suddenly noticed they were being followed by a young boot. They walked faster, the young man followed. They dashed into a store, bought a soda. When they came out the boot still was waiting. Finally a WAVE couldn't stand it any longer, turned to the young sailor and said, "For Pete's sake, either stop following us—or get a friend!" . . . Young man about town palming himself off as Sam Wood's son. Just be too bad if Sam catches up with him. Sam never had a son. . . . Billie Burke says, "Today you're only fashionable if you know your rationables."

Tops.

Saw R. K. O.'s "Bombardier" at the Sam Goldwyn's. It's better than "Air Force." There's one of the finest pictures of the training, courage, and ability of our men that's yet been put on the screen. And what a cast—headed by Pat O'Brien, Randolph Scott, Anne Shirley, Edward Albert, and half a dozen newcomers, among them a handsome lad named Walter Reed. He's star material if I ever saw it.

which formerly included athletics, dinner, a program, and tea. The camp will be open for mothers and children the end of June.

The annual concert of the Paulist Choristers will be given tomorrow afternoon at Orchestra hall. Among the boxholders are the Stuyvesant Peabodys, Edward I. Cudahy, the John F. Cuneos, Mr. and Mrs. Donald J. Walsh, Miss Anita Blair, and the Ivan A. McKennas.

The Ridge Service Guild auxiliary of Beverly Hills will give a benefit buffet supper-dance tonight at the Medinah club. Dancing will start at 8 p. m. and supper will be served from 9 to 11. Proceeds from the party, which is under the direction of Mrs. Wakelee R. Smith, will go to the Martha Washington Home for Crippled Children and to other local charities.

The first of the Saddle and Cycle club's big evening parties since John Root took over the presidency of the club will be a western ranch dinner planned for tonight, followed by a preview of the color film "My Friend Flicka." The other officers elected recently with Mr. Root are Frank H. Woods Jr., vice president; Robert Stevenson, secretary, and Hopewell Rogers, treasurer. On the executive committee are Henry R. Cross, Paget K. Cady, Kenneth Carpenter, Dr. and Mrs. O. E. Van Alyea, Louis C. Sudler, Louis Watermulder, Orville J. Taylor, and Herbert Stratford, most of whom will be present tonight. Some of the guests will be wearing ranch clothes, but that prize offered for the first guest to arrive by horseback probably will go begging.

Crocheted Tricorne Hat

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

A crocheted tricorne is a flattering hat to most women, and this one with a soft crocheted frill is thoroly feminine. It is easy to crochet and requires little time to make. Try making yours of synthetic straw, cotton or lightweight wool.

For instructions in crocheting the tricorne hat, No. 332, send 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost, to the Needlework Brueau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1943: By Ely Culbertson.]

The prerequisite for no trump contracts is, in almost every case, to have the opponents' bid suit stopped at least once. Even this, however, is by no means an ironclad rule. Consider South's perfectly logical bid in the following deal:

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH
♠ J 4 3
♥ Q 9 7 6
♦ 10 2

WEST
♠ K 8 7
♥ A K J 3 2
♦ 9 6
♣ J 9 4

EAST
♠ Q 10 9 5
♥ 10 5 4
♦ 8 5 4

SOUTH
♥ 8
♦ A K Q J 7 3
♣ A 10 5

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 diamond	1 heart	Pass	Pass
3 no trump[!]	Pass	Pass	Pass

It must be granted that South needed plenty of nerve to jump all the way to three no trump after West's heart bid and without the semblance of a stopper in that suit. South's singleton would make most players cast aside all thoughts of a no trump contract, but this particular South, an expert, was influenced to make the bid largely because he held only one heart. He reasoned, and certainly not without logic, that it was unlikely that West held a solid heart suit. East had not raised hearts, hence there was no reason to feel that he could solidify West's suit. It was far more probable that North, altho unable to make any free bid on the first round, had some length in the heart suit and this in itself indicated that he would have some sort of stopper, if only the queen or the J-x-x-x.

At any rate, with eight sure tricks in his own hand, South was naturally reluctant to sell out for less than a game contract, and since he could not hope to make five diamonds in view of North's pass he adopted the logical expedient of bidding for game in no trump.

West opened the heart king, but when dummy appeared he glared at South and shifted to a low spade. Declarer let East's nine spot hold, but won the spade continuation, West jettisoning his king to unblock. South then rattled off six diamond tricks. West discarded three hearts and a club, East let go two hearts and a club. Now declarer exited with his remaining spade. East took two spade tricks but then had to lead a club. Declarer ducked and when dummy's queen held he was home.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

And now for an emergence from the valley of disillusionment for a period of soul toning up on the sunny hillside of simple childlike faith!

Petunia Jackson talks to God in this delightful all-Negro production, just like Eddie Rickenbacker and his men talked to Him from their rafts. . . . And God listens to Petunia, too, and saves, at her request, the soul of her beloved husband, Little Joe—a sinner more thru circumstance than desire. A happy go-lucky weakling whose heart really belongs to Petunia but, O, you Georgia Brown! And O, you craps games!

As the story opens, Petunia is happily preparing to go to meeting. Tonight Little Joe has promised to confess his sins and accept salvation. . . . But boon companions await him at the church and lure him over to a hall of sin for just one more game. . . . Here he is stabbed by a dangerous sinner known as Domino Johnson. . . . He is carried home, supposedly dying.

While Petunia prays and he hovers between life and death, he dreams a dream in which he is the marked prey of Lucifer Jr., favorite son of the devil, and his staff of imps. . . . In response to Petunia's prayers, the General, a heavenly emissary, appears. Little Joe is to be given six months more on earth to atone for his sins. . . . In this period he will have no recollection of his encounter with the powers of good and evil but will be strictly on his own. . . . He thinks. . . . But really the General, Lucifer Jr., and all their emissaries will be battling for his soul. . . .

Well Little Joe starts out being an awfully good boy. . . . Neither he nor Petunia can see the General or Lucifer—but there they are—pulling like mad. . . . At last Lucifer calls on Miss Georgia Brown—who suddenly feels impelled to stroll over to Petunia's house and start something. . . .

SHE DOES. . . .

Go on from here with the picture, one of the most beguiling of fantasies brimming over with laughs and music and the sort of homespun pathos that's so dear to all Americans. . . .

Co-Stars Ethel Waters and Eddie [Rochester] Anderson have the audience with them every minute. They top an A-1 cast, featuring the Hall Johnson choir and Duke Ellington and his band.

See you tomorrow.

Yiddish Players Appear at Best in Old Gordin Play

"GOD, MAN AND DEVIL."
Drama in three acts, prolog and epilog by Jacob Gordin. Directed by Jacob Ben-Ami and Jacob Mestel. Presented by Harry Zelzer in the Civic Opera house, Friday evening, May 14, 1943.

THE CAST.

Reb Hershele Dubrovner	Jacob Ben-Ami
Uriel Mazik	Menachem Rubin
Pessenlu	Bertha Gersten
Freidenlu	Frances Adler
Tzippenlu	Celia Adler
Leizer Badchen	Max Bozhyk
Chatzkel Drachme	Misha Gehrman
Dobbe	Lucy Gehrman
Motele	Isaac Rothblum

BY CECIL SMITH.

Some of the finest acting of any Yiddish production in recent years is to be seen at the Civic Opera house this week-end, where Jacob Ben-Ami's staging of Jacob Gordon's 40 year old classic, "God, Man, and Devil," was presented last night in the first of three performances. It will be repeated tonight and tomorrow evening.

The play is a somewhat more naive variant on the theme of Goethe's "Faust," "What shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world, but lose his soul." Satan makes a wager with God that he can corrupt a godly man, one Reb Herschele Dubrovner, by bringing riches to him. After several missteps, Herschele realizes the folly of his way, and commits suicide to expiate his sins. Satan, who has assumed the human guise of Uriel Mazik, who behaves a good deal like a high pressure salesman, is finally forced to admit that he has lost his wager.

Staged before settings borrowed from the Chicago Opera company, the performance has the cohesive ensemble that comes from good direction and ample rehearsal, and it has the emotional power and comic values only such stellar performers as are gathered here are likely to realize. Mr. Ben-Ami, Menachem Rubin, and Berta Gerstein are particularly outstanding for their well controled and projected acting.

The Lane of Yesterday.

I am strolling in the twilight down the lane of yesterday,
Meeting loved ones that I cherished long ago
When their faces beamed with sunshine and their youthful hearts were gay,
And their locks were yet untouched by winter's snow.

I can hear a youth's light laughter as it rings across the hills,
I can see his eyes all radiant with bliss,
And there's something in the heart of me that trembles and that thrills
As I feel the sudden rapture of his kiss.

O, we look into the future, light of heart and starry-eyed,
And the world seems like a magic wonderland,
And we vow that we will travel toward the sunset side by side,
Meeting all life's joys and sorrows hand in hand.

But the vision now is faded and I seem to tread alone,
And there's darkness down the vista of the years,
For the friendly hand has vanished that I held within my own,
And I feel upon my cheek the rush of tears.

All of us must travel sometime down the lane of yesterday,
But we'll find no gorgeous rainbow at the end
If the lips that we have wanted most have long been turned away,
And we journey toward the dusk without a friend.

MICHIGAN PUTS 14 QUALIFIERS IN BIG 10 FINAL

Illinois Rates as Big Threat Today.

The Qualifiers

Michigan	14	Indiana	4
Illinois	10	Purdue	4
Ohio State	10	Chicago	3
Minnesota	8	Wisconsin	3
Northwestern	6	Iowa	0

BY WILFRID SMITH.

When the 62 qualifying places in nine events were apportioned yesterday in Dyche stadium in the preliminaries of the 43d Western conference track meet, the team championship, to be decided today, still remained a see-saw battle between Michigan and Illinois. The Wolverines led the Illini, 14 to 10, in qualifying berths, but this was relatively of little importance.

The half mile and quarter mile, in which the rivals got 12 of the 16 qualifying places, will be the climax of the competition and it is likely Illinois' hopes for a victory over Michigan, which won the indoor championship last March, rest on the finish of the half mile which will be run at 3:30 today.

Michigan and Illinois each placed three men in the half mile. The fight for the scoring positions—five places counting in inverse order from 5 points to 1—involves these men, John Jones of Ohio State and Ralph Pohland of Minnesota. Incidentally, Pohland won the first heat yesterday in 1 minute 54 9-10 seconds, his best mark of the season.

Two Strong Trios.

Michigan will be represented by John Roxborough, indoor champion, Ross Hume and Capt. Dave Mathews, winner of the second qualifying race. Illinois will send Bill Biele, Bob Kelley, and Warren Goodell against this trio.

Ohio State tied Illinois yesterday with 10 qualifying places but six of these were garnered by two men—Dal Dupre, defending title holder in the broad jump, and Paul Hatfield. Dupre jumped 24 feet 1 inch to take the lead in this event, less than 3 inches ahead of Jim McFadzean of Wisconsin. The lithe Buckeye veteran also qualified in the two dashes and the 220 yard hurdles.

Herb Matter of Illinois and Charley Hlad, representing Chicago by virtue of his studies in the army's meteorology school there, qualified in three events. Matter placed in the broad jump, 220 yard dash, and 220 yard low hurdles. Today he also will enter the pole vault and high jump seeking high point honors as the most versatile athlete in the games.

Hlad Leading Qualifier.

Hlad qualified in the two hurdle events and the 100 yard dash. He is a prohibitive favorite to take the hurdle titles. Yesterday Hlad came within one-tenth of a second of the meet record of 14 seconds in winning his high hurdles trial by 15 yards. This 6 year old record belongs to Bob Osgood of Michigan. Hlad also had the best time in the low hurdles.

While Michigan qualified four men in the field of eight in the quarter mile, Illinois placed two, and the race between Bob Ufer of the Wolverines, the indoor title holder, and Bob Kelley of Illinois, will be as thrilling as the finish in the half mile. It also may be as decisive.

On the basis of yesterday's timing, Michigan will have an advantage in the dashes in which Leonard Alkon had superior marks today. Michigan also figures to take the opening mile this afternoon but probably will yield in the two mile run to Clarence Dunn of the Illini.

Bad Luck Plagues Favorites.

Each of the rivals had a bit of bad luck yesterday. Michigan suffered grievously when James Byerly failed to place in the high hurdles. Byerly led the second preliminary in the 120 yard high hurdles, but hit the ninth hurdle and finished fourth. Capt. Paul Mail of the Illini, later failed to place among the six men who will contest in the shot put today.

Illinois' entry in the discus throw, Tom Fullerton, now is in third place while George Kraeger of Michigan is in sixth position. Fortune Gordien, Minnesota weight man, led in the shot put and discus throw and his

Big 10 Shifts Schedules for Service Teams

The directors and football coaches of the Western conference yesterday rearranged their 1943 football schedules to give five games to each of the three service centers in Chicagoland. Then, with the coöperation of Michigan State, Notre Dame, and Marquette the midwestern football leaders insured the success of the season for these service elevens.

Thus, Great Lakes Naval Training station has a complete schedule of 12 games, five with conference teams. Six of these will be played on Ross field at the station. Camp Grant now has a tentative schedule of nine games, five with the conference. Iowa Pre-Flight also has five conference games on its tentative alignment of nine contests.

Service Men Benefit.

Notre Dame will play Great Lakes in Chicago Nov. 27. The Irish will entertain the Iowa Cadets Nov. 20.

Last fall these service stations were represented by football teams. Most of the games, however, were played on the road. This year football will be presented for the sailors and soldiers, as well as for the public.

In addition to Great Lakes' six home games, the schedules provide for Wisconsin, Michigan, and Marquette to play at Camp Grant. The Warriors have three open dates which may increase the number of games in Bell bowl.

Harman Draws Schedule.

The Iowa cadet schedule drawn by Lt. Comdr. Harvey Harman, who will become director of athletics June 1, has open dates Oct. 23 and 30. Harman said yesterday he expected to schedule games in Iowa City on these dates.

Under the present arrangement Great Lakes will provide bleachers seating 25,000 at its new field. Each recruit will see two of the Bluejackets' home games. Great Lakes also expects to bring 5,000 recruits to the Northwestern game in Dyche stadium on Oct. 16.

The midwestern college leaders willingly made every concession required to give the service teams intercollegiate schedules. Among the changes was cancellation of an Ohio State-Minnesota contest so the Buckeyes might play at Great Lakes. The Minnesota game with Pittsburgh, originally planned for Oct. 9, was dropped because of transportation involved.

Gophers to Meet Wolverines.

Illinois will open its season Sept. 11, so Camp Grant may play in Champaign. The Seahawks then travel to Illinois on the following week. On this same date Michigan will play at Camp Grant and Purdue will play at Great Lakes. Nearly all of the natural rivalry games were retained.

2D GOLF LESSON ATTRACTS 12,000

War Workers Flock to Tribune School.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

O. K., O. K., it was a little cool around here last night. And it must have been a mite chillier on Attu, too. But the comparative frigidity in these parts was not enough to prevent more than 12,000 Chicagoans, the bulk of them war workers, from making the second lesson of the 11th annual free golf school conducted by THE TRIBUNE as big a success as it ever has been.

The nippy temperatures that attended this installment of the largest and oldest system of group instruction in sports last evening proved to be no stymie to the folks who turned out on the four Chicago park district courses—Diversey, Marquette, Columbus, and Jackson park.

The attendance was another testimonial to the proved fact that Chicagoans are interested in golf and that they're going to do something about it as individuals in this war time year. Their enthusiasm last night was evident in the way they heeded the tips the faculty—all members of the Illinois section of the Professional Golfers' Association of America—gave them.

Make Up Back Work.

The 12,000 and more students who came to the four easily accessible courses for the free instructions not only were "caught up" on the grip, the subject of Monday's rain-ridden opening, but also were straightened out on the stance, and introduced to the swing. The latter department will be the theme of next week's two closing lessons, one on Monday night, and the final on Friday night. Both will be given by the Illinois P. G. A. members on the same four courses at the same hour—7:15 p. m.

Two of the best enrollments in the history of the school greeted the professors at Marquette and Columbus parks. The former found Harry Kinnell, long-time professional at Edgewood Valley who has gone into war work; Packey Walsh, the home pro, who took his first draft physical examination on Thursday; Maurie White of La Grange, a winter worker in a war plant, and Tom Walsh of Westgate Valley, one of the co-founders of the school in 1933.

Women Workers Turn Out.

The Marquette faculty was impressed by the number of women workers who attended the class. They came from the big Dodge plant, the Studebaker setup, and other plants in the central manufacturing district on the southwest side.

Hi Bithorn Fades in Ninth; Giants Defeat Cubs, 3 to 2

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 14.—The New York Giants swept their two game cellar series here today by whipping the Cubs again in the ninth. The score this time was Giants 3, Cubs 2, and the Chicagoans, who came here a game out of last place will open in Brooklyn tomorrow, solely possessed of the National league dungeon.

The two runs the Giants had as their part of a 2 to 2 tie going into the ninth were the result of homers by Mel Ott and Ernesto Lombardi, both off Hi Bithorn, who now has three defeats to match his three victories. Bithorn, by the way, beat the New Yorkers three times last season, his freshman year.

Ott Piles Up Homers.

Ott's homer, which tied the score at one-all was his 446th as a Giant, and of course, fattened his life time National league record. Lombardi's maximum smack was his first as a Giant.

Manager Ott also scored the winning run in the ninth, after New York had loaded the bases without benefit of a base hit. Bithorn, in that final inning, walked Ott on five pitches and Lombardi on eight. Lefty Ray Prim was called in from the bullpen which, in the Polo Grounds, is about two city blocks from the plate. Prim pitched once to Babe Barna. Barna bunted, Prim fumbled, and the bases were loaded. Eddie Hanyzewski replaced Prim and pitched one wide one to Sid Gordon. On the next toss Gordon singled thru the pulled-in infield, Ott scoring the winning run.

Lohrman Isn't Too Good.

Bill Lohrman, who beat the Cubs three out of four last season, went all the way and yielded 11 hits, all singles, except the first one, which was an enormous triple by Bill Nicholson at the start of the second inning. Bill scored on an infield out to give Chicago a momentary lead, which disappeared when Ott led off the home second with his home run.

Lombardi's smash in the fourth gave New York a 2 to 1 lead, which stood up till the Cubs made three hits to tie it in the sixth. The Cubs threatened afterward, but the Giants waited till just the right moment, then won.

Today's flop marked the sixth game the Cubs have played on their road trip, which opened in Cincinnati a week ago today. From these combats, the Cubs have salvaged two victories, their double header over the Reds last Sunday.

It required three hits for the Cubs to make the tying run in the sixth. Eddie Stanky opened with a single to right, paused while Nicholson fanned and went to third on Dallessandro's single to right. Phil Cavarretta then delivered his third straight single, Stanky scoring the tying run.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

James Dykes' White Sox, who until recently were incarcerated in the American league cellar, let loose with another celebration yesterday that not only swept aside the pace-setting Yankees for the second straight time but also subjected the chronic baseball monarchs to a one hit humiliation. The latter dose was neatly administered by Lee [Buck] Ross and his pals did the rest with last minute batting splurges that fashioned a 3 to 0 score.

Ross' performance, which was incidentally the second impressive job this season by the ex-Athletic, was so close to being perfect that only two batters—Nick Etten in each case—reached base, once because of a scratch hit, and once because of a pass. But Ross had his worries for a long stretch. His adversary, Charley Wensloff, also was a one hit workman—for six innings. In the next two sessions the Sox really showered the graduate of the Yankees' Kansas City farm.

It's That Kuhel Again.

Not a little of the aid that Ross hoped would show up sooner or later came from Joe Kuhel, whose trickery sent the Yanks spinning, 2 to 1, in the only other game of the series. Kuhel's bat responded with a single in the seventh inning, the second hit off the Yankee mound rookie. Ralph Hodgin, Wally Moses, and Jim Grant joined in the uprising that squeezed two runs from Wensloff and then, just for good measure, Luke Appling singled in the eighth to help turn a pass into the last tally.

The lone hit off Ross came early enough to relieve whatever tension might have developed over a no-hitter. Etten stepped up with one out in the second and slapped a high powered bounder back at the pitcher. Ross reached for it but the ball skidded off his glove and rolled toward third. He recovered and made a hurried throw to Kuhel, but too late to get the decision. Then he set down 17 Yankees in succession, a total that brought him back to Etten with one out in the eighth. This was where Etten walked, going to second on an out and thus becoming the only Yank to travel that far during the afternoon.

Hodgin Comes Thru.

The way in which the Sox set out against Wensloff indicated the rookie was due for speedy extermination. Thurman Tucker opened the Sox first inning with a two bagger to right center and, after Appling had rolled into retirement, Kuhel walked. This opening was quickly closed on Hodgin's double play grounder to Joe Gordon. Then Wensloff started weaving the string that took in 16 more Sox batters before anybody wearing a Chicago uniform appeared on base.

The string snapped with one out in the seventh, the break being caused by Kuhel's single which shot into left. Rookie Hodgin contributed his bit by singling to center but Don Kolloway hung a cloud over the bulging opportunity by fanning. Moses promptly brightened everything by singling over second, Kuhel sprinting across the plate and Hodgin taking third. Grant singled, Hodgin scoring.

The eighth began with Ross' infield out, but the next happening was a pass to Tucker and this was nursed into the third run of the battle. Appling clipped a single into left, Tucker reaching third ahead of Charley Keller's return throw. The throw slipped thru Johnson's hands to give Appling time to skip down to second. Kuhel received an intentional pass, and Hodgin grounded to Gordon, Tucker scoring.

JIM HOLLAND BREAKS BROAD JUMP RECORD

Claude Young Equals State 100 Mark.

Champaign, Ill., May 14 [Special].—Jim Holland of Rock Island established a new state interscolastic broad jump record of 24 feet 2 inches today as the 49th annual track meet opened at the University of Illinois.

Holland, last year's broad jump champion, won the final in the event, surpassing a mark of 24 feet ¾ inch, made by Lecester Farmer of Proviso High of Maywood in 1940.

The six foot Negro also qualified for the finals of the shot put tomorrow with 50 feet 6¼ inches, the second best distance of the afternoon.

Claude [Buddy] Young, 16 year athlete from Wendell Phillips High of Chicago, also claimed a share of the glory when he won his semifinals heat of the 100 yard dash in 9.7 seconds, which equalled the state record made by Randall Pat Herman of Oak Park in 1932.

Young also qualified for the 200 yard low hurdles final tomorrow with the fastest time of the field, 22.2 seconds, within one-tenth of the state record made by John Smith of Maine [Des Plaines] in 1941.

Number of qualifying places won by each school:

East St. Louis, 6; Hinsdale, 5; Phillips [Chicago], 4; New Trier [Winnetka], Maine [Des Plaines], Rock Island, West Frankfort, Schurz [Chicago], Oak Park, Evanston, 3; Thornton [Harvey], Danville, York [Elmhurst], Glenbard [Glen Ellyn], Urbana, 2; DuSable [Chicago], Centralia, Wethersfield, Georgetown, Marion, Rantoul, Charleston T. Spring Season Ends Today at Sportsman's

BY HOWARD BARRY.

The first phase of Chicago's racing season will end today with the windup of the most successful spring meeting in Sportsman's Park history. During the first six days the track was operated for the benefit of local welfare organizations under the sponsorship of Chicago Tribune Charities. The enterprise netted in excess of $75,000 for these organizations.

In the two weeks during which the track has been conducting its regular meeting, its popularity has continued with indications that the total betting handle for the 19 days will approximate $7,000,000, which will far surpass the $6,231,894 of last spring.

Hammond Heads Today's Card.

Arrangements have been made to handle another capacity crowd for today's concluding program, which will be headed by the Hammond handicap, a seven furlong sprint. Valdina Groom, the undisputed champion of the meeting to date, will seek his fourth consecutive handicap victory.

Today he will be toting 126 pounds against a field which includes many speedy and lightly weighted rivals. Marion Collins, at 111 pounds, has the heaviest weight package of nine named to oppose Valdina Groom. Latent, which followed him home in second place in the three previous handicaps, has been alloted 110.

It's a Short Move Monday.

The race fans who have been finding their way out to Sportsman's Park without too much difficulty, will only have to move about a block south Monday for the opening of Lincoln Fields which will put on its meeting in the Hawthorne plant.

Racing Secretary William H. Shelley yesterday announced the nominations for the first of the six stake events of the meeting—the $5,000 Crete handicap, which is scheduled for a week from today. Thirty are on the list of eligibles, among them being Valdina Orphan, Miss Dogwood, Signator, Bushwhacker, Woof Woof, Burnt Cork, Daily Trouble, Harvard Square, and other capable campaigners.

Henry Hauer got into trouble with the stewards by taking his horse, Crystal Torch, over sharply in front of his rivals soon after the start of the first race. Inasmuch as the meeting ends today, the stewards referred his case to the Illinois racing board with the recommendation that he be dealt a 10 day suspension.

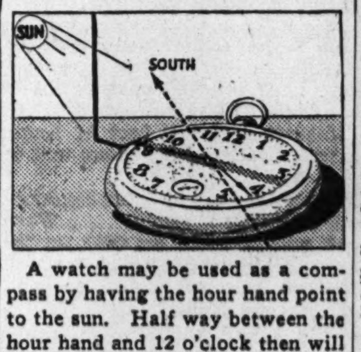
WOODSMEN CAN TELL DIRECTION WITH WATCHES

Trick Wont Work if Sun Is Near Zenith.

BY BOB BECKER.

If a traveler is trying to make his way thru dense tropical forests, a northwoods wilderness area or across the desert without a compass, he can get help on directions from the sun and the stars and some of nature's own guideposts. But if he is carrying a watch that is running and keeping fairly correct time he can make the timepiece pinch hit for a compass, and thus, during the day [while the sun is shining] get directional tips on which way is which.

Here is the way a timepiece can be used to tell which way is north or south. Either hold the watch in your hand, or better yet, place it on a level surface in the sun. Turn it around slowly until you have the hour hand pointing to the sun. Halfway between the hour hand and 12 o'clock will be the south point.



A watch may be used as a compass by having the hour hand point to the sun. Half way between the hour hand and 12 o'clock then will be the south point.

It Won't Work in This Case.

Of course when the sun is near the zenith this trick won't work because the sun then does not cast enough of a shadow to make this reading.

By far the most accurate way to put the watch to work as an emergency compass is to place the timepiece on the ground and use a blade of grass or tiny twig to cast a shadow across the face of it. While holding the blade of grass vertically turn the watch slowly until the hour hand comes into the shadow. Then you can figure the point half way between the hour hand and 12 o'clock to get the compass reading. This trick also will work in the afternoon when the sun is shining.

Trick Known for Years.

Altho the use of a watch to determine the basic points of the compass [north and south] is not nearly so accurate as the use of a compass itself, it's a trick woodsmen have known and found useful for many years. Using this method of keeping a fairly straight direction by day and then turning to the stars for direction tips after dark, a traveler in a strange country can keep on a fairly direct line as he works his way back to camp or base.

RHEINGOLD GIRLS IN SOFTBALL, 15-2 BEAT TUNGSTENS

The Rheingold Girls trounced the Tungsten Sparks, 15 to 2, last night in Shewbridge field, 74th and Aberdeen streets, in the opening round of the fifth annual Metropolitan Chicago Major Girls' softball tournament. Bernice Maxwell yielded only three hits and Dorothy Binder hit safely four times in five trials for the Rheingolds.

In the second contest, Mary Scorage pitched a four hit shutout as the Gold Crown Girls beat the Parichy Bloomer Girls, 4 to 0. The Gold Crowns got to Laura Bishop for three of their four runs in the first inning.

Tonight the Tungsten Sparks will meet the Parichy Bloomer Girls in the first game at 7:45 o'clock, and in the windup the Rockola Music Maids, defending champions, oppose the Benda Co-eds, a new member of the league.

BRAVES RALLY IN 10TH; UPSET CARDINALS, 4-3

Workman Singles with Bases Filled.

Boston, Mass., May 14 (AP).—Charlie Workman lashed a hit into right field with two out and the bases loaded in the 10th inning to give the Boston Braves a 4 to 3 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals today in their series' windup. Chet Ross opened the winning rally by tripling with two out against Max Lanier. The Cardinal southpaw then jammed the bases by giving Phil Masi and Johnny McCarthy intentional passes to bring up Workman. Score:

ATHLETICS WIN IN 12TH, 7-6

Detroit, Mich., May 14 (AP).—Pete Suder squeezed home Johhny Welaj with a run off Tommy Bridges in the 12th inning today to give the Philadelphia Athletics a 7 to 6 victory over the Tigers and a 2 to 1 series edge.

Suder, whose sixth inning homer had put Philadelphia in front after his two run single in the fourth had erased a Detroit lead, saw his offensive punch undone several times. But his well placed bunt broke up the third successive extra inning game between the rivals and gave Luman Harris his first 1943 victory. Score:

A pair of Bakers, Charlie and Joe, gave Bowen High school its 10th straight south section baseball victory in the City league yesterday by the score of 3 to 1 over Calumet in Bessemer park. It was the second defeat for Calumet in eight games, both of which were dealt by Bowen. Charlie blasted a home run in the sixth inning with one on and Joe yielded only two hits while striking out nine. Bowen is one of the three remaining undefeated teams in league play, the others being Lane Tech and Harrison, the defending champion.

Lane Tech trimmed Roosevelt in California park, 7 to 0, for its 11th straight in 1943 and 91st consecutive victory in north section competition. Lane is undefeated in 17 games this year, including six practice contests. Irv Gackowski pitching his second shutout of the year, scattered six hits.

Harrison Beats Tilden.

Harrison walloped Tilden, 9 to 1, in Douglas park for its sixth straight central section victory. Bob Kupina pitched the first six innings for Harrison and yielded Tilden's only hit.

Steinmetz, the leader in the west section, was idle today, but second place Crane and third place Kelvyn Park each scored victories. Crane won its sixth game in eight starts by defeating Tuley, 13 to 2, in Humboldt park and Kelvyn Park won its sixth victory after losing its last three games by outslugging Foreman, 10 to 9, in Chopin park.

Lights Go On Again Tonight in Comiskey Park

Night baseball will make its 1943 debut in Comiskey park tonight. The occasion will be the opener of the White Sox series with Boston. Eddie Smith will try his southpaw tricks on the visitors who probably will offer Oscar Judd in rebuttal. The two teams must clean up their night business in time to allow a little sleep before reporting back for a double header tomorrow.

Don Hanski, the Worth, Ill., semi-pro southpaw now on the Sox roster will receive the attention of his suburban friends tonight. A delegation representing Evergreen Park, Orland, Palos Park, Chicago Ridge, Oaklawn, and Worth plan to shower him with gifts.

Derringer to Open Dodger Series Today

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 14.—Paul Derringer will pitch for the Cubs in tomorrow's opener of the three game series with the Brooklyn Dodgers. Bill Lee and Lon Warneke will be the Cub pitchers in Sunday's double header.

Traveling Secretary Bob Lewis of the Cubs was confined to his hotel today as a result of a flu attack.

Navy Accepts Graham for Pilot Training Course

Otto Graham, Northwestern university football, basketball, and baseball star, yesterday was accepted by the naval aviation cadet selection board for navy pilot training. Previously enlisted in the navy's V-7 program, Graham transferred to the pilot cadet course which will lead him, after about a year's training, to his wings of gold and a flying ensign's commission.

Baby Girl Is Born to Mrs. John D. Rigney

A baby girl was born yesterday to Mrs. John D. Rigney, the former Dorothy Comiskey of the White Sox baseball family, in Henrotin hospital. Rigney, former right hand pitcher for the Sox, is now in the navy stationed at Great Lakes.

found an eager class. Bill Gordon of Tam O' Shanter, one of the most faithful teachers in the school, introduced Eddie Bush, new head pro at the Oak Park Country club, in an iron shot demonstration, while Al Huske, new head man at Glen Oak, gave the pupils a lesson in wood shots. Joining in the teaching at Columbus were Harry Adams of Medinah, Johnny Walker and Charley Penna, also of Medinah; Leo Hansberry of Oak Park, and Hank Foley of the home club.

Matt Matteson Is M. C.

At Jackson park Matt Matteson, secretary of the Illinois P. G. A., served as interlocutor for the group, which went thru the class giving individual hints to pupils on the grip and stance. These included a threesome from South Shore—John Bird, Bob Shires, and Frank Laverne; George Knox of Calumet; Chuck Tanis of Olympia Fields; Bruce Herd of Flossmoor; Red Denison of Midlothian; Bud Matteson of Ridge, and Tom Carney, former Northmoor professional.

Jerry Glynn, new professional at Park Ridge, conducted the Diversey class. It had the expert advice of Johnny Gibson of Westmoreland, who gave the shot making demonstration; Alex Cunningham of North Shore, president of the Illinois section, and his assistant, Wallie Ruesch; Tommy Meehan of Illinois; Walter Keller and Bill Pachot of Kellers' Fairways, and Lew Waldron and Bob McDonald.

Ned Day and Partner Set Bowling Pace

BY C. H. BEUKEMA.

Ned Day, former individual match game champion of bowling, and his youthful partner, Rudy Pugel of Milwaukee, posted a total of 4,746 for 12 games yesterday to make their way into the semi-finals of the national doubles match game tournament in the Auditorium Service Center. The total also gave them the lead in their 12 team squad.

Ned, who showed promise of regaining his championship form by winning the Petersen Singles classic in a field of 640 stars last weekend in Detroit, took only secondary honors in the preliminaries of the title drive yesterday. In the afternoon he recovered after a bad start to shoot 1,136 for six games while Pugel was getting 1,157. In the evening, Rudy fired a 1,235 count, including games of 239 and 245, while Ned was getting 1,218.

Hargadon Has 746 Series.

Bill Hargadon and Paul Krumske of Chicago vaulted into the lead on the second squad by shooting the amazing totatl of 2,522 on the night shift. Their total for the day was 4,797. Hargadon did the day's best scoring with 746 for his first three evening games. Phil Bauman and Jerry Howard of Detroit, who had led the squad with 2,500 after the afternoon's effort, finished second with 4,770 for the day. Connie Schwoegler, match singles champion, and Billy Sixty, finished fifth on the squad with 4,644 to qualify for today's play.

Six of the 12 teams on each of yesterday's three squads shot their way into today's semifinals which will be intrasquad round robin play. The two teams finishing high on each squad today go into tomorrow's finals, which thus will be a six team round robin. The winner will become first match game doubles champion and will receive first prize of $600 and a medal.

Put on Strong Finish.

Probably the most spectacular performance on last night's opening squad was that turned in by a couple of Chicago Classic leaguers, Marlowe Thompson and Bill Smith. They had finished eighth among the 12 teams in the afternoon round with a score of 2,249. Last night they shot a final game of 496, which gave them 2,486 for the round and a grand total just 12 pins shy of that fired by Pugel and Day.

BUCKEYES TAKE LEAD IN BIG TEN TENNIS TOURNEY

Illinois and Wisconsin Tied for Second.

Ohio State had a 1 point lead over the field in the second day of the Big Ten tennis tournament at Northwestern yesterday. The Buckeyes scored 4 points to run their team total to 10 points with Illinois and Wisconsin tied for second with 9 points each.

Northwestern, the defending champion, which was tied with Ohio State at the end of the first day's play won only two matches yesterday and dropped to fourth place with 8 points. Next came Minnesota with 7 points, while Michigan and Chicago had 6 and 3 points, respectively.

The 1 point advantage which Ohio State gained yesterday may be the deciding factor in today's finals which start at 1 o'clock on the Northwestern university courts. The Buckeyes have three singles players and one doubles team left while Illinois and Wisconsin each have two men in the singles and two doubles teams remaining. Summaries:

CURBS ON CORN PURCHASE HELD PERIL TO FOODS

Earl C. Smith.

Recently imposed government restrictions on corn purchases were strongly opposed yesterday by Earl C. Smith, president of the Illinois Agricultural association, on the ground that meat and dairy production is imperiled. He said the restrictive order will not carry out its purpose of distributing supplies equitably because the primary cause of the present severe shortage of corn for feed and processing lies in "unfair and impractical ceilings."

Smith attended a meeting in the Morrison hotel of 200 live stock feeders, grain farmers, feed manufacturers, corn processors, and dealers from several states. The meeting was called by the war food administration for a discussion and explanation of its order, effective May 5, limiting purchases and deliveries of corn by manufacturers and feed mixers to a 45 day supply and purchases by feeders to a 90 day supply, including stocks on hand.

Credit Agency Chief Presides.

J. B. Hutson, president of the Commodity Credit corporation, was in charge of the meeting. Philip R. O'Brien, president of the Chicago Board of Trade, and other Chicago grain trade representatives attended.

"We understand the purpose of the order is to assure an adequate supply and a sufficient distribution of corn to meet war and essential civilian needs," Smith told Hutson. "We are wholly in agreement with the purpose of the order, but we are forced to question seriously that certain phases of the order will meet the desired purposes."

Smith warned that the restrictions in the order are certain to have the ultimate effect of sharply limiting and reducing the feeding and production of live stock, which require careful and long range planning. Live stock feeders and producers arrange for an adequate supply of feed before determining the volume of their operations, he explained.

Ceilings Held Responsible.

"Any review of the present crisis resulting from limited corn supplies in many areas of the country forces one to the conclusion that the unfair and impractical ceilings placed upon corn are primarily responsible for the present situation," he said.

"The present order does not remove the cause of this condition and, unless corrected, it is our belief will only make the present situation more acute and will in the early future result in a greatly reduced supply of meat and dairy products."

Calling attention to an earlier statement of Hutson's that the nation's corn stocks on April 1 were the largest in history, Smith asserted present "shortages in the midst of plenty" were the result of government edicts fixing prices below parity. He said that the corn is being held by owners who do not believe they would receive a fair market price.

Urges Removal of Curbs.

Smith recommended either an amendment or a supplementary order to remove limitations on the volume of corn any live stock producer or feeder, or dairy or poultry farmer may acquire. His suggestions, as well as criticisms, were applauded by the audience.

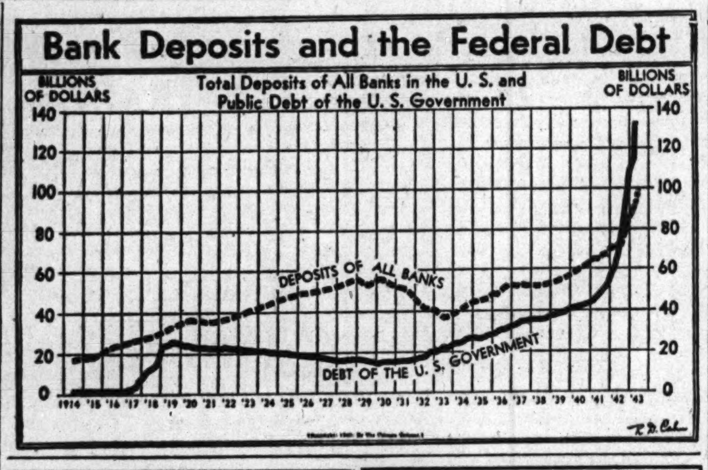
Smith said his association favors those sections of the order which call for liquidation of federal corn loans and those limiting holdings of grain dealers and elevator operators for the apparent purpose of curbing speculation and forcing grain into commercial channels.

Maurice O'Reilly of Barnum, Ia., a grain farmer, said he observed that in the surplus corn areas the feed grain is being held off the market not because prices are too low, but because the owners are not convinced present ceilings are fair and are certain prices will be allowed to go higher. He recommended "absolutely convincing" those holding back their grain that prices will not be permitted to rise, and predicted that this will bring corn to market.

REPORT INCOME PEAK SET IN '42 BY ROCK ISLAND

Joseph B. Fleming, trustee of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railway, reported to Federal District Judge Michael L. Igoe yesterday that 1942 income was $35,112,693 after federal taxes and interest payments being met by the trustee. He said that on this basis the income was $17,663,753 more than in 1941 and $11,708,202 more than the previous peak in 1929.

As applied to the interstate commerce commission plan for reorganization of the Rock Island, Fleming said 1942 income was sufficient to provide $29,575,000 for fixed and contingent interest, federal taxes, sinking funds, capital funds, and preferred stock dividends, and leave a balance of $11,285,000. The road carried the largest volume of freight in its history, Fleming said, and the $20,628,000 of equipment obligations at the end of 1942 has been reduced to $14,597,000.



New Method Aids Carbide Tool Grinding

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Development of a new tool grinding principle which it is predicted will save substantial amounts of money, critical materials, time, and labor for the war was announced yesterday by the Carboloy Company, Inc., Detroit, and the Edison General Electric company—commonly known as Hotpoint—Chicago. The development, which was a joint enterprise of Carboloy and Hotpoint, may revolutionize the grinding of carbide cutting tools used widely by industry, it was said.

Spadework on the development was done in Hotpoint's big Chicago plant. Formerly the nation's largest manufacturer of electric ranges, the company turned to war production when the war production board banned the manufacture of ranges.

Produce Parts of Tools.

One of the jobs contracted by Hotpoint was the production of certain parts of the carbide cutting tools manufactured by the Detroit company. Carbide tools are almost as hard as diamonds and their grinding requires the services of highly skilled workers.

The Hotpoint engineering department had the grinding problem in mind when it got on the job and one of its engineers, Sterling Oakley, solved it. A representative of the Automotive Council for War Production, Detroit, said the Chicago engineer's development is one of the most significant to come out of war industry activity. He predicted industry will take it up generally.

Under the old method carbide tools were ground on diamond wheels. The bond which held the industrial diamonds used was a resinous material, from which diamond particles were frequently broken off. The success of the operation rested largely on the skill of the operator.

Skill Goes to Machine.

Under Oakley's development man's skill is transferred to a machine which does the job uniformly. An operator of ordinary intelligence can run the machine, which does a much better job and puts a better finish on the tool.

The secret of the superior quality of the finish is said to result from the action of the grinding wheel which in addition to rotating also oscillates while the tool is held stationary at the correct angle. The new device makes it possible to use steel as a bond on the grinding wheel, which reduces loss of diamond particles.

Advantages claimed for the new method are reduction in number of workers required; production of a superior cutting edge which in turn produces a larger number of pieces per tool grind; production of better products; substantial savings of critical materials including high alloy steels which are scarce and industrial diamonds, which are both scarce and expensive; longer life for the grinding wheel, and great savings in grinding time.

Save $50,000 on Operation.

Hotpoint officials estimate that on diamond wheels alone they will save on one operation about $50,000 a year.

The new development is used by Hotpoint on tools employed in the production of bullet cores. The Carboloy company will have charge of the distribution of the new machines and hopes to have them available for the market by the end of this year.

Confirms L. R. Edminster to Tariff Commission

Washington, D. C., May 14 (AP).—The senate confirmed today the reappointment of Lynn R. Edminster, Illinois, to the United States tariff commission for a six year term.

WARN OPA CONTROL OVER FRUIT PRICES IS DOOMED TO FAILURE

Federal price control over apples, peaches and other fresh fruits and vegetables is doomed to failure, Harry W. Day, Carbondale, Ill., fruit growers' representative, warned yesterday at a conference of the midwestern fruit industry and office of price administration officials.

The conference in the Morrison hotel was one of a series being held thruout the country to gather recommendations and comments from fruit growers and distributors on the OPA's proposed price regulation on apples, peaches, cherries, pears, grapes, and other fruits not now under price control.

"The ceilings will cause confusion, will be difficult to interpret, enforce, and administer," Day continued. "From observing price ceilings on other fresh fruits and vegetables, we believe that these ceilings generally have resulted in inequalities, evasions, and black markets."

Day said ceilings force prices higher than they would go if the forces of supply and demand were permitted to operate without restraint.

Sterling Quits as Publishing Expert in WPB

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 14—Chairman Donald M. Nelson of the war production board today announced the resignation of Donald J. Sterling as WPB consultant on the newspaper and publishing industries.

Donald J. Sterling.

Sterling, who has been a $1 a year man with WPB since last October, will return to his post as managing editor of the Oregon Journal of Portland. He was named by Nelson to serve as a "watchdog" on publishing matters.

It was recalled in connection with the resignation that Sterling earlier this week indicated he was not getting full cooperation from other government agencies in his efforts to get them to reduce their use of paper. Sterling denied today, however, that this lack of cooperation had anything to do with his resignation.

Nelson, in announcing the resignation, recalled that under Sterling's guidance a three point policy on curtailing use of paper by publishers has been developed and said it will be continued.

"The policy, Nelson said calls for no limitation on the use of print paper just for the sake of limitation, but only to meet war needs; no suggestion to any publisher on how he shall use his paper quota; and no discrimination in allocating paper.

Newsprint Consumption Dips in Last Four Months

New York, May 14 (AP).—The American Newspaper Publishers' association estimated today newsprint consumption by reporting United States newspapers was 915,276 tons during the first four months of the year, a decrease of 2.4 per cent from 1942 and of 5.1 per cent under the first four months of 1941. Stocks of newsprint paper held by reporting newspapers was estimated at 52 days' supply at the end of April, against 56 at the end of March.

LION OIL.

[Copyright: 1943: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Kindly furnish me with a report on the Lion Oil Refining company.—E. F.

Answer: Lion Oil is one of the relatively smaller oil companies but it is a well integrated unit owning substantial crude reserves, a refinery, and marketing outlets.

About 70 per cent of the company's oil reserves are in south Arkansas adjacent to the refinery. Substantial crude reserves are held in Texas, and additional acreage is held in Louisiana. The company has succeeded in extending its crude oil reserves substantially in recent years.

In addition to refining and marketing gasoline and other petroleum products the company is one of the largest producers of asphalts and asphaltic road oils. The proximity of Lion Oil's refinery at El Dorado, Ark., to oil fields, and the company's compact marketing area in Arkansas, Mississippi, Tennessee, Alabama, and Kentucky, are factors in holding down costs. A wholly-owned subsidiary is operating a government plant manufacturing anhydrous ammonia and ammonium nitrate on a cost plus fixed fee basis.

1942	$16,499,002	*$887,457	$2.04
1941	14,973,092	979,830	2.25
1940	10,777,760	456,873	1.05
1939	10,831,474	652,352	1.50
1938	11,329,784	912,483	2.09

First quarter net income in 1943 was $250,819, or 58 cents a share, comparing with $254,194, also equal to 58 cents a share, for the first quarter of 1942.

Early in 1942 the company sold $6,000,000 of 3¾ per cent first mortgage bonds. At the end of the year outstanding funded debt had been reduced to $5,400,000, and the only other capital issue outstanding was the 435,808 shares of no par value capital stock.

Current assets as of Dec. 31, 1942, aggregated $6,392,829, including cash of $2,864,404, as compared with current liabilities of $2,730,328. The current liabilities included $400,000 representing a sinking fund payment due on the bonds.

Dividend of $1 Is Authorized by C. & E. I.

With earnings thus far in 1943 above the record breaking level of last year, directors of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad yesterday declared a $1 a share dividend on the class A stock, the second since the line emerged from reorganization proceedings. An initial payment of 59 cents a share was made on Jan. 15.

President Charles T. O'Neal announced at the annual meeting of stockholders that the road's net earnings after all charges amounted to $1,090,190 in the first four months of the year, against $471,243 in the corresponding 1942 period.

Common Stock Earns $2.43.

After provision for full class A dividends of $2 annually, the earnings were equal to $2.43 and 62 cents a share on common stock in the respective periods.

O'Neal said the four months' freight revenues had increased 54.2 per cent and passenger revenues 108.1 per cent, resulting in operating revenue of $10,503,405, or 59.5 per cent more than the corresponding 1942 figure.

Predicts More Increases.

"The remainder of 1943 should show further increases over 1942, but not in the same proportionate amounts," he said. "The interstate commerce commission's suspension of last year's freight rate increase will cost the road $477,000 in operating revenues, he asserted.

Four youths in the uniform of the Onarga Military school at Onarga, Ill., were interested spectators at the stockholders' meeting. Twelve members of their class had pitched in to buy 10 shares of C. & E. I. stock and the youths came to Chicago to learn the intricacies of finance first hand.

Directors of the company were reelected.

GASOLINE PUMP MAKERS FINED ON PRICE CHARGE

Fines totaling $27,500 were imposed yesterday by Judge Philip L. Sullivan in federal district court on the Wayne Pump company of Fort Wayne, Ind., three other gasoline pump manufacturing firms, their trade association and five officials on charges of conspiring to fix prices on computer pumps and control production.

All denied the government's accusations of conspiracy, but they protested that if they were obliged to contest the issue the time of such litigation would interfere with war production in which the four manufacturers are engaged. Those fined were:

The Wayne company, $5,000, and its president, B. F. Geyer, $2,000.

Gilbert & Barker Manufacturing company of West Springfield, Mass., $5,000. Its president, S. C. Hope, $2,000.

Tokheim Oil Tank and Pump company of Fort Wayne, Ind., $5,000.

Veeder & Root, Inc., of Hartford, Conn., computer manufacturer, $5,000. Its president, G. H. Anthony, and its vice president, J. H. Chaplin, $500 each.

The Gasoline Pump Manufacturers' association of New York, $2,000. Its secretary, G. Denny Moore, White Plains, N. Y., $500.

WESTERN CHAIN BUYS, MERGES IN DEPOSIT FIRM

Arthur W. Hill, president of the Western Chain Products company, announced yesterday that his company had bought for $85 a share almost all of the 10,000 capital shares of the Central Safety Deposit company, owner of the Rookery, 209 South La Salle street. The land under the Rookery is owned by the city of Chicago and is under a 99 year lease to the Safety Deposit company, with 42 years yet to run, at $35,000 annually.

After the purchase, title to Western Chain Products was conveyed to the safety deposit company for $100,000, said Hill, and the manufacturing company will be operated as a division of Central Safety Deposit. Hill will be president of both.

The Rookery will remain under the direction of Aldis & Co., with Clive J. Taylor continuing as manager. Russell Tyson of Aldis & Co. was formerly president of Central Safety Deposit.

HALSEY, STUART PAYS ABOVE PAR FOR B. & O. ISSUE

Halsey, Stuart & Co. and associates yesterday bid 100⅛ for a 3½ million dollar issue of Baltimore and Ohio railroad equipment trust certificates in a transaction that set a precedent for railway financing of this type.

The 3½ million represents the entire cost of the equipment to be purchased, whereas all former certificate issues sold to investment bankers were limited to an average of perhaps 80 per cent of the cost, the railroad financing the remainder.

The Reconstruction Finance corporation has a standing offer to purchase such issues representing the cost of the equipment, and frequently has resold such issues to bankers at a profit.

STOCK PRICES HANDED FOURTH STRAIGHT LOSS

End Slightly Above Lows for Day.

New York, May 14 (AP).—Selling attributed to favorable war news pushed stock prices lower today. Shares with an armament rating were hit hardest in declines of fractions to more than 3 points at the lows, but losses were reduced in most cases at the close.

The list was hesitant at the start, and offerings became heavier in the second hour. Dealings slackened on late mild recovery movements. Issues with better peace time prospects resisted selling, but also slipped.

The mopping up in Tunisia, persistent air raids on Europe, and the American smash at the Japanese in the Aleutians brought what brokers termed "premature" ideas of a shortened war and trimming of commitments geared to a war economy in favor of those with a preference for post-war conditions.

Market Broadens Again.

The Associated Press 60 stock average was down 0.6 at 49.9 in its fourth successive retreat.

The market broadened again, 943 individual issues being traded, against 884 yesterday. Of the total, 651 were lower, 127 rose, and 165 were unchanged. Transfers expanded to 1,626,734 shares from 1,028,307 yesterday.

Prominent losers included American Telephone, Southern Pacific, Great Northern, Chicago and Eastern Illinois "A" which failed to respond to a larger dividend, Chrysler, Goodrich, J. I. Case, Douglas Aircraft, Western Union, Kennecott, Westinghouse Electric, Standard Oil [N. J.], Montgomery Ward, Allied Chemical, and U. S. Gypsum. Up a shade at the finish were General Motors and Seaboard Airline.

RAIL BONDS TUMBLE.

New York, May 14 (AP).—Reorganization railroad bonds lost major fractions to about 3 points today. Brokers attributed the sell-off to the long established custom of traders to get out when things look the best. Closing prices were up a little from the day's lowest level.

Heavily hit were carrier obligations that have been in demand. Other bonds lost less, but each major group had its share of moderate declines. Some of the investment rated issues held up well, and some United States government loans strengthened on the stock exchange. Foreign dollar loans were mixed.

CHICAGO LEADERS DIP.

Active issues lost fractions in a general decline on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday. Turnover fell to 39,000 shares in 124 issues, of which 13 closed higher, 88 lower, and 23 unchanged. Volume leaders down ⅛ to ¼ point included Commonwealth Edison, Chicago corporation, Merchants and Manufacturers Securities A, Miller and Hart, and Aviation corporation. In the half hour of trading after the New York close, Stewart-Warner advanced ⅛ point.

RENT INCREASES IN COUNTRY CLUB HOTEL CANCELED

Earl D. Howard, Chicago area federal rent director, yesterday ordered immediate cancelation of the raises granted last Oct. 17 at the Country Club apartment hotel, 6930 South Shore drive. Morris Alexander, who bought the property from Randolph Bohrer and Louis H. Barkhausen last month for a reported $675,000 said he would continue the legal battle conducted by Bohrer in an effort to have the rent increases retained.

Federal Oil Subsidy Plans Assailed by Rep. Vursell

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 14.—Rep. Charles W. Vursell [R., Ill.] told the house today that the policies of Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown toward independent producers are asinine and dangerous.

Rep. Charles Vursell.

The Illinoisan assailed the recently announced plans of the OPA chieftain for government subsidies of oil production to prevent a price increase. This and other proposed subsidies will result in a vast debt on future generations and a large part will have to be paid by men now in the army and navy, he warned.

Plan Termed Unjust.

"This, in my opinion, is doing an unthinkable injustice to the young men who have been taken out of civilian life to defend our liberties," Vursell said.

He also criticized Brown's rejection of a recommendation by Petroleum Administrator Harold L. Ickes for an average price increase of 35 cents a barrel on crude oil, asserting that the cost of production has increased in the last two years by more than 50 cents a barrel.

"Worse than this price decision was the unexpected and unthought of policy announced by Brown of the government going into oil production thru the subsidy route," he said. "This is an expansion of the wild eyed New Deal theories of the past. It is more communistic than American. It sounds like the eerie dreams of Tugwell and the planners of a few years back who wasted millions of dollars of the people's money.

Labeled Asinine Policy.

"The idea of the government subsidizing wildcat drilling when the proper remedy is to leave the operator free and give him a profit for his work is one of the most asinine and dangerous policies yet advocated by any burocrat department.

"The leaders of this congress could not render their nation a greater service than to set up some sort of definite, fearless organization within its membership for the purpose of helping to give congressional direction to the OPA."

Ask Increase for Nonbank Bond Buying

Washington, D. C., May 14 (AP).—The federal reserve board said today that in future financing campaigns the treasury must obtain a larger proportion of its funds from individuals and other nonbanking sources to curb inflationary forces.

Commenting in its monthly bulletin on the success of the second war loan which exceeded its 13 billion dollar goal by 5 billions, the board said the purchase of more than 3 billions in war bonds by individuals was "encouraging, but even more progress in this direction is necessary if enough current income is to be diverted into the war."

Goal Set at 70 Billion.

The board's views were made public as Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. met with Marriner S. Eccles, chairman of the board, and presidents of the reserve banks, to review the results of the loan drive and discuss plans for future financing.

The treasury has set a tentative borrowing goal of 70 billion dollars for the 1943 calendar year, and with the overwhelming success of the second war loan which has obtained 25 billions so far. Mr. Morgenthau said the next financing drive will not be held before September.

Tentative Ratio Is 48 to 22.

The treasury has made tentative plans to get about 48 billions of its 1943 borrowing goal from nonbanking sources and the remainder from commercial banks.

"For the purpose of combating inflation as well as for obtaining a wide distribution of the public debt, every effort should be made not only to achieve but to surpass this goal," the reserve board said in its bulletin.

WHEAT AND RYE PRICES DECLINE; OATS ARE HIGHER

Liquidation by holders of grain futures induced by weakness in securities and more favorable crop reports from the southwest caused a decline of about 1 cent a bushel in wheat and rye in the early trading yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade. May wheat declined to $1.42¼, a new low since December, but a profit-taking buying and commission house buying was able to check the decline. There was a strong rally at one time but the upturn faded and closing prices lost ¼ to ¾ cent.

Rye futures were off ¼ to ⅝ cent at the close. Oats developed independent strength and closed ⅜ to ⅝ cent higher after an early upturn had carried May to 61½ cents, 1 cent higher.

JUDGE'S 'KEEN SCENT' SAVES BONDHOLDERS FROM SQUEEZE PLAY

Circuit Court Judge Benjamin P. Epstein, asserting that he can smell a squeeze play whenever it comes up in his court, appointed a receiver yesterday on his own motion, to protect bondholder interests in the Lombard Block, South boulevard and Lombard avenue, Oak Park.

"This case comes in to force a sale," the judge said. "It smells bad, and I can protect bondholders by a sense of smell."

Atty. Maurice L. Davies, representing George R. Johnson, who managed the property for seven years, and Johnson's wife, China, owner of the equity, told the court that bondholders were unable to get together and that a sale should be held.

"These bondholders are not represented by counsel," the court said. "I will not deprive them of their rights and will not assist in a squeeze play." He continued the case and entered the order for a receiver to be appointed.

HOGS AT LOWEST LEVELS OF YEAR ON BIG RECEIPTS

Hog prices yesterday slumped to the lowest levels of the year on heavy receipts. Prices fell mostly 10 to 20 cents a hundred pounds with some 25 cents lower. Both the top and average declined 15 cents to $14.45 and $14.30, the lowest since Dec. 30.

Little change occurred in prices of cattle altho weakness prevailed in some kinds. Steady prices were paid for most steers, yearlings, heifers, and calves. Beef cows, canners, cutters, and bulls were weaker.

Altho top lambs rose 10 cents to $16.25 and equaled the highest price since April 30, there was practically no change in prices generally.

Armour (Del.) Names 90 Underwriters of Issue

Philadelphia, Pa., May 14 [Special].—Armour & Co. of Delaware filed with the securities and exchange commission today an amendment naming 90 underwriters to handle its proposed issue of 35 million dollars of 7 per cent cumulative income debentures, due in 1978, which will be offered to the public about May 19. Kuhn, Loeb & Co. of New York heads the list of underwriters.

People and Events

The American Institute of Chemists will hold its annual meeting today in the Edgewater Beach hotel. Dr. Gustav Egloff, president of the institute and director of research for the Universal Oil Products company, said that the war time rôles of vitamins, meat, petroleum, and plastics will be discussed.

Gov. Dwight H. Green has appointed Marion E. Burks assistant director of the state department of insurance and sent his name to the senate for confirmation. Burks has been supervisor of policy examination in the department for the past two years.

Adolph Peck has no intention of retiring to a life of ease, and said so with convincing vigor yesterday when 41 customers feted him on his 80th birthday at a luncheon in the Carson Pirie Scott & Co. Georgian room. "I will remain in business a good many years longer," he said in recounting his 47 years in the tailoring business. The firm, now known as Peck & Behrens, is at 140 North Dearborn street.

AVIATION STOCK LEADS 'INSIDER' MARCH SELLING

Company Officials Slash Buying.

Holdings of equity securities in a number of aviation companies were lightened in March by officers, directors, or principal stockholders, the securities and exchange commission monthly summary of stock transactions of persons closely identified with the management of leading corporations disclosed yesterday.

Management interests also were predominantly on the selling side in transactions involving shares of other corporations. The number of major purchases was noticeably smaller than in recent months, while the number of large selling transactions increased.

Manning and Fruitt Sell.

L. B. Manning, Chicago, a director of Aviation corporation, sold 4,654 shares in March, while Raymond S. Pruitt, vice president and secretary, sold 3,000 shares. Lawrence D. Bell, president and general manager of Bell Aircraft corporation, sold 1,500 shares, and Harry E. Collins, vice president, sold 500.

One of the largest transactions in aircraft manufacturing securities was the sale of 4,800 shares of North American Aviation, Inc., by James H. Kindelberger, president, reducing his holdings to 500 shares. S. M. Fairchild, chairman of the board of Fairchild Aviation corporation, sold 1,200 shares.

Air transport company shares also were sold. Carleton Putnam, president, sold 2,022 Chicago and Southern Air Lines common voting trust certificates; John E. Parker, director, sold 1,000 shares of Northwest Airlines; Robert Lehman, director of Pan American Airways corporation sold 1,000 shares, and John S. Woodbridge, controller, sold 200 shares. Harold P. Fabian, director of Western Air Lines, sold 1,300 shares thru Fabian and Clendenin.

Sold Thru Lehman Brothers.

Among other large sales during March were: 2,000 Air Reduction by C. E. Adams, director; 1,500 Allegheny Ludlum Steel by Mrs. H. T. Campbell; 3,013 American Cable and Radio by Robert Lehman, director, thru Lehman Brothers; 1,500 American Stores company by John M. Hancock, director, thru Lehman Brothers; 700 Briggs and Stratton by Harold M. Stratton, vice president, thru Stratton Grain company; 1,000 shares of Campbell, Wyant & Cannon by G. W. Cannon, vice president; and 1,000 shares by Ira A. Wyant, vice president and director.

Celotex corporation sold 5,698 shares of Certain-teed Products preferred; 1,000 shares of Cudahy Packing were sold by Frank E. Wilhelm, first vice president; 8,000 Cuban Atlantic Sugar, 60,800 General Precision Equipment and $6,800 common and 3,000 preferred of 20th Century-Fox Film by the Chase National bank; 18,643 Detroit Michigan Stove by William T. Barbour, director; 12,224 Dixie Vortex class A stock by the Chicago corporation, and 860 shares by Hugh Moore, president; 10,400 Cuban Atlantic Sugar by a partnership holding company, reported by Paul M. Rosenthal, director of Cuban Atlantic.

Edward F. Fisher, vice president, sold 3,500 General Motors, Lawrence P. Fisher, vice president, sold 2,000.

ILLINOIS FARMS TO NEED 90,000 MORE WORKERS

At least 90,000 additional full and part time farm workers will be needed by Illinois farmers this summer to assist in cultivation and harvesting of record breaking crops requested by the department of agriculture, officials of the extension service of the University of Illinois college of agriculture estimated yesterday.

Members of the extension service met in the Morrison hotel with representatives of the United States employment service, the war man power commission, and county farm advisers in an effort to plan recruiting of farm labor thruout the state.

Under present plans all schools, factories and other institutions having a substantial group of male employés or members will be asked to release, at least temporarily, as many men as possible to help meet the demand, particularly where special or seasonal crops require an enormous increase in labor for a short time.

U. of I. to Be Responsible.

In an agreement signed recently by the extension service and WMC officials, the University of Illinois will be responsible for the recruiting, placement and housing of farm workers in all parts of the state except the Chicago metropolitan area, which will be handled by the WMC and the United States employment service.

P. E. Johnston, state supervisor of the farm labor program for the University of Illinois, estimated that about 6,800 farm workers will be needed in the Chicago market garden area and an additional 2,000 in the hybrid seed corn and canning area near De Kalb.

Noble J. Puffer, Cook county superintendent of schools, said more than 1,100 boys have registered for summer work from the county schools outside the city.

City Registration Begins.

City schools have just begun registration, Leland L. Medsker, assistant director of occupational research, said, but expect to be able to meet any quota set by the WMC.

The Boy Scouts plan a camp at Higgins road and the Des Plaines river which will accommodate about 100 boys each week thruout the summer. A similar camp will be sponsored by a Jewish youth organization at a former CCC camp east of Des Plaines, and the Catholic Youth organization will organize two camps, one near Palos Park and another near New Holland. Each of these three camps will accommodate about 200 boys.

DAY BY DAY ON THE FARM

The FARM by Gail Compton

May 14, 1943.

IT'S a rare day when man can improve on nature, and indeed unusual when he can invent a process which, seemingly, has been overlooked by nature. This is especially true in conjunction with trees, for here nature has created some of its greatest miracles.

Yet in the art of grafting trees man has discovered something for which there is little suggestion in nature. Man learned to propagate trees by seeds, sprouts and plants by watching what happened in the forests, but grafting is his own unique method of tree multiplication.

Grafting Produces Miracles.

In grafting, two different bits of wood are joined together and the common sap which flows thru them will produce two different types of trees. This miracle becomes clearer when one finds such things as the trunk of the mountain ash bearing apples, and plum rooted trees bearing peaches, or one tree producing four and five different types of apples.

"Thou shalt lend
Shalt bid the unfruitful plane sound apples bear,

This, of course, is poetic license at its best, for grafting so far has not reached such heights. In most cases grafting is practiced with species in the same botanical class. More distant relationships sometimes can be combined, but the results are never sure.

Grafting Is Art of Joining.

Grafting, if a definition is desired, is the art of joining or making a union. In trees two different articles are used. First there is the stock, or the rooted plant. To this is added the cion, which is a twig with one or more buds. "Budding" is much the same process, only instead of a cion, a single bud is joined to the stock with only enough twig to give the bud a foundation.

In a graft, the root growth retains its same characteristics, but all growth above the bud of the graft is that of the bud and not the stock. The stock is the nurse which feeds the bud. Grafts, therefore, usually are done by picking a stock which has certain desirable characteristics, such as disease resistance, deep roots, and a thrifty growth.

The cion is chosen for the fruit, flower, or branch characteristics. Thus a tender rooted fruit may be grafted to the acclimated roots of another tree, the combination surviving and bearing the desired fruits.

In the south plums are budded on peach stocks, as the peaches are better suited to thrive in the hot, sandy soil. In the north the process is switched and peaches are budded on hardy types of plum trees of native stock.

The best time to graft is in the early spring. By May there should be leaves growing from the cion. As the tree grows up one could keep grafting different varieties onto the tree until the entire tree top is changed.

The success of the entire operation lies in the fact that sap is a universal substance which has the power of feeding all different varieties, allowing them to develop their own characteristics.

The GARDEN by Ben Markland

THE matter of spring frosts and their effect on vegetable gardens is often misunderstood. Novice fardeners are especially frightened by statements that "frost is due tonight and gardens are in danger."

As a matter of fact, spring frosts rarely damage gardens which are properly planted. There are several types of vegetables — those which are hardy and can stand frost, those which can stand light frosts, and tender crops which can stand no frost at all. Naturally experienced gardeners plant their vegetables with these variations in mind.

For example, the tender of the sample gardens on the Wheaton farm planted hardy vegetables on April 1. Among these were beets, carrots, lettuce, spinach, onion sets, onion seeds, peas, and radishes. All of these vegetables have withstood numerous April frosts without damage. Well hardened cabbage plants were put into the garden on April 20 and these have withstood light frosts without damage. The tender vegetables, such as tomatoes, eggplants, and peppers, usually are not planted until danger of frost is past.

TOOL AND DIE MAKERS
A-1 MEN

This company has operated so successfully for the past 55 years because it has at all times maintained the policy of doing as much as possible for its employees. Our people can all testify to this. Right now we are doing 100% war work, and all our men are putting in plenty of overtime. However, we are particularly anxious to secure men who are genuinely interested in their future and desire a permanent job. We have added several new products to our normal peace time production which virtually guarantee tremendous post-war possibilities. The men selected will work in one of the most modern factories in or around Chicago under ideal working conditions and will be eligible for:

Life Insurance
Hospitalization
Health and Accident

GRADUATES!
Your First Job
lays the corner-stone for your entire career. Select it with care, remembering the following factors:

Is it suitable for your background?

WARD'S
has been in business since 1872, treats customers and employes fairly, and will recognize your ability with wage increases and chances for promotion. We have many jobs which need no specialized training, just a good, general background. If you have some knowledge of typing, comptometry, etc., it will be helpful.

Come In
after school or on Saturday and talk over the possibilities for you with our company.

BRENDA STARR REPORTER
By Dale Messick
THE DOCTOR ARRIVES AS TOM TENDERLY CARRIES BRENDA TO A COUCH IN THE REST ROOM.
RIGHT IN THERE, DOCTOR.
ALL I KNOW, DOCTOR, IS THAT SHE SLIPPED AND FELL ON HER WAY TO WORK. I HAD NO IDEA SHE WAS HURT.
NO, NOT THAT I KNOW OF, DOCTOR.
MISS STEVENS, GET THIS PATIENT READY FOR AN EXAMINATION
YES, DOCTOR NORRIS
LATER, IN ROOM 5D
WHAT A LOVELY, OLD BRACELET! I'D BETTER PUT IT SOME PLACE FOR SAFE KEEPING.
AS NURSE STEVENS PUTS THE BRACELET IN THE DRAWER OF THE NIGHT STAND, NEXT TO THE BED, A MASKED INTERNE SILENTLY ENTERS THE ROOM AND STEPS BEHIND THE BED SCREEN
THERE, POOR DEAR....SHE'S SO BEAUTIFUL, TOO. BUT DOCTOR NORRIS WILL FIX HER UP IN A JIFFY.
WHO IS THIS MASKED INTERNE AND WHY DID HE PUT THE BRACELET BACK ON BRENDA'S ARM ?

LIEUTENANT and MRS. GRIGGS SETTLE DOWN
Butter-Nut
My Dear Jane— The flowers are for your romance, but I am a practical old woman and Butter-Nut Bread is my suggestion to help keep that husband of yours well and happy. Aunt Sarah
THE NOTE
2 "Of course, we didn't know whether we'd be together more than a month. Jack was stationed at the nearby camp. We had a fine time deciding where each wedding present should be placed."
3 "Imagine, American Beauty roses arrived from Aunt Sarah and in the florist's box—you'll never guess—was a loaf of bread! Thank goodness, it was Butter-Nut."
4 "That was just like Aunt Sarah—and when Jack recovered from his surprise, he thought that my aunt had plenty of good sense. He's like any man, and likes good food."
5 "Then and there—we realized we were hungry. Did that Butter-Nut Bread taste good! Jack decided that both Aunt Sarah and Butter-Nut were 'solid.' That's his way of saying 'swellelegant'—you know what I mean. I know that the Butter-Nut flavor certainly makes the whole meal taste better."
Sure, we know what young and wise Mrs. Griggs means—just plain "good." That's what they all say about Butter-Nut Bread. It tastes so good, because this delicious loaf is made of good, pure, nourishing ingredients and baked just right. Also enriched Butter-Nut Bread has a full quota of B-Vitamins and Iron. Butter-Nut is a great source of energy—eat plenty to take the place of scarce, rationed foods.
